Caldwell's Family Travels—on Union

BARE FREQUENT WINTER TRIPS TO SOUTH BY PLANE

Basked in Sun as Clerks Worked.

BY GEORGE HARTMANN.

Proof that Max Caldwell, ousted hoodlum union boss, siphoned cash out of the union treasury to finance airplane trips to Florida resorts for his family, his father-in-law, and friends and henchmen, was made public yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney William B. Crawford in a report to State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney.

Thomas J. Courtney.

Bask On Sunny Sands.

While the gay Caldwells and Caldwellites were basking on the sunny sands of Florida, the 5,300 members of local 1248 of the Retail Clerks' International Protective association, who paid initiation fees of $25 apiece and dues of $2 a month, were trudging thru Chicago's snow. They weren't told by Caldwell where the union's money was going; he didn't even tell them the terms of the contracts he had made with their employers.

"Records show," said Crawford, "that the American Airlines alone billed the local union and Caldwell for $3,706 for plane fares between Jan. 1, 1940, and June, 1941. All except $232 has been paid. Caldwell reported to the union international headquarters that the bills were for his exclusive travel, but the files of the air lines prove that the bills were for many persons."

Christmas Trip to Miami.

Crawford pointed to the Christmas trip of the Caldwell family to Miami. The Miss Ryden mentioned, he said, was a nurse. Two days later M. Pollack took to the air. He is Michael Pollack, a brother of Caldwell, who abandoned his real name of Pollack after he was convicted of bootlegging and sentenced to prison in Indiana in 1925.

"The family group," Crawford explained, "came back to Chicago by plane—on the union's money—in May. Caldwell apparently commuted frequently between the two cities, torn by his desire to loll on the sand in Miami and his determination to see that all the grocery clerks ne ex-

Ward Heeler Tells Story of His Troubles

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Harry Schulman, who admits without urging that he was the best Democratic precinct captain in the 22d ward—a ward in which captains for years have delivered votes by the ballot box full—ruefully scanned his much-thumbed precinct report cards with one eye yesterday. The other eye was bandaged and the glass was gone from the spectacle frame in front of it.

Harry Schulman in St. Anthony's hospital.

Harry's story of how this came to be was told last night in St. Anthony's hospital. Harry has always been a precinct captain. His services were transferred to the late Anton J. Cermak, Democrat, by the late Gus Miller, Republican, about 12 years ago. When Cermak died by an assassin's bullet, the ward organization including Schulman was inherited by Ald. Henry [Sonny] Sonnenschein, who also is ward committeeman.

It's Dandy for a While.

"For a long time everything was dandy," said Schulman. "I used to sell $400 worth of picnic tickets and up to $1,500 in advertising for our programs. I was appointed state central committeeman for the 5th district and then I got elected to the job in 1940.

"But all the pay I got was $208 a month for being personal bailiff to Judge George Weiss. That goes on for six years. I get tired of it. I have a few thousand saved so I get the idea of going in business. Sonny tells me to stick. Last year he tells me when Hershey is elected governor he'll give me the Illinois Home for the Blind. Hershey loses."

Rebels Over Tickets.

Schulman said he rebelled after the November, 1940, election when the ward boss called him in and handed him $100 worth of Christmas tickets to sell. "I'm in court, yes, but in a civil branch, I tell him. I can't handle over $65 worth." At a hint that he was slipping, Schulman said he would quit.

Sonnenschein called in Schulman to accept his resignation. "Fire me," he said. Sonnenschein did.

State Committeeman Schulman, as he sometimes regards himself, went to the next meeting of the committee in Springfield without the usual consultation with the ward committeeman. He ignored orders to appear at headquarters. A few weeks ago Morris Schwartz, who in April lost his job as a lieutenant on the state highway police force, was appointed precinct captain.

"So then Schwartz tells me it would be good for my health to move out of the ward," said Schulman. "'Is this Germany?' I asked him. 'I'm a citizen.' So I don't move.

"Monday night at Ogden and Sawyer avenues he comes rushing at me. All he says is 'You're still here!' and then he punches me one in the mouth, one in the eye, with me wearing glasses, and kicks me when I'm down. I'm lucky to be alive."

"No Use to Get Warrant.

Schulman said that after working in the Municipal courts for six years he knew it would be of no use to get a warrant for Schwartz "unless the Chicago Crime commission gives me some help."

Ald. Sonnenschein's version almost agreed with that of the ex-champion precinct captain.

"Sure, my new precinct captain, Morris Schwartz, took a crack at Harry," he said. "Harry was going around talking about him. Nothing different than happens in barrooms every night.

"After Harry saved himself $4,000 he got a swelled head. He was always saying he wanted a better job, or he'd quit. That's bad for morale. I told him, 'You can't even spell cat, you're lucky to be a bailiff. What are your qualifications?'"

Schulman still thinks he had the right answer in his precinct reports: Roosevelt, 439; Willkie, 62—Kelly, 321; Courtney, 55—Hershey, 323; Stelle, 38.

"KEEP WAR AWAY"

In an address on Sept. 11, 1940, President Roosevelt said:

"I hate war now more than ever. I have one supreme determination—to do all I can to keep war away from these shores for all time. I stand with my party, upon the platform adopted in Chicago:

"'We will not participate in foreign wars, and we will not send our army, naval, or air forces to fight in foreign lands outside of the Americas, except in case of attack.'"

243 Get Off Big Jap Liner Six Days Late

San Francisco, Cal., July 30 (AP).—The Japanese liner Tatuta Maru finally risked coming into port today—six days behind schedule. The vessel's stay will be a short one.

Obviously concerned over the tense international situation, NYK Line officials said the 15 million dollar ship would take on fuel and supplies hastily and leave for Japan about noon Friday. A license to withdraw frozen funds to pay for fuel was granted in Washington late today.

The Tatuta's original schedule would have taken her to Los Angeles to discharge passengers and refuel, but all passengers are being put off here and 116 Japanese are rushing here from Los Angeles to board the ship for return home.

It appeared certain the ship's $2,500,000 silk cargo would not be unloaded.

Passengers Tell Anxiety.

All kinds of stories of anxiety, of planned escapes by rowboats, of demands that the ship dock, and of consternation over reports of a possible return to Japan were told by the 243 passengers who streamed ashore.

The ship was due here last Thursday, but because of the grave situation, had waited outside the Golden Gate until today. About 100 American citizens were aboard.

Passengers said there had been no shortage of food and that they had been treated well.

Denied Use of Radio.

Carroll Lunt, publisher of a magazine in Shanghai, said a number of American citizens aboard the Tatuta became so worried during the ship's delay that they discussed the advisability of commandeering a lifeboat and rowing to shore.

"After all, I suppose it was a fantastic idea, but we had nearly arrived at the stage of desperation," Lunt said. "All day Thursday we were cut off from the outside world. We were denied the privilege of listening to broadcasts or sending messages from the ship.

"There was great mental strain, especially so far as the Americans were concerned. During all this time the personnel of the ship acted admirably. They sought to allay any fear and were highly solicitous."

HOPKINS GIVES STALIN PLEDGE OF SPEEDY AID

Red Premier Sends Message to F.D.R.

MOSCOW, July 31 [Thursday] (AP).—Premier Josef Stalin last night gave Harry L. Hopkins a personal message for President Roosevelt assuring him the Russians will play their rôle in crushing Hitler, and thanking him for proffered United States aid in equipment and supplies for the Red army.

Harry Hopkins. [AP wirephoto.]

Hopkins arrived by plane from London yesterday and visited Stalin at the Kremlin just before German planes again attempted to bomb the capital. The planes were beaten off and one was shot down outside the city, a Russian announcement said.

On behalf of the President the lease-lend administrator expressed admiration for the soviet stand against Germany, and said the United States intended to aid Russia both with immediate and long-term deliveries of war supplies.

Problems of Supply.

"We discussed problems of supply, including types and quantity of materials that can be delivered to the U. S. S. R.," Hopkins said later. "I cannot presently speak of the details or quantities.

"Stalin gave me a message to transmit to the President. He expressed his sincere appreciation to the President for his offer of assistance and declared that he is certain that the President and the American people are not mistaken in expressing their conviction that the soviet people will play their rôle in crushing Hitler."

Hopkins said he would see Stalin at noon today and perhaps several times more before leaving Moscow.

No Difficulty Over Payment.

He said he did not expect any difficulties regarding Russian payment for United States supplies nor any delay in their delivery.

Stalin also was told by the President's emissary that whatever nation "fights against Hitler is on the right side in this conflict," and "we intend to accord aid to them."

Vyacheslav Molotov, soviet foreign commissar, and United States Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt were present at the meeting today.

Hopkins arrived in Moscow with two officers of the United States army, Brig. Gen. Joseph T. McNarney and Lieut. John R. Alison of the air corps.

[Hopkins said in a radio speech in London on Sunday: "We in America are determined to give all possible aid to China and Russia—and immediately."]

Sees Victory in U. S. Help.

Altho it did not comment on Hopkins' arrival, a Pravda article by Alexei Tolstoy, soviet author, said Germany would be "helpless to halt the unwinding springs of American war industry."

He added that British determination to continue the western fight, growing Red military strength, and American production would thwart Hitler's Russian plans.

VISIT A 'GESTURE'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 30.—The White House and state department today acknowledged that Harry Hopkins was in Moscow to discuss American aid with Josef Stalin and other Red leaders.

Hopkins flew to Moscow at the explicit directions of the President.

The disclosure of the assignment came as military observers in the capital were convinced, contrary to Russian reports, that the German campaign in Russia is gradually wearing down the Red army in its plan to destroy it before outside aid can arrive.

Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles said the Hopkins' mission is somewhat comparable to that being conducted in this country by Gen. F. M. Gollkov, head of a Russian military mission.

2,000 Italian Prisoners Sent to Britain to Work

LONDON, July 30 (AP).—The war office today announced the arrival of 2,000 Italian prisoners who will be put to work farming, digging ditches, draining, and reclaiming wasteland to bolster Britain's food supply. Labor camps have already been built to house them.

PINCER COLUMNS PERIL LENINGRAD, GERMANS CLAIM

German and Finnish pincer drives from the north and south are closing in on Leningrad, Russia's second largest city, and it is in a precarious situation, Berlin claimed today. Private advices received by the Associated Press indicated the German high command expected the fall of Leningrad at any time.

Germans forecast annihilation of troops encircled in the Smolensk area west of Moscow. They said Nazi advance forces were about 130 miles from Moscow.

Moscow's communique told of continued stubborn fighting on all main fronts. Countercharges by the Reds were reported to have put the Nazis on the defensive in some sectors.

Experts, representing two schools of thought, gave a picture of the war. Stories on pages 4 and 5; map on page 4.

U. S. Prepares for New AEF, Facts Disclose

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 30.—The pattern of equipment and training of the United States army demonstrates to the satisfaction of military experts in the national capital that the administration is building a second mighty American expeditionary force.

The most recent evidence that the administration is training American youth to fight overseas was offered Monday when the house approved the 8,000 million dollar supplemental war department appropriation, which includes funds to provide initial equipment for an army of 3 million men.

Under these appropriations the army will make vast purchases in order to have sufficient stores on hand to provide uniforms and equipment for an army of 3 million men on mobilization day. At present approximately 1¾ million men are in uniform.

Agree Size Is for Attack.

Military experts agree that this country does not need an army of 3 million men for defense of the United States or the western hemisphere. An army of 3 million men is necessary only if this country is to send expeditionary forces to fight across the Atlantic or Pacific.

Under the supplemental appropriation, contracts are to be let for every tem of military equipment from shoes to helmets. Already vast orders are being placed for insignia for enlisted men, uniforms, belts, knapsacks, blankets, and such items of equipment, as well as arms and ammunition.

Officers must purchase their own equipment, from insignia to shoes. However, manufacturers have been told of the approximate officer needs and have been advised to have necessary materials on hand by specified dates.

Training Is for Offensive.

In all training the army is being prepared to fight an offensive and not a defensive war. Exercises are being conducted on terrain similar to that which is to be encountered in possible fields of action abroad. Training has been for attacks by mechanized and motorized divisions along the lines of those loosed by the Nazis in Europe, and there has been virtually no training in stopping such attacks or halting landing parties of possible invaders on American coasts.

Other recent evidence that the administration is developing an AEF follows:

1. The requisitioning of American passenger liners and their conversion into troop ships.

2. Various moves to standardize British and American arms so that the weapons and their ammunitions will be interchangeable.

Two Divisions Get Priorities.

3. The granting of equipment priorities to the 1st division of the regular army and the 1st division of marines so that these two units will be ready for immediate service.

4. The drive to extend the service of draftees, National Guardsmen, and reservists beyond one year and to lift the restrictions against service abroad.

[Senate debate was begun yesterday on legislation to extend indefinitely the service of all army personnel. Details on page 2.]

5. Rapid expansion of the marine

BRITISH-SOVIET AIR FLEETS HIT PORT ON ARCTIC

28 Planes Downed, Nazis Claim.

BERLIN, July 30 (AP).—British torpedo planes and fighters launched from an aircraft carrier in the Arctic ocean attacked a northern Norwegian port in coordination with assaults by Russian planes today, but the raid was "shattered completely" with 28 British craft destroyed, the official German radio and news agency reported tonight.

Arrows locate two ports of northern Norway.

In this, the first reported instance of such British activity in the Arctic ocean in a region where German-occupied Norway and German-allied Finland border closely on embattled Russia, the British attacked in successive waves, said DNB, the news agency.

Two defending German planes were lost but their crews were saved, the accounts said.

NAVAL CANNON IN ACTION.

As heard in London, the German radio said two of the destroyed British planes were downed by anti-aircraft fire, two by naval cannon, and the remainder by German fighters.

It was not disclosed whether any Russians were shot down, and the Norwegian port was not identified.

[Aside from Narvik, the most prominent Norwegian port in those icy waters is Tromso. Narvik and Tromso are approximately 750 miles from Iceland, which is occupied by United States military forces. Narvik was the scene of much bitter naval and land fighting during the Norwegian campaign of 1940. The Germans held the port for two months before the British and their allies captured it, but later the British abandoned it to the Germans.]

Mention of naval guns indicates that German warships are or were in the vicinity of the Norwegian port attacked and possibly were the object of the British raid.

Perhaps a Diversion.

The mere fact of such a raid, however, opens up broad speculative possibilities. For example, Britain might be seeking to aid the Russian defense of Leningrad by creating a strong diversion in the far north, either by naval and air sorties or by landing of armed forces. Or she might be striving to stamp out a German submarine base as part of the battle of the Atlantic.

Britain now has at least 10 aircraft carriers. She lost the aircraft carrier Glorious in waters off Norway on June 9, 1940, in a battle with the 26,000 ton German battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, but the scene was in the North sea rather than the Arctic ocean.

London Is Silent.

Informed sources in London said nothing was known there about the Arctic sea air battle. They pointed out, however, that any report would have to come from the ship involved and that no ship in such an operation would use her radio and risk disclosing her position. Customarily, an aircraft carrier would stay well offshore, out of sight of land, in launching her planes on such a mission.

CAPTAIN JIMMY JOINS THE STAFF OF COL. DONOVAN

Washington, D. C., July 30 [Special].—James Roosevelt, eldest son of President Roosevelt, former insurance executive, movie magnate, United States marine and at one time secretary to his father, is back in Washington in an official capacity, it was disclosed tonight.

He has joined the staff of Col. William J. Donovan, head of the office of defense information. Roosevelt, like Col. Donovan, recently traveled extensively in China, Egypt, and Greece, as a captain in the marine corps.

It was not clear just what Jimmy's duties in Col. Donovan's organization would be.

SENATE'S DRAFT DEBATE REVIVES TALK OF AN AEF

Roosevelt Bid for Fuller Power Foreseen.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 30.—Senate debate on legislation to extend indefinitely the service of all army personnel opened today with a hint that the administration next will request authority to send draftees and National Guardsmen outside the western hemisphere.

Senator Elbert D. Thomas [D., Utah], manager of the army service extension resolution, intimated that the army not only wants but should have the right to send citizen soldiers anywhere in the world.

The senate debate began as the house military affairs committee reported, by a vote of 15 to 7, a resolution almost identical with the pending senate measure.

Rejects Emergency Clause.

Like the senate committee, the house group rejected administration requests for the declaration of a national emergency by congress, which would authorize President Roosevelt to invoke the powers of sundry laws dependent for their operation upon such a congressional declaration.

The resolution reported by the house committee declares that the "national interest is imperiled," as provided by the conscription act of 1940, and thereby authorizes Mr. Roosevelt to extend the service of draftees, National Guardsmen, and reservists beyond 12 months.

Like the senate measure, the house resolution authorizes the secretary of war to release draftees already in service who became 28 years of age on or before July 1, or whose retention in service would cause undue hardship.

AEF Proposal Shelved.

The war department not only sought a national emergency declaration but asked congress to remove the limitations of existing law which prohibit the use of draftees and National Guardsmen outside the western hemisphere, except in the territories of the United States. President Roosevelt agreed to abandon this proposal, at least temporarily, when congressional leaders told him it probably would prevent passage of the army service extension legislation.

In the debate today, however, it was made plain that the administration still wants authority to send the citizen soldiers anywhere.

Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.] reminded Senator Thomas that Canada, which is engaged in war, does not conscript men for overseas service. Only volunteers may be sent to the battlefields of Europe.

Calls Restrictions Mistake.

"Now the senator has me on a spot," Thomas replied.

Thomas said he thought congress made a mistake last year when it adopted restrictions preventing the use of citizen soldiers outside the western hemisphere.

"To be exact," he said, "we have a National Guard regiment in Hawaii. Assume that we have trouble in China, where we have a right to send troops—where we have a duty to send troops—to protect the United States court of China. The regiment could not be used because of the limitation upon its men.

Thomas recalled that he offered a resolution authorizing the use of citizen soldiers outside the western hemisphere only with their consent and that the war department objected to the voluntary plan. The army, he explained, wants absolute authority over the use of its men.

When questioned by Senator Alva B. Adams [D., Colo.], Thomas denied that removal of the existing limitation of 900,000 on the number of conscripts that may be in service at any one time, as provided by the resolution, would permit expansion of the army to any size. The size of the army will be limited by the appropriations voted by congress, Thomas argued.

Killed in Plane

Miss Beverly H. Mortensen.

Evidence that propeller failure caused the crash of a Waco cabin biplane Tuesday evening in a cornfield near Sharon, Wis., was given to Civil Aeronautics authority inspectors yesterday. Two men and two women were burned to death in the crash.

Witnesses said one blade of the propeller apparently had been thrown off in flight, and that the resulting unbalancing of the engine caused it to tear itself out of the plane. The CAA inspectors were investigating a report that several days ago vandals broke into the hangar where the plane was stored, stole flight instruments, and might have tampered with the propeller.

The four victims were A. C. Wenzel, 45 years old, 9511 Ridgeway avenue, Skokie, an automobile dealer; Robert E. Holly, 33, of 3430 Palmer street, a commercial pilot; Miss Beverly Mortensen, 26, an air line hostess, whose home was in Champaign, Ill., and Miss Rosalie Tolley, 35, of 1804 Farwell avenue, Wenzel's secretary.

Troops' Appeal to Gibbons Wins Fast Action.

[This is the second of two articles detailing the last days of the American Expeditionary Force in Europe after the World war. The first article recounted the delay in plans for repatriating the Americans after the Armistice had been signed, the yearning of the American doughboys for home, and finally a development that promised quick action in getting the AEF back on American soil.]

On Feb. 1, 1919, with 85 per cent of the American Expeditionary Force still in Europe, the drive to get them back to the United States gained a new intensity. A man who had seen front line service, who was known to every doughboy in the service, who wore a black patch over one eyesocket, began to do his bit in this drive. He was Floyd Gibbons, then head of THE TRIBUNE'S foreign news service.

Swamped with letters from soldiers all over Europe, he went into action. Atop the front page of the Paris edition of THE TRIBUNE, from that day on, was emblazoned:

"GET THE BOYS HOME—TOOT SWEET!"

The response was overwhelming. Soldiers sent their letters to Gibbons and the newspaper's "Voice of the AEF" was jammed with expressions of homesickness.

It Gets Some Action.

So strong was the agitation that Gen. James P. McAndrew of Gen. Pershing's staff soon announced the homeward troop movement really was going to be stepped up and that 951,000 would be sent home in the next four months.

The slogan atop the Paris TRIBUNE'S front page was revised. It showed the Statue of Liberty with arms outstretched, calling, "Come on, you Yanks—Toot Sweet!" to a transport jammed with soldiers and to two groups in rowboats.

Meanwhile the government which had evolved from the bloodshed and revolt in Germany was balking at the terms of the peace treaty. There were frequent reports that the war was going to start all over again and that the army of occupation would be in service 15 years or more.

French Wanted Them to Stay.

The French still wanted a goodly sized American force in France, but the army's command had harkened to the protests of the soldiers and the people. Gen. Pershing, while he realized the need for an adequate army of occupation, had his soldiers' interests at heart and he directed that the repatriation program be accelerated.

Thus official pressure to keep more of the men in France was eased and the program stepped up so fast that by April 23 the Paris TRIBUNE could exult: "Home, 'Toot Sweet' is no dream."

On that date an average of 7,000 men daily were being made ready for embarkation at Brest, St. Nazaire, and Bordeaux.

In May, 331,146 more soldiers left on such famed transports as the Leviathan, the Minnesota, and the Pretoria.

They Almost Lose Hope.

The remaining forces of occupation, awaiting embarkation orders daily, almost lost hope of ever going home when in the second week of June the Germans again affirmed determination not to sign the treaty of Versailles. The Allied forces went into bivouac along the Rhine, ready at any moment to march into Germany.

But on June 22 the Weimar republic voted 237 to 138 to sign the treaty and one of the final excuses for a large American force now faded. The Amerocs, announced Floyd Gibbons, were really ready for Toot Sweet.

Thru June, 330,000 more left for home, topping by 30,000 the largest number ever brought to France in a single month during the conflict. In July, some 235,000 more jammed the homebound transports. The 2d division, which had played such a vital rôle at Soissons, left July 20.

Volunteers on Rhine.

The last of the American soldiers, however, did not leave until February, 1923, but these were 10,000 regular troops who had volunteered during the period of repatriation for service in the Rhine valley.

Late in 1922, however, various high ranking army men protested against the further presence of American soldiers in Europe and claimed the forces at the Rhine were of no military value.

This sentiment became strong enough to have the war department order Gen. Henry T. Allen, commanding officer, to withdraw his forces. In the last weeks of January this order was carried out and the American flag over Ehrenbreistein fortress was replaced by the French banner.

WILLKIE REFUSES TO DEBATE WAR ISSUE AT ELWOOD

Tells Press: 'Whole Thing Is Ridiculous.'

Elwood, Ind., July 30 [Special].—Wendell L. Willkie tonight refused to come to his home town next Sunday and meet Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, in a debate on war issues.

About the same time that the former Republican Presidential candidate refused the invitation, Thomas sent a telegram of acceptance and termed the debate "a sound example of good Americanism."

Willkie, loquaciously indignant when President Roosevelt refused his challenge to debate public issues during the 1940 political campaign, was as terse today as the President had been.

"What are the issues?" he demanded of an interviewer who asked him about the proposal to debate war issues. "There are no such issues in America today. You can just say that I said the whole thing is ridiculous."

Mayor Wires Invitations.

The invitations were issued by Mayor George M. Bonham after Willkie, a leading interventionist, arrived at nearby Rushville with the announced intention of spending a week on his Indiana farms.

Previously Bonham had proclaimed Sunday Anti-war day in Elwood and urged people of the community to attend a rally in Calloway park, where Willkie a year ago received formal notification of his nomination for the Presidency. Bonham said he had called the meeting to allow Elwood and the surrounding community to "meet in peaceful assembly and demonstrate to the President that they stand united behind the promises he has made "to keep America out of war."

Text of Invitation.

The telegram sent by Bonham to Willkie said: "I sincerely believe it time that the war issues should be debated by those to whom the people are looking for leadership. I should like to invite the leaders of the two minority parties, yourself and the Hon. Norman Thomas to originate such a discussion in Elwood next Sunday afternoon at the meeting I have called."

The same wire, with suitable name changes, was dispatched to Thomas.

Forrest A. Harness, member of the house of representatives from the 5th Indiana district, former state commander of the American Legion and member of the house military affairs committee, has accepted an invitation to speak at the rally.

London Denies 20,000 U. S. Soldiers Are Now in Egypt

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 30.—Official sources in London today denied a report that nearly 20,000 American soldiers are in Egypt. The only American service personnel in Egypt, it was stated, are a few observers connected with deliveries of American equipment in the middle east.

ROOSEVELT PLAN FOR PRICE LIMIT STIRS PROTESTS

Called New Step Toward Totalitarianism.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 30.—President Roosevelt's request today for dictatorial price control powers to avert inflation stirred opposition in congress to many features of the program.

While administration leaders praised the special message in which the President presented the situation as another emergency requiring immediate action to save the country from economic disaster, many other senators and representatives regarded the Roosevelt plan to halt the rise of prices as one that would take the country perilously close to that totalitarian form of government he affects to abhor.

Still others viewed with apprehension the administration of autocratic price control by Leon Henderson, the radical New Dealer, who for several months as head of the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply has been endeavoring, without any actual authority in law, to check price advances by what Senator Tom Connally [D., Tex.] called a "polite system of blackmail."

Henderson "Not the Right Man."

Asserting that runaway prices must not be tolerated, Representative Joseph W. Martin [R., Mass.], house minority leader, after the reading of the message, warned that improper administration of price control "can destroy American industry and bring misfortune to our people." "I wish," said Martin, "I could feel more confident in the purposes and policies of those in whom it is proposed to vest these enormous powers. I do not believe Mr. Henderson is the right man for the job."

Henderson is a prominent leader of the group of New Dealers who, during the monopoly investigation, manifested antagonism to private enterprise, which would be at the mercy of any price dictator.

"The President's proposal is one of tremendous importance to the American people," said Martin. "It reaches into every phase of our economic and industrial life."

Martin said he would appoint a price-control study committee to survey the subject and to advise the Republican membership.

Totalitarian Control Possible.

Representative Charles S. Dewey [R., Ill.], member of the house banking and currency committee to which the President's recommendations were referred, said that the plan requires the most careful consideration from many viewpoints, including the possibility that it would have the effect of creating a totalitarian control.

The Roosevelt plan for price control was set forth in the followin, passages of the message:

"Legislation should include authority to establish ceilings for prices and rents, to purchase materials and commodities when necessary to assure price stability, and to deal more extensively with excesses in the field of instalment credit. To be effective, such authority must be flexible and subject to exercise thru license or regulations under expeditious and workable administrative procedures. Like other defense legislation, it should expire with the passing of the need, within a limited time after the end of the emergency.

Upper Limit Fixed.

"The concept of a price ceiling is already familiar to us as a result of our own world war experience. Prices are not fixed or frozen; an upper limit alone is set. Prices may fluctuate below this limit, but they cannot go above it.

"To make ceiling prices effective it will often be necessary, among other things, for the government to increase the available supply of a commodity by purchases in this country or abroad. In other cases it will be essential to stabilize the market by buying and selling as the exigencies of price may require."

The increases in rent, as a result of inadequate housing supply, must be arrested, said the President, before rent profiteering can develop to increase the cost of living and to damage the civilian morale.

The administration's price control attempts to date have been criticized as a combination of New Deal inefficiency and of politics. Henderson has paid virtually no attention to the rising cost of living, confining his activities to raw materials. The politically minded administration boosted farm product prices and made no attempt to curb wage increases which were largely responsible for rising prices in industry.

Under the Roosevelt price control plan there is to be a ceiling on prices but not on wages. The President contented himself with giving labor some advice.

"Of course there cannot be price stability if labor costs rise abnormally," said Mr. Roosevelt. "Labor has far more to gain from price stability than from abnormal wage increases. For these are likely to be illusory and quickly overtaken by sharp rises in living costs which fall with particular hardship on the least fortunate of our workers and our old people.

Wage Policy Cited.

"There will always be need for wage adjustments from time to time to rectify inequitable situations. But labor as a whole will fare best from a labor policy which recognizes that wages in the defense industries should not substantially exceed the prevailing wage rates in comparable nondefense industries where fair labor policies have been maintained.

"Already thru the efforts of the National Defense Mediation board and wage stabilization committees, wage standards are being established and a measure of wage stability is being brought to particular industries. It is expected that such activities will be continued, extended, and made increasingly effective.

"I recognize that the obligation not to seek an excessive profit from the defense emergency rests with equal force on labor and on industry, and that both must assume their responsibilities if we are to avoid inflation."

Stable Income Necessary.

"I also recognize that we may expect the wholehearted and voluntary coöperation of labor only when it has been assured a reasonable and stable income in terms of the things money will buy, and equal restraint or sacrifice on the part of all others who participate in the defense program. This means not only a reasonable stabilization of prices and the cost of living, but the effective taxation of excess profits and purchasing power.

"In this way alone can the nation be protected from the evil consequences of a chaotic struggle for gains which must prove either illusory or unjust, and which must lead to the disaster of unchecked inflation."

The President devoted more than half of his message to a presentation of the disastrous effects of inflation ceused by spiraling prices. This trend is already in evidence, he said. As a result of the great armament production activity, he went on, people are making more money and are buying more goods. But the supply of civilian goods is being limited by the diversion of materials to armament production. The result is that prices of civilian goods are being bid up by buyers.

Living Costs Rising.

The cost of living has gone up 5½ per cent since the war began, 3½ per cent in the last six months, 2 per cent between May 15 and June 15. On June 30 the Bureau of Labor Statistics' index of 28 basic commodities was 50 per cent higher than in August, 1939, up 24 per cent in the last six months. Wholesale prices went up 17½ per cent in a year, 10 per cent since Jan. 1 last.

These prices, the President said, are similar to World war inflation when prices went up 120 per cent between October, 1915, and June, 1920. He added that the opportunity exists now to act before inflation is upon the nation.

FLORENCE OSBECK.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 30 (AP).—Enoch L. [Nucky] Johnson, Atlantic county Republican leader who was recently convicted of income tax evasion, will be married tomorrow to Florence Osbeck, former Broadway showgirl, frequently seen with him in night clubs in the last 10 years. Johnson was convicted of evading taxes on $124,800 income from numbers game operators in 1936 and 1937, and faces a possible maximum penalty of $20,000 fine and 10 years imprisonment.

DRAFTEES BARE GROWING LACK OF FARM HANDS

Downstate draftees, among 416 reporting yesterday from 24 draft boards, reported a growing shortage of farm hands because of inroads made in the ranks of such workers by the draft. This shortage recently caused state selective service headquarters to urge more occupational deferments for farm workers.

Leo Schafer, 25 years old, of Quincy, said that his father, who has been ill for six months, was left alone with a 260 acre farm. Schafer said that he was told by the Adams county board that it was no use to ask deferment on these grounds. He also reported that women are beginning to work in the fields because of the shortage of help.

Clarence Jones, 22, of Bentley, said that his father was left alone with a 500 acre farm as well as 80 acres rented by Clarence. He said that "hired help is mighty scarce" but the Hancock county board denied his appeal for deferment. Gail Pilkington, 23 of Nikota, who also lost an appeal to the Hancock county board, echoed the stories of others.

Three in Evanston Family Stricken with Poisoning

Three members of a family of eight were stricken with ptomaine poisoning yesterday after they ate ham sandwiches made from meat cooked Sunday and kept in a refrigerator. Robert F. Boston Sr., 45 years old, 1315 Main street, Evanston, a father, was taken to St. Francis hospital, Evanston, in serious condition. His sons, Robert Jr., 20, and William, 17, were treated at home. Boston's wife, Elizabeth, said that she and four other children did not eat the sandwiches.

7,877 Pints of Blood Sent to Britain from America

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 30.—American Ambassador John G. Winant today announced that 7,877 pints of plasma [blood for transfusions] taken from 15,000 American volunteers have been flown to Britain for bomb victims. In the last year about $18,000,000 worth of relief supplies have arrived in Britain under the seal of the American Red Cross. American children sent more than 100,000 garments and many "pocket toys," while Red Cross workers in the United States increased production to more than 500,000 garments a month.

PICTURE OF GERMAN-RUSSIAN WAR; TWO SCHOOLS OF THOUGHT

Red Army Unbroken, Moscow Claims; Others See Hitler Objectives Nearly Gained.

After five weeks and four days of fierce, large scale fighting two conflicting views are held of the success of Germany's march into Russia. Neither can be established as accurate, for the German communiques tell one story, and the Russian reports another.

One view is that the Germans have attained substantial success toward their principal objectives and are still driving forward, making great inroads upon soviet man power and material. The other is that the Red army, fighting with better effect than was expected anywhere, is still largely intact, has reduced the blitzkrieg to a siege, and is even driving the Nazis backward at some points.

Arguments in support of the two theories are analyzed here in parallel columns:

The Case for Stalin

The school that holds that Russia has fought hard and well makes no assertion that the Reds are going to win a war, but it does contend that tho Germany has won many battles, it is far from winning the war; that the Germans have encountered ever fiercer resistance, and that Adolf Hitler's headache is growing worse every day.

The confident reports out of Moscow, telling not of frantic, suicidal attempts to stave off the German legions, but of armies still intact, of widespread air activity, of well organized guerilla fighting deep in the German rear, and even of successful counterattacks carrying great distances, do not sound like a nation in dissolution.

Longer Than a "Blitz."

Those who view Russian chances with tempered optimism say that at the same stage—the 39th day—France was laying down its arms in a separate peace, Britain had had its Dunkirk, and Belgium and Holland were smashed. They compare the western campaign with the Russian, asking whether Hitler has attained a single one of his military or strategic goals, and what has become of Hitler's promise of "a smashing victory within a month."

They admit that Russia has lost many men and much equipment, but they cite statements of S. A. Lozovsky, vice foreign commissar, who said that Russia still had the tanks, the planes, and the men required, and that the Reds could afford to lose territory at this stage of the war. Lozovsky called the Nazi blitzkrieg "a washout" and said the Germans faced a "new Verdun" of costly siege warfare.

Dangerous for Nazis.

These sources say that, menacing as are the German armored prongs thrust into Russia, the potentialities of the military situation can prove as dangerous to the Nazis as to the Reds. It is admitted that strong soviet forces are encircled in the Nazi rear, but it is said that they have sufficient food and ammunition to fight a long time, and that they may exercise a strong disruptive influence as the Germans try to consolidate their gains.

It is further said that militarily the situation is still so fluid along the lines of all principal Nazi thrusts that German encirclers run the chance at any time of being themselves encircled.

It has been pointed out that it is a long, long time since Russia won a war, but to "conquer" her is something else again. Even the underarmed forces of the czar in the World war were not hammered into military defeat. If Germany is to win, it is said, she must expect to come limping out of the last battle with her power in men and weapons sadly diminished.

The Case for Hitler

Well advised authorities in Washington, D. C., declare that the Nazi claims are, if anything, conservative—that Adolf Hitler is closing in on principal objectives, that he is approaching success in his primary purpose of annihilating the Red army, and that the Russians have made an irreparable error in tactics.

These sources placed Nazi columns at Krasnovogardeisk, 20 miles from Leningrad; between Yartseva and Duravo, with vanguards as far east as Vyazma, 130 miles west of Moscow; encircling Kiev by pincers at Gogolev on the north and Vasilkov on the south, and 25 miles southwest of Odessa, at Cetatea Alba.

It is conceded that the Reds have fought well, but that their losses have been enormous, in the ratio of at least three to Germany's one. It is further emphasized that Hitler's primary aim has not been to take specific territory but to destroy the Red army, and that in this regard the soviet leadership has played into his hands.

Should Have Withdrawn.

According to this view, the Russians should have withdrawn at once to a line between Leningrad and Moscow and the Black sea, and then counterattacked against overextended German lines of communication.

It is argued that, by throwing their divisions at the Nazi spearheads, soviet leaders have merely saved Hitler the trouble of chasing them to slaughter on faraway fields, and that the Nazis are content to mow down the Reds wherever they stand and fight. By keeping the main theaters of fighting well to the west, the Russians are reducing Germany's difficulties of transportation and service of supply.

Red army losses are reported to have been especially heavy among crack troops. The restoration to duty of political commisars is attributed to Josef Stalin's distrust of the morale of reservists who have filled up the ranks.

Supply a Vital Factor.

Another factor cited is that the time is now at hand when supply and maintenance will count heavily. Russia's transportation system, inadequate to start with, has been heavily pounded from the air, and the problem of moving fresh men and material to the fighting zones will increase. It also is said the Reds have neither the production facilities nor the mechanical ingenuity to replace or repair large quantities of material lost or badly battered.

It is immaterial to the Germans, military sources here in Washington are saying, where the Russians collapse. It is material only that the collapse of the Red army be total. When that happens, Germany will have nothing to distract it in the east.

Progress of War Week by Week

The outline of German and Russian actions by weekly periods, as pieced together from communiques often vague and usually conflicting, would appear to be as follows:

FIRST WEEK, ending June 29.—Northern drive takes Kaunas and Vilna, in former Lithuania, and Dvinsk, in former Latvia. Center drive cuts soviet lines west of Minsk, capital of White Russia; encircles two Russian armies at Bialystok, Russian Poland; takes Brest Litovsk, farther south, and breaks soviet fortifications west of Lwow, Russian Poland. Southern drive of Nazi and Rumanian forces held at Prut river on Bessarabian border.

SECOND WEEK, ending July 6—Northern drive takes Riga, capital of former Latvia and Russian naval base, drives almost to Lake Peipus in former Estonia, and near Ostrov, in old Russia. Center drive captures Lwow and crosses Berezina river near Borizov, 50 miles east of Minsk and 375 miles from Moscow. Drive on Kiev passes Luck, Russian Poland, and crosses frontier of soviet Russia west of Novograd Volynski. Soviets report great battles at Dvinsk, Borizov, and Bobruisk, 80 miles southeast of Minsk; also counterattack on German drive on Murmansk, ice free Arctic port.

THIRD WEEK, ending July 13—Nazis, said to have ended first phase of campaign on 14th day [July 5], after pausing for most of a week to rest men and replenish supplies, start second big push July 12. During the week, northern drive reaches Pskov and Ostrov, south of Lake Peipus, 175 miles southeast of Leningrad; center drive passes Polotsk and reaches Vitebsk and Orsha, and is at Bobruisk on southern edge of salient, north of the Pripet marshes; while Germans, Hungarians, and Russians in south take Cernauti, capital of Bukovina province, and overrun much of Bessarabia.

Heavy tank battles reported continuing near Novograd Volynski in drive on Kiev, with Nazis reported west of Zhitomir.

Finns reach Kakisalmi, on Lake Ladoga, 75 miles northwest of Leningrad, and seek to cut Murmansk-Leningrad railway near Kandalaksha on White sea.

FOURTH WEEK, ending July 20—Northern drive passes former soviet frontier north of Lake Peipus and another prong sweeps past southern end of lake and is reported heading toward Novgorod, 100 miles southeast of Leningrad.

In center, Germans say the Stalin line is broken between Vitebsk and Mogliev and that their troops sweep past Smolensk, 230 miles west of Moscow, entering the gateway between the Dnieper and Dvina rivers. Nazi advance forces claim a victory 110 miles west of Moscow, but Reds say their forces are still fighting 140 miles to the rear of the German salient at Smolensk.

Nazis on July 15 announce they are "at the gates of Kiev," but Reds are still resisting strongly at Zhitomir and Novograd Volynski.

Chisinau, capital of Russian Bessarabia, reported taken in southern drive.

FIFTH WEEK, ending July 26—Tallinn, capital of Estonia, reported captured July 17 in Finnish advices, still in Russian hands, but northern drive makes slight progress to Porkhov, 130 miles south of Leningrad, and to the region of Volosovo, 45 miles southwest of that city. Finns, meanwhile, report 80 mile advance in eastern Karelia and say they are fighting 140 miles within the soviet frontier at Petrozavodsk, northeast of Lake Ladoga.

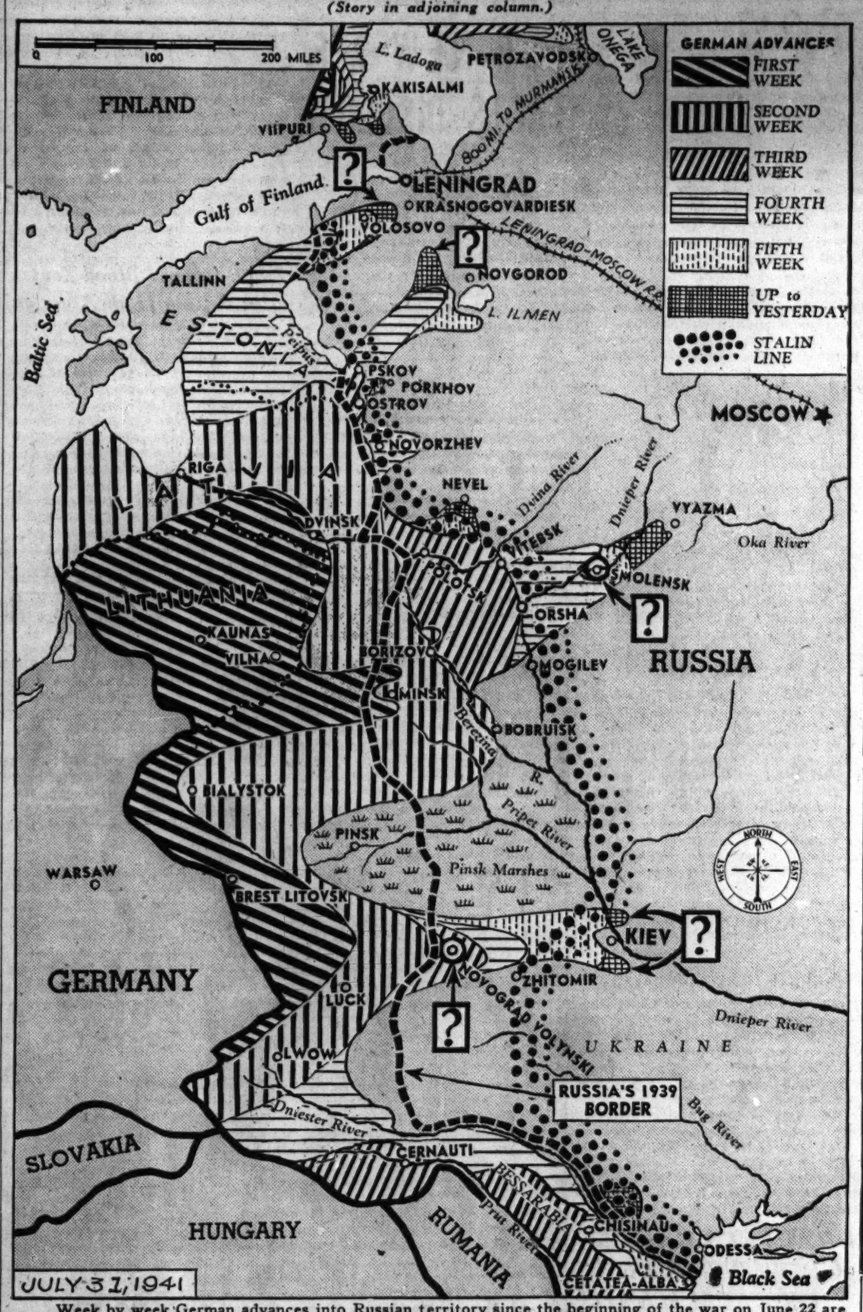
In the center large scale fighting continues around Nevel, Polotsk, and Smolensk.

Nazi troops say they extend pincers north and south of Kiev. In Bessarabia fortifications east of the Dniester river are reported taken.

UP TO YESTERDAY [since July 26]—In the north, the Nazis report the fall of Leningrad is imminent in a pincer squeeze from the north and south. In the center, Nazi advance elements driving on Moscow are reported 130 miles west of that city, at Vyazma, while German sources say that resistance of encircled Red units at Smolensk is approaching its conclusion. Red sources contended that the major Nazi drives on Leningrad, Moscow, and Kiev were breaking up against stout resistance, and that Red counterattacks at some points were moving forward. In the south, the Germans claimed all of Bessarabia and indicated Odessa was threatened.

Thirty-Nine Days of the German-Russian War

(Story in adjoining column.)



Week by week German advances into Russian territory since the beginning of the war on June 22 are shown here. Different shadings indicate approximately the territory occupied by the armed forces of Hitler from week to week, but because of Russian guerrilla activity it cannot be said that the Germans hold every bit of territory with which they are credited on the map. The information on which the map is based was compiled from the official communiques of both sides and other sources. Question marks indicate doubt as to the exactitude of the German positions. The Russians, for example, have never admitted the loss of Smolensk and Novograd-Volynski.

Tells of 8 Day Trip Thru Russia.

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, July 30.—I have just made an eight day journey thru the Armenian, Georgian, Azerbaijanian, and Daghestan republics of Russia, and across the northern Caucasus, along the Don river basin and into the western Ukraine and central Russia. A great part of the soviet wheat crop, I am convinced, already has been harvested, and the remainder is ready for the reaper.

All the way from the Turkish frontier of the Armenian republic to Rostov, men and women were seen laboring long hours, and tractors and horses were drawing all the available harvesting machinery.

Bread Cars Jam Railways.

The bread bakery at Leninakan was working hard, the Caucasian railroad system was jammed with boxcars carrying loaves of bread, and flatcars were loaded with sacks of white flour as well as tremendous quantities of oil, machinery, and other essentials.

This was a bumper crop year in most parts of Russia.

The corn crop has not been harvested, even in the south, but is slated to begin soon.

In most parts of the immense area I crossed there were no signs of war. The large Georgian republic and the city of Tiflis enjoyed a normal life. Not an air raid alert was heard until Moscow was reached.

As soon as my train from Turkey crossed the soviet frontier I had a chance to view Russian army units engaged in exercises.

Uniforms and Boots Good.

I was especially impressed by the good quality of their uniforms and excellent black leather boots. Of the thousands of soldiers seen since, 90 per cent had these sturdy boots, and with the exception of wounded or those just returning from the front, most of the uniforms are in good condition.

At Leninakan recruits were being marched around the main square, truckloads of singing soldiers came bumping along, and some 25 airplanes took off from an airfield and hummed over the lighted town.

Here and there were groups of two or three uniformed women soldiers, who mostly work in supplying the engineering departments.

BILL TO RID ARMY OF INCOMPETENT OFFICERS SIGNED

Washington, D. C., July 30 [Special].—President Roosevelt today signed the joint congressional resolution authorizing compulsory retirement during the "emergency" of army officers found to be in ill health, inefficient, or incompetent.

The secretary of war has final authority.

PREPARE FOR 750 INJURED DAILY IN WAR MANEUVERS

New Orleans, La., July 30 (AP).—The army today prepared to take care of 750 casualties daily when 500,000 troops participate in the nation's greatest peace time maneuvers in Louisiana late this summer.

Lieut., Col. W. R. L. Reinhardt of the medical corps estimated—on the basis of statistics—that 1.5 out of every 1,000 men in war games needs hospital treatment. These cases may range from a blistered heel to severe fractures resulting from accidents, and from mild tonsilitis to the development of a previously latent major ailment, like a heart ailment.

Col. Reinhardt said 50 Pullman cars already are spotted at strategic points in Louisiana to take part in the movement of hospital cases. When necessary, casualties will be sent to one of a number of evacuation hospitals located at railheads.

Report Turks Reject Vichy Plea for Return of Ships

ANKARA, Turkey, July 30.—The Turkish government was reported today to have rejected Vichy French claims for the return of the 11 vessels in the French near east flotilla which fled from Beirut, Latakia, and Tripoli and took refuge in Alexandretta.

POLAND SIGNS UP AS ALLY OF REDS IN WAR ON NAZIS

Prisoners in Russia Will Form an Army.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 30.—Release of all Polish prisoners in Russia, including 200,000 troops captured in the Russian occupation of eastern Poland, is provided for in an agreement signed here today by the exiled Polish government and the Russian ambassador, Ivan Maisky.

The accord also provides for reestablishment of prewar frontiers. Russia renounced its pact with Germany, whereby it occupied more than half of prewar Poland, as "having no validity."

Poles to Form Army.

The agreement provides for the formation of a Polish army in Russia to fight Germany. Much of it may be recruited among the released prisoners. The officers will be Polish but they will be under the Russian high command. Russia will arm the force, Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary stated.

Arrangements for the resumption of diplomatic relations between Russia and Poland are being made.

Eden Announces Signing.

Eden interrupted a debate in the house of commons to announce the signing of the agreement, in the negotiation of which he was mediator. He stressed that Britain is not obligated to guarantee the eastern frontier of Poland.

[Another London dispatch stated that August Zaleski, Polish foreign minister, resigned, having oppossed the agreement, and that other ministers were expected to quit.]

Churchill Presides.

The agreement was signed at the foreign office with Prime Minister Winston Churchill presiding. After Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski, the Polish premier, and Maisky had signed, Eden handed Sikorski an official note stating that Britain "has entered into no undertakings toward the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics which affect the relations between that country and Poland," and "does not recognize any territorial changes which have been effected in Poland since August, 1939."

AUSTRALIA PUTS WAR CASUALTIES AT 14 PER CENT

MELBOURNE, Australia, July 30.—Army Minister P. C. Spender has announced that 14 per cent of the Australian imperial force overseas have become casualties, with slightly more than 1 per cent killed.

More than 3,000 listed as missing have been located, representing nearly half the total so reported, altho 2,300 of them are reported as prisoners. Five hundred and fifty have rejoined their units or have been hospitalized.

In a comparable period in the World war the Australian imperial force suffered 35 per cent casualties, of which more than 30 per cent were killed or died of wounds.

NAZIS SQUEEZE LENINGRAD IN 2 PINCER DRIVES

Berlin Predicts Decision Will Be Settled Soon.

BERLIN, July 31 [Thursday] (AP).—Germans reported early today that more than 2,000 Russians had been slain in one day's fighting about a bridgehead on the Leningrad front and declared Russia's second city now is in a precarious position. The Nazi armies in this sector, the informants said, are fighting their way to "a fast approaching important decision."

[Private advices received by the Associated Press in New York indicated the German high command expected the fall of Leningrad at any time. Russian resistance there appeared nearly at an end.]

German forces both north and south of Leningrad are exerting a pincer squeeze which the Germans believe seals the fate of this great soviet western port, which, as St. Petersburg, once was the capital of the czars.

Two Red Divisions Destroyed.

Two Russian divisions have been destroyed west of Lake Peipus in Estonia, on Leningrad's southwestern front, and the Germans there were declared to have poured in between Leningrad and large Russian units in Estonia which formed part of the outer defenses of the Leningrad area.

Fighting was at close quarters with hand grenades and automatic pistols. The Russians' retreat apparently was cut off, and the Germans asserted that these units were doomed to certain annihilation.

The Germans also continued to express complete satisfaction with the progress of German-Finnish forces pushing down on Leningrad from the north across the Karelian isthmus, completing the Leningrad squeeze. The German radio stated that these German-Finnish units carried out attacks successfully, despite the fact that retreating Russian forces poured oil in their forests and set them afire.

Decisions Soon at Smolensk.

The Germans also predicted important decisions soon on the Smolensk front, along the path of the main drive on Moscow, 230 miles to the east. In the great engagement on the central front, generally known as the battle of Smolensk, most of the fighting is considerably east of the city, German dispatches said.

German advance units were said to be in the vicinity of Vyazma, 100 miles east of Smolensk and 130 miles from Moscow.

East of Smolensk the Germans are smashing at encircled Russian forces and causing "bloody losses" among them, informed sources declared.

The Russians were said by the Germans to be throwing whatever troops are available into the fight in the hope of relieving hard-pressed units, but "their destruction is proceeding."

Half of Tank Production.

On one sector of the Smolensk front, in two days of fighting, the Russians lost 230 tanks which the official news agency, DNB, declared was more than half of one month's production of the soviet tank industry.

The latest tabulation of air war figures set the total of Russian planes which the Germans say they have destroyed at 9,120.

RUSSIAN-BRITISH CO-OPERATION IN IRAN REVEALED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 30.—Britain worked in close coöperation with the Russian government when it warned Iran [Persia] of danger in permitting "excessively large numbers of Germans to live in that country," Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the house of commons today.

The Iran-Russian frontier has few natural barriers to a blitzkrieg.

Reports from Ankara, Turkey, indicate Iran has rejected the British warnings thru fear of compromising her neutrality and relations with Germany.

Iran is regarded by the British as a possible route over which to send war supplies to Russia.

BRITONS RENEW DRIVE FOR CHIEF OF PRODUCTION

Churchill Talk Fails to Stem Clamor.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 30.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill's speech in parliament yesterday to dispel "the bad impression" created overseas, particularly in America, by criticism of Britain's war output, did not quell demands in this country that a production minister be named, today's newspaper editorials revealed.

The Daily Herald headed its editorial, "Crucial questions left unanswered in production debate." It declared the "question is whether, by changes in organization and method, progress cannot be further expedited. A great many responsible people think it can.

"And, having the courage to say so, they do not deserve the innuendoes which the prime minister lavished upon them yesterday: 'Mere vulgar abuse and prejudice;' 'Bad citizens and bad people;' 'An overardent or dissatisfied section of the press can take up the whole dismal, cacophonous chorus of stinking fish all around the world.'

"Fundamental Misunderstanding."

"By the employment of such phrases Churchill showed his fundamental misunderstanding of the spirit of the critics. The misunderstanding is extraordinary in one who has formerly so warmly criticized and so warmly proclaimed the value of criticism."

The Herald, referring to the prime minister's refusal to appoint a minister of production on the ground that he could not find a person possessing "the Napoleonic and Christian qualities necessary," declared "Ernest Bevin [minister of labor] is the obvious candidate."

Critics "Loyal Citizens."

The editorial concluded: "When we suggest to him methods whereby his burden might be eased, we are neither vague, vulgar, bad, nor disaffected. We merely are loyal citizens exercising the right to speak our minds."

MYSTERY VEILS ALUMINUM PLANT STRIKE IN CANADA

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

OTTAWA, Ont., July 30.—Altho the censor's ban has been lifted on news of the strike at the Aluminum Company of America's huge works at Arvid, Que., where 300 workers seized the factory and remained in occupation for four days, considerable mystery still surrounds the workers' action.

No arrests have yet been made, as Munitions Minister C. D. Howe indicated when he alleged the seizure represented sabotage, and the workers have decided to go back to work.

'ELITE' REGIMENT OF NAZI TROOPS SMASHED: REDS

Claim Battles Again Inflict Heavy Toll on Germans.

MOSCOW, July 31 [Thursday] (AP).—Heavy German losses in men and materials in the raging battle of Smolensk 230 miles west of Moscow were reported anew by the soviet information bureau today.

Stubborn fighting continued particularly in the Smolensk and Zhitomir sectors and also in the Nevel and Novorzhev directions, with no important engagements elsewhere on the long front with the German invaders. Zhitomir is 85 miles west of Kiev, the capital of the Ukraine. Nevel and Novorzhev are south of Leningrad.

The Red air force smashed at German tanks and infantry, attacked airdromes and again bombed the Rumanian cities of Ploesti and Sulina, setting large fires, the communique said. German planes attempted to raid Moscow last night, but were beaten off outside the city and one was shot down.

Smash Elite Regiment.

Complete smashing "a few days ago" of the "Great Germany" motorized infantry regiment of German storm troopers in the Smolensk area was credited to the Red army.

This regiment, the communique stated, belonged to a special detachment formed in 1940 from a former Berlin guards regiment and was highly valued by Hitler. All its members were "devoted Fascist fanatics," it said. More than 2,000 of its members were killed or wounded and several hundred captured.

Counter charges by waves of Red infantry were reported to have put the German army on the defensive in some sectors of the long Russian front.

The communist party newspaper Pravda reported that soviet troops beat repeatedly at the invaders in a series of far-spread attacks, turning some Nazi thrusts into slow and bloody retirement.

"Often Twins to Defensive."

There was no claim that a Russian general offensive was under way, but Pravda said Russia's aim now was to "convert the checking of the German offensive into defeat of Hitler's armies."

"Now the enemy often has to turn from the offensive to the defensive at certain points," Pravda said.

Pravda reported that every one of the three major plans of the German offensive had been smashed. These, it said, were the efforts to capture Moscow, Leningrad, and Kiev.

The major results of the campaign so far, the paper said, were the destruction of some of the best of German divisions, the undermining of German morale, and a heavy drain on German war supplies and particularly fuel.

"These partial successes," Pravda went on, "are only the beginning of a chain of mighty blows which the Fascist hordes are bound to feel."

SON OF MARSHAL KEITEL KILLED ON EASTERN FRONT

BERLIN, July 30 (AP).—The youngest son of Gen. Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German high command, was killed today in fighting on the eastern front. He was Hans Georg Keitel, an artillery lieutenant.

Claim Escaped Baron Killed.

LONDON, July 31 [Thursday] (AP).—The Daily Herald reported today that Baron Franz von Werra, German flyer who made three escapes from the British and jumped bail in the United States to go back to Germany, had been killed on the Russian front.

The baron was shot down near London last September and captured. He escaped in Britain twice but was recaptured. Taken to Canada, he fled a prison train last January and crossed into the United States where he was arrested on a charge of failure to report to an immigration officer.

He was released on $5,000 bond, but forfeited it when it was disclosed in April he had gone to South America. Thence he flew to Europe.

TUGWELL NAMED TO GOVERNORSHIP OF PUERTO RICO

'Brain Truster' Out of New Deal Since '36.

Washington, D. C., July 30 [Special].—Rexford Guy Tugwell, one of the original New Deal "brain trusters," was nominated by President Roosevelt today to be governor of Puerto Rico. He will succeed Guy J. Swope of Harrisburg, Pa., who resigned to become director of the division of territories and island possessions in the interior department.

Rexford Guy Tugwell.

Tugwell last week resigned the chairmanship of the New York City planning commission, which he had held since April 1938. His resignation followed announcement of his appointment as chancellor of the University of Puerto Rico. A spokesman said he can serve in both capacities on the island.

Member of Radical Set.

During Tugwell's brain trusting tenure—1933 to 1936—he was one of the most influential and most radical of President Roosevelt's advisers. He had a hand in shaping all New Deal policies, but his chief interest was in building little farm Utopias.

In utterances prior to his New Deal affiliation, Tugwell urged the formation of a Farmer-Worker alliance, the goal of the communist party, and even hinted at direct action to overthrow the capitalist system and bring about a collectivist state after the Russian manner.

His radicalism was kept muzzled during Mr. Roosevelt's first term, and even the most liberal New Dealers were reported relieved when he quit as undersecretary of agriculture late in 1936.

Quits New Deal for Wall Street.

Altho as a brain truster he had advocated a salutary purge of receivers of unearned income, the job he took when he left the government service was a Wall street position as executive vice president of the American Molasses company. He resigned that job when he became a New York City planner.

The dapper, former Columbia university professor spent a month last spring in Puerto Rico as a representative of Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, investigating how best to break up Puerto Rico's huge farms. The Ickes-Tugwell plan for revamping Puerto Rican economy by limiting corporately held estates to 500 acres was assailed in Puerto Rico as a "Russian experiment" and "guinea pigging."

NAZIS DENY UDET, FAMOUS FLYER, KILLED HIMSELF

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, July 30.—DNB, official German news agency, categorically denied today that Col. Gen. Ernst Udet of the German air force had committed suicide.

[Certain news agencies yesterday reported that Udet, a famed World war and stunt flyer, had committed suicide in Berlin after being arrested because of his opposition to the attack on Russia. The report emanated from London newspapers. The arrest was said to have been made on Adolf Hitler's order.]

800 AMERICANS NOW IN ULSTER TO WORK ON BASE

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, July 30 (AP).—Four hundred sixty skilled American construction men, ready to do double duty all summer to earn their $60 to $120 a week, arrived at a northern Irish port today to work on certain harbor facilities. Their arrival brings to 800 the number of United States workers and technicians assigned to Ulster projects in connection with American lend-lease aid to Britain.

They brought their own food and clothing and will have their own police and medical services.

Capt. David Margesson, British war secretary, greeted the new arrivals, saying, "We are mighty glad to see you fellows here." All of the men, as a condition of service, are of non-axis descent.

ARMED MEN ROB ATTORNEY.

William T. Woodson, an attorney, was robbed of $90 and a ring valued at $35 early today when two armed men accosted him as he was parking his automobile near his home at 4940 East End avenue.

U. S. PROTESTS JAP BOMBING OF RIVER GUNBOAT

Incident Used in Drive to Keep Army Draftees.

BULLETIN.

TOKIO, July 31 [Thursday]—[by Telephone to New York] (AP).—Foreign Minister Vice Admiral Teijiro Toyoda offered apologies and expressed regret today to United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew for the bombing of the United States gunboat Tutuila at Chungking, China.

The apologies were offered before the American envoy was able to make the representations he had been instructed to make by Washington.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 30.—The United States moved swiftly today to protest against the bombing of the U. S. S. Tutuila, a navy gunboat, by Japanese planes in an air raid on Chungking, China, early this morning.

Arrow Locates Chungking.

Immediately after receiving a report on the bombing from the American embassy at Chungking, President Roosevelt instructed Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles to make stern representations to Japan.

Welles summoned Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, Japanese ambassador, to the state department and requested him to convey to Tokio this government's protest over the incident.

Protest Within Four Hours.

The protest was started on its way to Japan within four hours after the White House received the first word of the bombing, which caused no loss of life aboard the gunboat.

Almost as rapidly, the administration began to employ the incident to bolster its drive to retain draftees, guardsmen and reserve officers in training beyond the year period specified by law. Sam Rayburn, speaker of the house of representatives, said such incidents demonstrate the wisdom of the administration's course.

Reports from the United States naval attaché at Chungking said the superstructure on the stern of the Tutuila, which is a unit of the Yangtse river patrol, was damaged slightly by a bomb which exploded near the gunboat. An outboard motor boat lying near the navy vessel was shattered by another bomb.

26 Planes in Attack.

Welles said word had been received that a flight of 26 bombers, which were bombing Chungking, loosed bombs on the Tutuila. He emphasized that the bombs could not have been dropped accidentally, because the vessel was on the far side of the river from Chungking and on the foreign side of the river.

The Tutuila bombing recalled the Panay incident. The U. S. S. Panay, a unit of the river patrol, was attacked by Japanese aircraft in December, 1937. Two American lives were lost in the attack. Japan apologized and assumed financial responsibility for the loss of life and property.

Britain Calls on Japan to Stop Drive 'While There Is Time'

LONDON, July 30 (AP).—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden called upon the Japanese today to "reflect, while there still is time, whither their present policy is leading them."

Anthony Eden.

In a major British diplomatic attempt to steer Japan off a course of military expansion which may lead to a collision of the world powers in the orient, Eden told the house of commons: "I cannot believe that statesmanship in Japan is entirely dead or blind."

He did not compromise. It was no fault of Britain, Eden said, that Japan now finds great nations united against her

Hits Tokio "Aggression."

"Japan," he said, "complains of encirclement, but it is Japan herself who, by successive acts of aggression, has drawn closer and closer in self-defense the countries which lie in her path and whose territories and interests are ever more sharply threatened."

Eden went into British efforts to avert Japanese military occupation of Indo-China, which is now proceeding, and charged that the Japanese vice-minister of foreign affairs had categorically denied any such intention as late as July 5.

Officials of the British ministry of economic warfare said they could not give a definite answer to the question of whether Britain's economic blockade of Japan would be enforced 100 per cent.

Envoy Sees Foreign Chief.

TOKIO, July 30 (AP).—The British ambassador, Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, conferred today with Vice Admiral Teijiro Toyoda, foreign minister.

The Japanese press went on denouncing the United States and Britain, calling them the masters of the Netherlands East Indies and blaming what they called American meddling for the suspension by the islands of the oil shipment agreement with Japan.

The Standard Oil company was permitted, after a 24 hour suspension, to resume domestic deliveries of oil and gasoline.

From Dairen, Manchukuo, it was reported that the authorities, having taken brief control of the Standard, Texas, and Shell Oil companies and detained their employés, had withdrawn.

More Troops in Indo-China.

SAIGON, French Indo-China, July 30 (AP).—Japanese troops today poured by the thousands into Saigon harbor and into Cap St. Jacques, at the mouth of the Saigon river.

A Japanese destroyer brought in a parade of 14 naval vessels carrying 13,000 soldiers at dawn, and 30 additional transports later arrived at Cap St. Jacques to disembark their men there.

Nhatrang, 200 miles northeast of here, reported that eight transports, carrying 7,000 Japanese soldiers and 250 Japanese bombers and pursuit planes, arrived there.

AUSTRALIA SETS UP STRING OF DEFENSE BASES

MELBOURNE, Australia, July 31 [Thursday] (AP).—Air Minister John McEwen disclosed today that Australia has established a strong string of defense and reconnaissance air bases against possible invasion.

McEwen and Air Chief Marshal Sir Charles Stuart Burnett, chief of staff of the Royal Australian air force, have just returned from an inspection of the advanced operational bases.

Locations and other particulars of the bases were not disclosed.

Ecuadoreans Report Town Falls to Peruvian Troops

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, July 30 (AP).—Dispatches from Loja province tonight said 2,000 Peruvian troops had captured the frontier town of Macara after annihilating the garrison of fifty Ecuadorean soldiers. Peruvian infantry forces were reported marching on Sabiango, Sozoranga, and Cariamanga.

RAF PILOT FROM RIVER FOREST IS KILLED IN ACTION

Fred Grove, 23 years old, of River Forest, has been killed in action while flying for England, according to a cablegram received yesterday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harper L. Grove, of 7358 Lake street. A spokesman for the family said the youth, a former newspaper man in Oak Park, was trained in California and Canada and went to England about six weeks ago. The cable gave no details.

JAP ASSAULT ON SIBERIA SEEN IF NAZIS WHIP REDS

Chinese Say Tokio Plans Attack by 2 Million Men.

PEKING, China, July 30 (AP).—The conviction that Japan is preparing for a great assault on soviet Siberia if and when the Red armies in the west are smashed by Adolf Hitler's legions is growing in informed Chinese circles in this North China observation post.

From Japanese in a position to know Tokio plans, they say, they have heard that the Japanese command is gathering in Manchukuo and North China forces, which eventually will total 2,000,000 men and 5,000 planes, for a determined effort to break Russian power in the far east for good.

[Premier Prince Fuminaro Konoe said in Tokio yesterday that Japan "must always be prepared for the worst"; that she needs "swift, determined execution of her national policies"; that the German-Russian war "is bringing serious effects on Japan," and "the government is doing everything within its power to mobilize all resources and man power" for any eventuality.]

May Stake All on Drive.

Chinese, some of whom work in close liaison with the Japanese rulers of North China, express firm belief that Japan is preparing to stake her national existence on a drive into the Russian far east when the opportune time comes.

They say their Japanese contacts are boasting that Japan is getting ready to hurl the largest army the empire ever has assembled into such an attack and that the occupation of French Indo-China is merely a side issue.

[Until recently Japan has had only about 500,000 men in Manchukuo, adjacent to Siberia, while the far eastern Red army has been estimated at some 30 divisions, perhaps 500,000 men, with strong air forces and self-sufficiency in supply of food and munitions. Hitherto the strength of the Russian Siberian forces has kept Japanese ambitions in that area in check, according to military experts.]

From these Chinese and Japanese sources this picture of Tokio's alleged program is pieced together:

The plan for the Siberian attack was adopted by the imperial conference in Tokio July 2. At that time it was announced that a decision of far-reaching importance had been made, but its direction was not disclosed.

The conference was strongly influenced by the octogenarian Mitsuru Toyama, chief of Japan's unofficial superpatriots, and other leaders of powerful secret societies who supported the Siberia project.

They were said to have contended that the United States and Britain would take no action to hamper a drive against communist Russia.

Would Halt Nazi Challenge.

Moreover, a Japanese move into Siberia would forestall a further German advance eastward challenging Japan's dominance in East Asia and would realize the 50-year-old dream of the Japanese army of planting the rising sun over eastern Siberia, perhaps as far west as Lake Baikal.

The Japanese army for two generations has nourished ambitions for continental expansion, whereas the navy is the exponent of expansion to the south.

EDEN SAYS BRITAIN SUPPORTS WELLES' POSTWAR PROGRAM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 30.—Answering questions in the house of commons today, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden openly associated himself on behalf of the British government with American Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles' declaration of the United States' postwar aims.

"I need hardly say that his majesty's government is in cordial agreement," he declared.

The foreign secretary also expressed the hope that "we may shortly hold another meeting of the governments of the allied powers at which we can begin the examination of postwar problems."

[On July 22 Welles emphasized that there could be "no peace until the Hitlerite government of Germany has been finally and utterly destroyed," and called for an "association of nations," abolition of "offensive armaments," and a reduction of "defensive armaments" with some rigid form of international supervision, and equal economic enjoyment, fair access of all nations to the world's natural resources and raw materials."]

REVEAL DATA ON NEW 4-MOTORED BRITISH BOMBERS

LONDON, July 30 (AP).—Britain's big new Stirling bombers, it is permitted now to disclose, have a wingspread of 99 feet, are 87 feet and 3 inches long, and many are powered by American engines.

Some have four 1,400 horse power Bristol-Hercules engines, a British type, but others have four Wright double row 1,350 horse power Cyclones. Their speed, bomb capacity, and guns still are secrets, but British sources said their armament is "very heavy," including gun turrets both front and rear.

Jane's authoritative "All the World's Aircraft" lists the United States' Boeing B-17 four engined bomber's dimensions as 67 feet 10½ inches in length and 103 feet 9 inches in wingspan. Four 1,100 Wright Cyclone nine cylinder radial air cooled engines are its power plant.

INDIES TO FIGHT IF FORCED, SAYS QUEEN OF DUTCH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 30.—Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, broadcasting to the Dutch people over the British radio, tonight said that if a fight were forced on the Netherlands East Indies, "they would, with their allies, accept that fight."

The queen said the Dutch government that will be formed when Holland regains its freedom "will have to review instantly the constitution." Besides changes affecting the Netherlands themselves, Wilhelmina said, "the future relationship of various parts of the kingdom will have to be adjusted."

JAPS WAR WEARY, BUT CAN'T LET GO, SAY OBSERVERS

China Tieup and Crisis at Home Bar New Moves.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 30.—Japan is not preparing to launch a new program of conquest in the far east as an outcome of her seizure of naval and air bases in French Indo-China, but is merely taking territory while the taking is good.

This is the studied opinion of informed observers in the national capital, who are confident that Japan can expect nothing but trouble if she should choose to follow any of the three paths of conquest before her—to the south into the Philippines, Malayasia, and Australia; to the north against Russia and to the west in deeper penetration of China.

Informed observers, in reaching these conclusions, base them on the following statements which they describe as a true picture of the present situation, both military and civil, in Japan:

Japan has a dragon by the tail in the Chinese war and can't let go. If she were to withdraw a million men from China and bring them back home to unemployment, serious internal disorder might result to say nothing of the loss of face Japan would suffer by quitting the campaign.

Not Eager for Another War.

The Japanese are the third most war weary people in the world, being behind only Spain and Italy. The Japs are not eager to take on another war. Neither the people nor the high command is ready for new military movements.

Japan has 57 divisions, ranging between 16,000 and 22,000 men each, under arms and has recently called between 250,000 and 500,000 men to the colors to bring these divisions up to full strength and to create new divisions. Altho Japan has considerable manpower, her military saturation point, because of supplies and materials, is estimated at 66 divisions.

At present 37 divisions are on duty in China, 9 or 10 are in Manchuria along the Russian front, 2 are in Corea, 1 is in Sakahlin, 4 or 5 are in metropolitan Japan, and 3 or 4 in Formosa. One of the latter is likely to be moved into Indo-China.

Equipment Is Inferior.

The soldiers are well trained, but not as intelligent as the average European soldier. Equipment is inferior and tactics have been blighted by the dead hand of China. The tactics employed against Japan would be of no value in warfare with a first class power.

Japan has 3,600 planes, equally divided between the army and navy. These are inferior to the latest type of planes in Europe and the United States because Japan does not develop its own craft but secures licenses to use motors and designs of other powers. Japan does not have the latest developments.

The Navy Is Good.

The Japanese navy is a good, well rounded navy from battleships to auxiliary craft. There is some question of the design of some of the vessels. They are considered somewhat top heavy, but the navy is still a good navy.

In any attempt at conquest in the south Japan is faced with grave difficulties. In the first place the possible theater of war is a vast one, larger than the Mediterranean. Japan could not hope for success by using the army or navy alone, but would be forced to conduct balanced operations and should initiate these with no fewer than 20 divisions.

The air footholds, even those acquired in Indo-China, are remote. In moving against the Dutch East Indies, Japan can expect that Britain will declare war against her. With Singapore, a mighty fortress, at her back and the possibility of a stronger sea power gathering in her rear, such a move would be fraught with dire consequences.

Altho the Dutch land, sea, and air forces in the area are small, they could be expected to give a good account of themselves. The Dutch have 80,000 men under arms, some 200 planes, and 1 light cruiser, a dozen or so destroyers, and about 16 submarines. The channels are particularly adapted for defense submarine operations.

Japan could take the Dutch East Indies, if no assistance were given the Dutch, but the expedition would need many men, ships, and planes.

Can Take Philippines.

In a like manner Japan could probably take the Philippines, if the United States did not move to their defense.

In the north the situation is no brighter. There are now two Red armies operating in Outer Manchuria and Mongolia. These total 26 infantry divisions, 10 cavalry divisions, and four mechanized divisions. Within the last few weeks the Russians are believed to have withdrawn 10 to 12 divisions from this area.

Japan cannot hope to defeat these armies with the 9 or 10 divisions she has opposing these forces. She might hold one army with four divisions and make an attack against the other army, but then she would face counter attack by the holding army, which might prove disastrous.

In the third and last path of conquest, Japan cannot be expected to launch a new offensive to dig deeper into China when the present campaign, which has been going on almost five years, has borne so little fruit.

There is no danger of Jap blitzkriegs in Asia. Japan's best policy is that of watchful waiting. A shift in the European situation might make action in any of the three possible directions more profitable, but as the picture stands, Japan's best course is to sit tight and nibble off what she can when the opportunity offers.

Mrs. Steve Seno of Mendota, Ill., held at Winona, Minn., with son after they seized woman's daughter, Vincentia, and were captured by police in wild auto chase.

Vincentia Seno, the girl seized by mother and brother in effort to force her to return home.

Winona, Minn., July 30 (AP).—Mrs. Steve Seno, 52, and her son, Frank, 20, both of Mendota, Ill., were released late today on $1,000 bond each, after they had pleaded innocent to kidnapping charges brought by the woman's daughter, Vincentia, 22. The daughter claimed the family wanted her to work in a restaurant without pay.

In the complaint, Vincentia charged she was forced into an automobile and spirited out of town against her will.

After her release, Sheriff Ben Zimmerman said Mrs. Seno told him she and her son would return to Mendota.

Vincentia, an employé of a bakery here, asked for police protection last night, saying her father and another brother were in town. Police gave her protection.

MOVE TO CURTAIL PASSENGER TRAIN RUNS REVEALED

Steel Shortage and Army Needs Are Blamed.

New York, July 30 [Special].—A nation-wide reduction in passenger train service is being considered, it was learned today, because of a shortage of steel needed for the construction of railway passenger cars and because of an increase in troop movements by rail.

John J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, has written members of the association asking them to consider the following possibilities:

1. Discontinuance of unnecessary train services.
2. Elimination of duplicate services.
3. Elimination of lightly patronized services.
4. Application to state commissions for permission to drop services found unnecessary.

Load on Roads Revealed.

Pelley wrote his letter after receiving a report from Ralph Budd, transportation commissioner of the Advisory Commission to the Council on National Defense. Budd estimated that the 1942 movement of troops will increase 40 to 100 per cent over this year.

Railroad passenger travel already is so heavy that many roads no longer run excursions.

Roads Favor Plan.

The roads are understood to welcome the suggestion that unnecessary services be abandoned, a move often blocked by state commissions as a sop to local sentiment. Elimination of duplicate services may provide arguments, however, since there is considerable rivalry between roads where crack trains are concerned.

HUSBAND MAKES NEW PROTEST ON ABORTION QUIZ

Beve Smith complained yesterday for the second time about the progress of the investigation into the death of his wife, Rose, the mother of five small children. Mrs. Smith, who was 23 years old, is alleged to have died following an abortion.

Because the July grand jury completes its work today, Smith visited the state's attorney's office yesterday to volunteer his aid, but he was advised to return today. It is reported that the grand jury will take some action in the case today, altho Samuel Papanek, the assistant state's attorney who investigated the case, is on a vacation.

Mrs. Magdalene Motzny Stegeman, midwife and the wife of Police Lieutenant William Stegeman, was arrested after Mrs. Smith's death, but charges against the midwife were dropped by the state's attorney's office. Mrs. Smith, who lived at 1956 Sheffield avenue, died May 5.

Girl Loses Betrayal Suit Against Disciple of Cult

Los Angeles, Cal., July 30 [Special].—Irma Weber lost her million dollar betrayal suit tonight when a jury of seven men and five women absolved the Mazdaznan religious cult of the charges that she was seduced eight years ago when she was 11. Miss Weber named as defendants the reorganized Mazdaznan Temple association of Associates of God and one of its principal disciples, Henry Sorge, 33.

Taxpayer Is Forgotten Man, Says Fish in Revenue Debate

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 30.—The 5 per cent of Americans who pay the bulk of the income taxes are like cows whom the government has been milking twice a day and now proposes to milk four times a day, Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] declared today. He made the assertion as the house began debate on the new 12,700 million dollar tax bill, largest in American history, which includes 3,529 millions in new revenue for rearmament.

Fish asserted that the taxes on these citizens, who are in the $3,000 to $30,000 a year income brackets, have been doubled in the last year and now are to be tripled and quadrupled. He warned that unless the government changes its fiscal policies it will find that the cows which supply most of the "milk" have run dry.

Foresees Day of Reckoning.

"These are the selectees of government spending—the truly forgotten men and women," he asserted. "They are expected to foot most of the bills for the present administration. But every one knows or should recognize that they cannot keep on indefinitely at the present rate."

Fish, who represents President Roosevelt's home district in the house, spoke in opposition to the rigid gag rule under which the administration is forcing consideration of the unprecedented tax bill. The rule, adopted on a roll call vote, 203 to 168, after an hour of lively debate, limits discussion of the bill to three days and virtually outlaws the offering of amendments on the floor by any except members of the ways and means committee, which drafted the revenue legislation.

Vote Closer Than Expected.

Administration floor leaders admitted privately that the vote on the rule was much closer than they had expected. Yesterday they hurriedly postponed consideration of the bill after a coalition of Republicans and insurgent Democrats administered a thumping defeat to amendments to the selective service act designed to confer on the President the power to break strikes in rearmament plants.

Members of the rules committee thereupon decided to relax the tax bill rule to permit general amendments to the section requiring all married couples to file joint returns. Strong opposition to this section has been manifest since it was adopted by the ways and means committee weeks ago.

Under the rule as now adopted, the house must vote either for or against the entire tax bill, except that a separate vote will be permitted on the joint return section. The only way the bill can be changed will be thru adoption of a motion to recommit with specific instructions for amendments.

Expect Passage Monday.

Passage of the measure is expected by Monday, with general debate to be completed this week. The committee amendments which will be brought up Monday are expected to be of a technical nature to smooth out snarls in the bill's language.

The 3,529 millions in new revenue in the bill would be raised as follows: increased income taxes, 1,152 millions; new and increased excise taxes, 902 millions; increased gift and estate taxes, 152 millions, and increased corporation taxes, 1,322 millions.

Policeman Finds Injured Girl Clerk; Gives First Aid

Policeman Daniel E. Donohue of Englewood station last night was credited with saving the life of Miss Bee Hillerary, 20 year old, an employe in the drug store at 6859 South Halsted street. Donohue entered the store to make a purchase, and found Miss Hillerary behind the soda fountain counter, bleeding from a shoulder cut suffered when she fell against a glass shelf. Donohue applied first aid until a physician arrived.

COLLAPSES AND DIES IN STREET.

An unidentified man about 55 years old collapsed and died of a heart attack yesterday while walking in front of 1220 South Kedzie avenue. The body was taken to the county morgue.

THE BISHOP'S TEXTS.

Bishop Henry Hobson of the Protestant Episcopal church came to Chicago to arouse blood lust in this vicinity. The bishop left his Bible in Cincinnati. When he spoke in Orchestra hall he had two texts. One of them, amending the Old Testament, was "Thou shalt kill." The other, amending the New Testament, was "Damned be the peacemakers."

Bishop Hobson's bloody preachments must be causing a good deal of embarrassment in his church. It is any one's privilege, of course, to advocate war, but the bishop of a Christian church can do so only by denying a central teaching of his Master. That is what Bishop Hobson has been doing, apparently without any awareness that he has become a living and conspicuous example of unbelief. In view of these circumstances, Bishop Hobson might reasonably be expected to recognize that he has become a detriment to his faith and to have resigned. If he were a sensitive man he would have seen the necessity of choosing between Christianity and blood lust.

It would be unfair to the bishop to suggest that he has not resigned because of a desire to retain his source of income. He can have had no worries on that account. He knows there is plenty of money in the lend-lease funds to support him in great comfort for the rest of his life.

ROOSEVELT TAX NO. 14.

The tax bill—the 14th Roosevelt revenue measure—which is being rushed thru congress is a record breaker. It provides for revenue of 3½ billion dollars. Never before has any government undertaken to raise so much money by a single financial measure.

The 3½ billions provided by this bill will be piled on top of collections authorized by existing laws, making a total of 13 billion dollars. That is more money than any government ever collected in a year from its people. During the World war the government never asked the people to pay more than 5½ billion dollars in any year.

Great as these figures are, they are dwarfed when compared with the expenditures which have been authorized. The OPM has announced that down to July 26 total appropriations and contract authorizations for defense purposes total 50 billion 785 million dollars.

And 50 billion is not the end. Leading figures in the national administration are crying out for us to begin the shooting war on Germany as soon as possible. When the measure to hold the draftees in service after the end of one year was pending administration leaders fought hard against the provision prohibiting the use of the citizen army in another American expeditionary force. What would another AEF cost? Gen. Marshall has testified before congress that he could not duplicate the German military machine for less than 100 billions.

Representative Doughton, chairman of the ways and means committee, has obtained a special rule restricting debate on the new tax bill. He wants the bill passed in the shortest possible time, so that his committee can begin its work on the 1942 tax bill. With the 1941 bill just out of committee, Mr. Doughton says that still further boosts in next year's tax bill are certain. It is suggested that the 15th Roosevelt tax law will provide for a federal sales tax, applying to necessities as well as luxuries, and still higher income tax rates with people with lower incomes paying more, and drastic reduction of the exemptions.

On July 1 the government debt was just under 49 billion dollars. The deficit this year is now estimated at 11 billions, but this figure is certain to be greatly exceeded, despite the new taxes soon to be voted.

How far can the government go into debt without bringing about a collapse of its credit? Our national administration means to find the answer to that question.

LETTERS FROM HOME.

From time to time Miss Provines quotes from the letters written by youngsters at camp to their parents on vacation at home. It is very difficult for the parent who has received such a letter to refrain from showing it around. Parents have been known to take a perverse pride in offspring who, when writing the word "any," spell it "ne."

As usual, the parents get the breaks. The young are exposed to ridicule for their literary lapses while their elders, who also write letters, are acquitted without even an examination of the evidence.

It is popularly believed that children are little savages, but their savagery does not descend to the publication of personal letters, without the consent of the sender, in journals of the widest circulation. Has any child ever sent Miss Provines a particularly juiceless selection from a parental letter? Heaven be praised, no.

Do children at camp seek to divert their fellows with prosy passages from Dad's pen? Again, no. Is there any reason to believe that any child at any camp this summer has found a letter from home either [a] witty, or [b] filled with information of interest, or [c] charmingly expressed? What, for example, is to be said for a parent who, feeling bound a week ago last Saturday to fill out the second page, had no more imagination than to write two paragraphs to a 10 year old boy about the progress of the campaign in Russia? Or for a parent who last Saturday returned to the subject and next Saturday almost certainly will bring the campaign up to date?

What the children of this country need is a lot of parents named Milne and Stevenson.

BUSINESS NEWS.

Readers of the financial pages these days can hardly have failed to notice that the news of business in this country has become the news of what the government has done and plans to do to business. That is obvious. It is perhaps not quite so obvious that the business news falls into a few rather clearly defined patterns. Certain policies are being pursued over the whole range of the national economy on the pretense that they are promoting the armament program.

The pretense is a false one, as almost any day's news will demonstrate. Take last Saturday's financial page for example. Column 1 contained a story about the $425,000,000 loan by the Reconstruction Finance corporation to Britain. The loan was accepted with thanks by the house of commons. It was intended to spare the British the necessity of paying cash for the supplies they had bought in this country before the lease-lend bill was enacted. To get the cash they would have had to sell some of their American properties. In column 2 there was an announcement from the Office of Production Management that American armament appropriations now total 47 billions and that British orders in this country totaled 3⅝ billions. In view of the enormous burden which the American taxpayer is being asked to carry, and in view of the further fact that Britain is to be a principal beneficiary of the sacrifice, some sacrifice on the part of the British might seem justified. That isn't the way our administration feels about it.

Any amount of disturbance to our business is sanctioned in Washington, but there is a tenderness toward British interests. At the bottom of column two is a story which says that we are giving dairy products to Britain under the lease-lend act, but the British dominions are selling dairy products to the United States for cash. The same story appears in column 6 with relation to the automobile industry. In this country the manufacture and sale of automobiles is being discouraged as an interference with the armament business. In pursuit of this idea a decision was taken to do away with the annual automobile shows. At a meeting of the Automotive Trade association in Chicago it was disclosed that there will be an automobile show at the Canadian National exposition at Toronto a few weeks hence and that Mr. Roosevelt has consented to the sending of the United States navy band as an added attraction.

No such courtesies are extended to American business. We read in column 5 that the federal power commission has instructed the Chicago District Electric Generating corporation to reduce its charges to the Commonwealth Edison company by half a million dollars a year. What the merits of this order may be we do not know, but if the government desires to increase electrical output this seems to be a poor time to reduce the rates.

By way of contrast, column 8 reports the plans of the secretary of agriculture with respect to wheat. This country has an immense accumulation of wheat, but Secretary Wickard proposes to continue the bounties to wheat growers at the present rate. We are supposed to need more power; so the price of power is slashed. We have more wheat than we know what to do with; so the price of wheat is kept high, to encourage production.

This paradox is easily resolved. The administration knows that its war is unpopular and particularly unpopular with farmers. Accordingly it is using its control of agricultural prices to persuade the farmers that war is not without its compensations.

The economic policies being pursued in Washington are an accurate reflection of the minds of the men now in control. They yearn for British approval. That is why they want to risk American lives and wealth to save not Britain alone but the British empire. What happens to Americans as taxpayers and to American industry and agriculture are secondary considerations.

FRUITS OF CENSORSHIP.

Censorship is doing its customary mischief in causing all kinds of rumors to be circulated and to be believed by many people in the absence of authentic information in their newspapers.

In recent days a number of these rumors have been rather widely circulated; rumors that Icelanders resent the presence of American marines on their island so bitterly that they refuse to speak to them; rumors that the British lost four-fifths of their expeditionary force, either killed or captured, in the withdrawal from Greece; rumors of consequent great dissatisfaction in Australia.

Our judgment, based on numerous similar incidents in which the truth eventually was made available, is that in none of these instances are the facts as bad as they are being represented by word of mouth. Consequently it would be much better to tell the truth than to have it concealed, guessed at and distorted by rumor. Any one but a stupid censor would realize this, but stupidity seems to be a prerequisite for a censor's post.

A LOVE LETTER OF 2,000 YEARS AGO.

[From the Philippine Magazine.]

This "love letter from beyond the Jade pass" was one of those documents carried by a caravan which was lost in the quicksands in Sinkiang more than 2,000 years ago. Perhaps it was intended for one of those young men in Peking who had been sent by a Han emperor across the northern frontier in search of fine horses for his army. It is too bad that he never received this letter, which was only recently unearthed.

"The Tartar girl addresses you.

"My lord, I was 14 when you left me. Now I am 10 and 8. For four long years, longings which sickened my heart have fully swollen my breast.

"'Tis the eleventh month again. The swallows have long left. The last multicolored leaves of autumn are showering over my head and shoulders in the same way that they did when last we parted at the gate of the pass.

"Since we parted last, I have gone farther westward. Each li that I took seemed to carry me a thousand lis away from you. Whenever I think of the days when we used to comb the grass of the thick treed mountain slopes with our horses' legs; whenever I recollect the fun we had during our archery contests; whenever I remember the songs you hummed for me near my tent, and the way you touched my hair with your hands, my heart seems to break and my thoughts swirl like the crazy waters in a river eddy.

"Ah, the winds are getting colder on the top of this hill. Soon my world will be nothing but snow. My lord, I have heard them say that this year the winter will be very cold here. However, fear not to cross the Great Wall and come. I have long kept for you my warmest blanket."

MR. PEPYS SEES A PLAY.

30th July—Went to see "Charley's Aunt" at the Studebaker on a night of great heat because in such unpleasant weather it is better to do something than to sit around moping; and thought, this is a fine playhouse and should be used oftener, for it has a lobby where people may parade without crowding, and if there has been no art on the stage they may find it in the picture dealers' showcases there.

This play is so old it has become a byword, yet the present generation never saw it, except in the movies, and they see so many of such lantern shows that they are never able to remember one from the other. One of the innocent children of the present, who think they know everything but are in error, asked me why "Charley's Aunt" was supposed to be funny, and I answered, "Because it is founded upon the first law of comic mummery, which is female impersonation."

This play belongs at the head of famous plays about college life, because it has been acted more than any other; yet I am sure Oxford university has always regarded it as a travesty upon its austere traditions. After it came "Old Heidelberg," now called "The Student Prince," in which the scholars would rather lift steins than open books; and George Ade's "The College Widow," possibly about Purdue when it was young and raw; and "Brown of Harvard," which aroused great scorn among the alumni of that seat of learning. No play has yet been written about the University of Chicago, and perhaps it is just as well.

After the play I went home, rejoicing at signs of a break in the weather, and consulted my library about the ancient history of "Charley's Aunt," and found almost nothing. In "A Dictionary of the Drama," however, I found an entry about "Charlie's Uncle," which seems to be something else. It said, see "Noble Art." But only one volume of that dictionary, A to G, was ever published, and so I shall never know the connection between "Charlie's Uncle" and "Noble Art."

YANKEE DOODLE CANDID.

O, hail the south, the dear old south,
With all its stagnant, stately grace;
Its corn pone crumbles in my mouth,
Its 'lasses dribbles down my face.
For Col. This and Maj. That
I give a "humpf," a "br-r-rp," a "haw,"
Their charm and pride just leave me flat,
For I'm a Yankee in the raw,
A Yankee in the raw.

O, every lisping southern belle
Is Scarlett artfully disguised.
The way the oleanders smell
They'd ought to be deodorized.
For Mammy That and Uncle This
I wouldn't trade my last year's straw;
Their "Suh's" and "You-all's" make me hiss,
For I'm a Yankee in the raw,
A Yankee! Raw, raw, raw!

A Fable of Defense Work.

Egbert Witherspoon was an anemic little guy with no bulging biceps whatever. This made things difficult because Suitcase Sampson did not believe in people without biceps.

He took to shoving Egbert off the walk whenever they met. Egbert thought this rather strange. But he didn't say anything.

This went on for some time—the shoving and the not saying anything.

One day Egbert saw a muscle man muscling muscle equipment in a muscle magazine. It said Egbert could be like him at small cost. That would be nice, he thought.

They sent him a bar-bell, which he lifted and set down. You were allowed to set it down, according to instructions.

Finally he set it down on one of his feet. His foot was affected by this. The doctor suggested that he use crutches for walking purposes. That seemed like a good idea.

Out walking one day in this manner, Egbert met Suitcase Sampson. Suitcase did not shove him off the walk.

Moral: If Egbert had never taken the exercises, Suitcase Sampson never would have reformed.

THE MAGNIFICENT MANDRILL.

(A Brookfield Ballad.)

The mandrill, when he sits at rest,
Leaves his public unimpressed;
He's just a baboon, after all,
With little power to enthrall.
But when he rises they can see
His vivid personality,
And stand spellbound before his cage
To mark the wonder of the age.
So if you wish such fame to share
You'll have to leave your easy chair,
For fortune evermore ignores
The folks who rest upon their oars.

"Now If Ever Come Perfect (100) Days."

When the weather makes a perfect grade [100], here's how to keep cool:

Go out in your back yard, if you have one; otherwise go to the front yard, and if you have neither front nor back yard, go to your neighbor's front or back yard and dig yourself a hole under a bush. Then lie in the hole and puff, and snarl, and snort until the ground beneath you gets warm; then dig the hole deeper and lie in it, and rip, and rave, and rant until the ground gets warm again; then get up and dig the hole still deeper and lie in it, and puff, and fume, and fuss. By this time you will be in such a lather that anything will seem cool.

This tip is intended for dogs only, of course.

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Cutter will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

[Copyright: 1941: By The Chicago Tribune.]

GENTLE HANDLING FOR OLDER PATIENTS.

WE have all heard it said that, "The cure is worse than the disease." This expression may well be applied to the tedious tests so often thought to be essential in arriving at a diagnosis.

In our enthusiasm to do a good job and to supply an immediate answer we may well question the safety of prolonged and fatiguing examinations—especially with our elderly patients. Unless the indications are clear we should hesitate before insisting upon a three or four day study of the digestive tract. If this program is deemed necessary the patient may be advised to rest beforehand, and arrange for a subsequent period of several days with but little to do.

While the procedure is being carried out, as much coöperation as possible from nurses and X-ray technicians should be planned. Nevertheless it is an exhausting, wearisome process—ofttimes attended with considerable nervousness.

A check on the stomach contents may also be exceedingly arduous. The individual may not be able to swallow the tube easily and the resulting gagging may prove harmful to certain blood vessels.

Let us assume that the blood pressure is higher than normal. As we know, the tension within the arteries will drop substantially, with rest in bed. But even this should not be prolonged because, if the circulation is slowed too much, there is a slight tendency to increased clotting. Now and then a plug will form when we least anticipate such an accident.

If one of these oldsters is put to bed, let him be reasonably active with intervals of sitting up, moving about, and enough to do, so that time will not hang heavy on his hands. If circumstances permit, allowing bathroom privileges will be helpful. Fussing all day long with urinals and that barbarous contrivance—the bedpan—may prove aggravating.

But what about sleeplessness, nervousness, and sedatives? We have recourse to such a variety of quieting preparations that little danger need be experienced in changing from one to another. But the sufferer should use the medicine only when it is really needed. We must remember that these compounds place a substantial load upon the excreting power of the kidneys. Now and then such a drug will pile up within the body, producing a severe effect.

Probably one of our most common complaints is constipation. Food is poorly masticated because chewing may be difficult. Fewer teeth remain or perhaps artificial dentures have been substituted for nature's grinders. But many can be taught to drink water before breakfast—two or three glasses with a little lemon juice. Soups are excellent and well macerated vegetables will help materially. When a mild cathartic is called for, compound licorice powder or tea made with senna may be employed.

We frequently overlook the fact that many of these persons are anemic. Some are lacking in iron, which we can readily supply. The stomach glands may have forgotten how to manufacture hydrochloric acid, and a few will require liver. Feedings of this substance may be indulged in once or twice a week. Then, too, we can watch for bleeding points from the gums or because of hemorrholds.

Occasionally surgery will be compulsory. But there is no contraindication to an attack upon a diseased thyroid or whatever part may be involved. Careful nursing and skill, however, will be demanded for victory. It is always well to prepare the patient thoroly with adequate rest before an operation is undertaken.

We can manage the illnesses of our oldsters with special care. Expert and gentle handling will insure comfort. We may look upon them as bits of rare china.

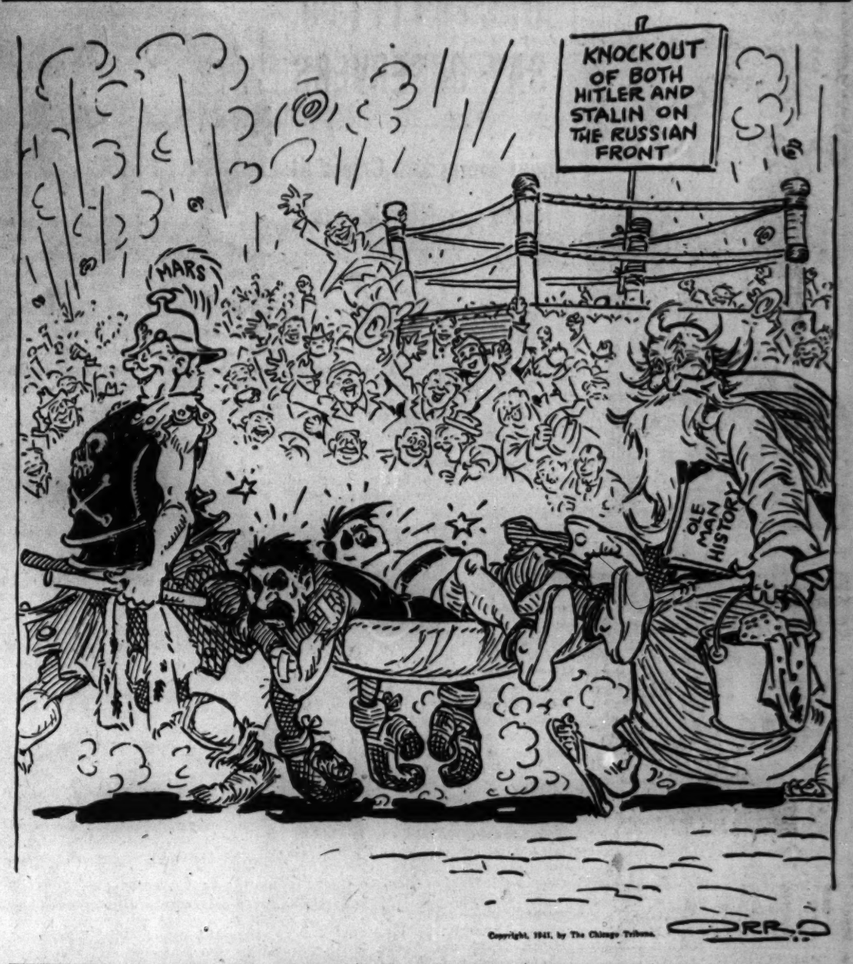
THE PERFECT ENDING



VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

3 WISE MEN FROM THE EAST.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 27.—I would like to call your attention to the following:

Europa Irredenta, the Great Triumvirate.

Senator Wagner—born in Germany—gets legislation passed.

Felix Frankfurter—born in Austria—by judicial action adds anything omitted by Wagner.

Sidney Hillman—Born in Russia—by administrative feat adds anything omitted by Wagner and Frankfurter.

These three wise men of the east in reality have not seen America during their residence in the United States of America and are imitating the mistakes made by stupid and criminal gangsters who have already failed abroad.

When will we return to Simon pure Americanism? All men are born free and equal before the law.

ADAM PRAGMATOR.

LORD HALIFAX'S CAMPAIGN.

Iowa City, Ia., July 27.—As to Lord Halifax and his propaganda—Can any one be so naive as to believe that an American ambassador to Britain would be allowed to tour that country in support of aid to America or that any British publication would allow him the use of its editorial pages? If such a fantastic possibility should occur, the British people would be too patriotic to attend his meetings or read his appeals.

Let us then be such patriotic Americans that if Lord Halifax or any successor should presume so far to violate diplomatic ethics as to try this again, he will find himself addressing empty seats, while a crowd of real Americans stands outside the hall and sings "The Star Spangled Banner!" H. S. A.

THE POLL INVALUABLE.

Harvey, Ill., July 27.—The recent poll conducted by THE TRIBUNE was of invaluable service to the country, endeavoring as it was to bring some facts to bear in this prowar hysteria.

The poll, without doubt, brought forcefully to the mind of those who would take us into war, that the vast majority of people still want to stay out. Keep up the good work!

THOMAS S. HAMMOND.
Chairman America First Committee, Chicago chapter.

A LAND OF OPPORTUNITY.

Chicago, July 29.—They say America is the land of opportunity. I beg to differ. I say this distinction belongs to Germany. It must be so when an ordinary paperhanger, suffering from neurosis, with no intellectual or other attainments to especially recommend him, can in a few short years gain control over a nation which is one of the most cultured and highly industrialized in the world, and have over 80 million subjects do his frenzied bidding.

EDWARD T. KAVANAGH.

JUST A COINCIDENCE?

Elmhurst, Ill., July 28.—Are we having the wool pulled over our eyes so that we go to war in a blind rage? Yesterday we have reports of the "Japs" entering Indo-China, and today in a national magazine appear awful pictures of Japanese carnage in China—dead bodies strewn about by the hundreds. Any decent person abhors such action and naturally his first thought is to retaliate.

Therefore put 2 and 2 together—we rush over as the Japs enter Indo-China on a "humanitarian principle" [to stop the murderers], but really we are fighting other people's wars—that's how we are being led on blindly.

All the tin and rubber of the whole East Indies will not pay for a million American lives lost trying to save the Indies for the Dutch or Singapore for the English.

Are the "occupation" report and the picture just a coincidence or is some one propagandizing us?

FOR PEACE, NOT DEATH.

SHE IS AN AMERICAN.

Chicago, July 29.—In view of the tense relations between the United States and Japan, I appeal to every liberal American citizen to consider the hostile tendency toward the Japanese race.

There are thousands of loyal American-born Japanese citizens who hate war as much as you and I, but who would not hesitate to rise in the defense of the United States even against the homeland of their parents, if the occasion demands.

The American public is inclined to be easily swayed by disparaging remarks directed against the Japanese in the headlines that follow in the wake of blaring propaganda and sensationalism.

Remember, however, that not all the Japanese are born in Japan any more than are all the Englishmen born in England.

We American-born Japanese shall not fail the United States in her hour of greatest need and in the face of a series of world shaking crises.

I am an American! Are you?

JULIA K. YAMAZAKI.

FINDS THE TRUTH NOT IN US.

South Bend, Ind., July 28.—Your paper makes me think of the rhyme about the fisherman. He come'th home at ev'en tide smelling of strong drink and the truth is not in him. The only difference is your paper comes in the morning, which is worse.

W. G. G.

AIN'T SEEN NOTHING YET.

Whiting, Ind., July 28.—Mr. J. M. B. from Skokie, Ill., is crying about a one cent a gallon rise in the price of gasoline by the major oil companies. The Standard Oil company here in Whiting gives its employés as high as a 3 week vacation with pay; pays decent wages, and works them only 36 hours a week.

I wonder if J. M. B. in recent weeks is paying more for cigarets, meat, and other items.

Fortunate indeed is J. M. B. that he is not in Europe, paying about $1.25 in taxes on 7 gallons of gas or learning how to ride a bike. One look into my crystal ball tells me J. M. B. ain't seen nothing yet.

JAMES L. MCLAUGHLIN.

FREEDOM LOST IN MEMPHIS.

Memphis, Tenn., July 28.—A man was arrested here Saturday for expressing doubts about our present Japanese policies; held an hour by the police then released. This outrage is a fair sample of the average native's idea of loyalty.

To their way of thinking loyalty to the government consists of ganging up on some helpless individual and giving him the third degree, especially if he is a stranger, because he expressed his opinion. They imagine that persecution begets loyalty. These people no longer prate about the blessings of freedom, except for the so-called democracies of Europe. Democracy perished here 25 years ago.

Memphis has more good streets and viaducts than any city of the same size in the country. Senator McKellar is in high favor with Mr. Roosevelt, and thru his influence Memphis has got everything it has asked for in public money. People here have found that money will build more streets, viaducts, hospitals, and schools than freedom. The whole south seems to be obsessed with a war frenzy imperiling the innocent people. You would be justified in warning travelers that free speech has been suspended in the south for the duration of the war.

ACTUM EST DE REPUBLICA.

WHERE THE PEOPLE STAND.

Downers Grove, Ill., July 29.—Permit me to compliment you on your magnificent fight for America.

Regardless of what your critics may say 80% of the people are for and with you.

G. F. REPP.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

MUSIC FESTIVAL SOLO CONTESTS TO BEGIN TONIGHT

North Side Singers to Vie at Edgewater Beach.

Festival Tickets

Tickets for the Chicagoland Music Festival, to be held Saturday night, Aug. 16, in Soldiers' field, are on sale at 50 cents and $1 at THE TRIBUNE'S Public Service offices in Tribune Tower and at 1 South Dearborn street. All seats are reserved. Mail order checks should be made payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

Vocal solo contests of the 12th Chicagoland Music Festival will begin tonight with auditions for 60 north side tenors, contraltos, and baritones in the ballroom of the Edgewater Beach hotel, 5349 Sheridan road.

These contests, which may open the portals of a career in music to some young Chicago woman or man, will be held on all three sides of the city. Tomorrow night at the Edgewater Beach, north side sopranos, mezzos, and basses will sing for first, second, and third place honors.

The County Finals.

Winners of first place in each division will compete in the Cook county finals, to be held Aug. 13 at the Drake hotel. Those who triumph there will face winners in 13 preliminary festivals being held thruout the central west as well as first place holders among singers from outside Cook county and outside the territory of the preliminary festivals.

The preliminary contests for out of towners and the final contest for survivors of all the contests will be held on Festival day at the Drake. The two best women singers and the two best men singers will compete in Soldiers' field before an audience of more than 85,000 that night.

Thus for the first time, the Festival throng will experience a thrill that heretofore has been a behind the scenes preliminary of the great show. The decision, however, will be made by the Festival judges, who will listen for excellence of pitch, diction, quality, and style. Applause will not sway them.

List of Judges.

Judges at tonight's contests for north siders will be Erhardt Bergstrasser, Marie Zendt, and Frank Bennett. Judging tomorrow night will be by Edwin Kemp, Mabel Sharp Herdlen, and William Phillips. Mrs. Edmund J. Tyler, chairman of vocal and choral contests, will be in charge both nights. The starting time is 7 p. m.

Among those who will be heard tonight are Alma Bedrit, 20 years old, 3171 North Clark street, who plans an operatic career; Vera Jeske, 20, of 3851 Southport avenue, who won third place in the north side contest in 1939; Walter L. Hanamann, 6216 Newark avenue, who hopes he makes a name in music before he is drafted; Ella Hetessy, 3511 Wilton avenue, who has been an opera chorus extra, and Mary Thurlow, 1447 North Dearborn street, a former choir member at St. Chrysostom's church.

West Siders' Schedule.

Next Tuesday night contests for west side tenors, contraltos, and baritones will be held at the Graemere hotel, 113 North Homan avenue. Sopranos, mezzos, and basses will compete on Wednesday night.

South side tenors, contraltos, and baritones will be auditioned Thursday night, Aug. 7, at the Shoreland hotel, 5454 South Shore drive.

DEWEY DECLINES TO RUN AGAIN FOR PROSECUTOR JOB

Mum on Plans; May Aim at Governorship.

New York, July 30 (AP).—Manhattan's district attorney, Thomas E. Dewey, whose reputation as a racket-buster carried him almost to the Republican Presidential nomination last year, announced today that he will foresake the career which made him famous.

In a seven word statement he declared: "I shall not run for district attorney." His four year term in that office expires Dec. 31.

Dewey said he hopes his refusal to run will establish a precedent for a single term that will tend to make the job nonpolitical.

May Run for Governor.

Asked whether he intends to return to private practice in January, he said: "I am a lawyer by profession."

There appeared little doubt that Dewey intends to remain in politics, altho he would not say that he had any particular office in mind. He has been mentioned as a possible candidate for governor next year—a post he sought unsuccessfully in 1938 when Gov. Herbert Lehman defeated him by 68,000 votes.

Dewey's campaign against crime extends back 11 years, to the era of prohibition gangs and the widespread terrorism that went with them. As a federal prosecutor, Dewey, then only 30, broke the biggest beer baron of them all, Waxey Gordon, whom he prosecuted successfully for income tax evasion.

Jails Big Time Racketeers.

In 1935, Lehman appointed Dewey to clean up Manhattan's vice and rackets. Within two years Dewey had jailed Charles [Lucky] Luciano, who he described as overlord of a ring controling Manhattan's vice.

In quick succession, Dewey and his aids cracked down on extorters in the restaurant, bakery, and other industries.

LUCAS WILL HEAD GROUP IN CONTROL OF INQUIRY FUNDS

Made Chairman of Senate Audit Committee.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 30.—The chairmanship of the committee to audit and control the senate's contingent expenses, which exercises the power of life and death over senate investigations, went to Senator Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.], by a 1 vote margin today.

The Democratic steering committee divided, 8 to 8, between Lucas and Senator Claude Pepper, known as the Florida flame thrower, when a secret ballot was taken. Senator Prentiss M. Brown of Michigan, a member of the steering committee, broke the tie in favor of Lucas when he was reached by telephone at his home in Michigan.

Two Decline Chairmanship.

Senators Millard E. Tydings [D., Md.] and Carl Hayden [D., Ariz.], both members of the audit and control committee, declined the chairmanship, and the contest between Lucas and Pepper, both nonmembers, ensued. The only other member is Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.].

The audit and control committee, headed by James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, before he was appointed to the Supreme court, is important to the administration from the standpoint of controling or preventing investigations. While Lucas was deemed satisfactory by the administration forces, the 100 per cent yes-men favored Pepper.

Importance Recently Shown.

The importance of the audit and control committee with respect to the administration's war policies is indicated by the fate of a resolution by Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] to investigate war propaganda in the United States. The senate passed the resolution unanimously shortly after the repeal of the arms embargo in 1939, but the Byrnes committee never allotted any money for the investigation, presumably because it was feared that Clark would expose British propaganda.

Senator Walter F. George [D., Ga.] was elected chairman of the finance committee—generally regarded as the senate's No. 1 committee—to succeed the late Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi. Senator George relinquished the chairmanship of the foreign relations committee, which went to Senator Tom Connally of Texas.

BARE CALDWELL FAMILY JAUNTS ON UNION'S DUES

Frequent Trips to Florida Told.

ploited were paying the dues and the fines he levied against them."

Crawford said that the airplane traveler "C. Wills" is believed to be Charles F. Wills, father-in-law of Caldwell. Wills is at present advertising and circulation manager of the Federation News, published by the Chicago Federation of Labor, and a member of the review board of the state unemployment compensation department.

C. C. Coulter, secretary and treasurer of the international association, which gets 45 cents a month dues from the local members, told Crawford that he sent Caldwell here in 1937 to organize the union on the urging of Wills, whom he considered a labor leader of good repute.

When Coulter was informed of internal trouble in the union here about a year ago, he appointed Wills a trustee to handle matters.

It is Crawford's opinion that the plane traveler "P. Tremont" is Pete Tremont, who is a south side policy operator and former owner of a café at 830 East 43d street. Tremont denied last night that he even knew Caldwell.

"I intend to question Wills and Tremont," said Crawford. "The picture of the Caldwell rule is gradually coming out and I want to know what part they play in it.

"It is apparent that Caldwell used the union funds to his own personal advantage and that the travel expenditures were illegal. This is actionable under the criminal code. There probably are other expenditures for train and automobile travel. We will keep on searching."

Crawford recalled that Caldwell recently purchased a $45,000 Miami Beach estate from Frank Nitti, notorious Capone gangster. Crawford has disclosed that Caldwell was broke in 1936. The state's attorney's office is trying to find out how Caldwell saved up enough for an important purchase out of his ostensible salary of $125 a week from the union.

None of the books and only a few dollars of the cash of the union have been found. Michael Savachka, the local secretary, whom Caldwell has alleged has the records, is missing.

All the fiscal information on local 1248 has been pieced together out of the union reports to international headquarters and its accounts in the Amalgamated and First National banks. Crawford is looking into a $1,200 a month item of "miscellaneous expense" and $1,200 a month spent on a union publication called "Over the Counter."

A group of revolting members of the local have filed a suit for an accounting of an alleged $910,000 of funds received by the Caldwell régime. The union is now being reorganized by Attorney Daniel D. Carmell, with the help of American Federation of Labor officials.

Last night the temporary working committee of local 1248 met in the Skyline Athletic club and drew up an application for a new charter which will be handed to Carmell today. An election of officers, according to provision bylaws which will be presented to the membership for approval, is to be held within 30 days after acceptance of the application by the international union.

Here Are Suggestions Which Aid in Preserving Hair Wave

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

There are a few women who are so clever about combing their hair and nursing a wave along that when they go to the hairdresser for another hairdo their hair looks almost as lovely as when they last had it "done." If their hair didn't need to be washed, they could go along for a while longer and still keep it looking nice.

"Hats off," indeed, to them! They ARE clever. But "allee samee" there's no reason why more women cannot master the art of keeping their wave in and their hair well groomed for the same length of time. Here are the tricks that do it.

Each night, before hopping into bed, take a good hair brush [one with stiff bristles] and, separating your hair into sections, brush each section, the way the wave falls, in an upward and outward motion. Then, before going on to the next section, give a little twist of the wrist and brush the end curl so that it snaps back into place. When the all-over brushing is completed, take your fingers and shove the waves into place. Brush the curls over your fingers. Literally brush your hair as meticulously into place as you would were you going someplace, instead of to bed. Next, wind a net neatly around your head, firmly enough so that it will not slip off during the night. In the morning little attention will be needed to comb your hair neatly.

It must be pointed out that combing or brushing your hair "with the wave" is advised. You know, if you've watched your hairdresser, that this always is done.

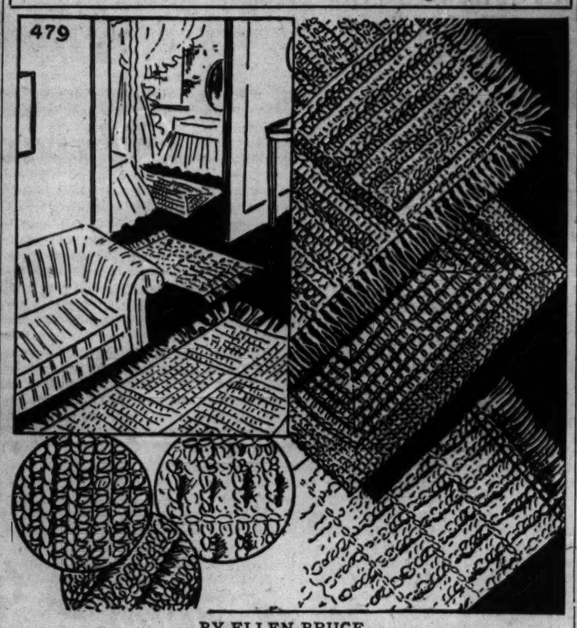
Three Crocheted Rugs



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Creamy white cotton and delicate pastel shades are the newest materials to be suggested for use in crocheting these lovely, heavy-piled rugs. The two and one-half and three pound cones create beautiful rugs for use under coffee tables, in the living room, in front of fireplaces, or in the bedroom as a bedside rug or under dressing table benches. They lend themselves to bathroom accessories. Started now, they will be finished at the conclusion of fall house cleaning.

For instructions in crocheting the three rugs, No. 479, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Sally to Pick Her Guests for Circus Today

BY SALLY JOY BROWN,

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

I know how you boys and girls enjoy seeing lions and tigers, clawing and snarling, and I'm sure you'll be satisfied with the three huge steel arenas full of 'em in the new Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus we're going to attend on Aug. 7.

You'll also see Old King Cole riding on a throne carried by four elephants all dressed up in pink velvet, and even Old Mother Goose herself.

Fifty boys and fifty girls will attend this circus party with me—and today I'm going to read all your letters and decide which of all the youngsters who've written in will be my guests. If you have a letter on my desk, just keep your fingers crossed and maybe you'll see your name listed with the winners in next Sunday's TRIBUNE.

The youngsters who found their names in my column last Sunday will have their treat this afternoon when we attend a special presentation of "Oliver Twist" at the Jack and Jill theater.

Let's all be prompt today, and don't forget to bring your invitations.

See you all this afternoon!

Everybody needs change.

Everybody needs rest.

Everybody needs to be deliberately lazy at times.

And everybody needs play and fun and diversion.

And all that means mothers, particularly those who take all the care of their homes and children.

So I am urging you, if up to this midsummer date, you have not done so, to go away for a while. If possible, go away without the children, no matter how much you love them, for a few days or a week, or even longer, altho that is hard to manage. Never mind if you feel guilty at first. You'll get over that if they're well taken care of [of course you wouldn't leave them otherwise]. You'll find, too, that you'll enjoy them all the more when you get back, and they you.

Next, if you can't go away without the children, try your best to manage a jaunt with them. And when you do, don't carry all your Martha-of-many-cares attitude heavily with you. Instead, get into a carefree, vacation state of mind.

But if that jaunt is impossible, try day trips. Planned well, with the children's ages in mind as far as the traveling is concerned, with preparations made the day before, an early start and a well timed return, you and the children can have a number of miniature vacations.

Here are some suggestions:

Dress the children in the briefest and most easily laundered clothes they have.

Reduce your housework to an absolute minimum, but don't go in too heavily for cold foods.

Rearrange your furniture, put up the thinnest and blowiest glass curtains you can find and, if possible, indulge the house in cool, washable bedspreads and slip covers.

Your Stars ★ Today ★

By WYNN

Thursday, July 31.

Discount morning blues, if any, today, and step out for best possible accomplishment along lines of business and personal benefit, particularly during daylight hours. Evening cautions against pessimism; don't try to be too practical.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead from today's celebration means opportunity to reconcile secret antagonists externally and within self—more inner security, harmony. Seek travel, distant interests. Danger: Jan. 16-27 and June 12-27.

Tomorrow.

"I never dreamed Electric Cooking would cost so little," says Mrs. Otto Wasem, 4836 N. Bell Ave.

"Of course, the first few weeks with my electric range were full of pleasant surprises. I found it so much cleaner, so much cooler, and every dish seemed to have a richer, fuller, more natural flavor.

"Compliments from the family were coming left and right for those baked beans, juicy brown roasts and especially for my baking. The pies, biscuits and corn muffins turned out perfect right from the start.

"But my biggest delight came when I saw how little electric cooking cost. Just think, only $2.10 a month for all the joys and extra health benefits of electric range cooking. That's what I call a real bargain."

Electric Range Cooking balances your budget in other ways, too

Low operating cost is economy number one for the modern electric range...but there are other important savings.

Draftless oven reduces shrinkage on roasts. Cheaper cuts of meats can be cooked deliciously tender and tasty in the deep well cooker.

Foods cooked with uniform electric heat retain their own natural goodness and flavor. Precious vitamins and minerals stay in the food.

Put all these savings together and you can see why electric range cooking is so popular with thousands of thrifty Chicago homemakers.

Why Be Fat?

HERE'S THE MOST AMAZING WAY TO LOSE WEIGHT YOU'VE EVER READ ABOUT

No Strict Diet Lists; No Strenuous Exercises; No Distasteful Drugs

IN EVERY section of the country today, women have marveled at the wonders of a safe, easy reducing method—which requires no strict diet lists; no strenuous exercises; no drugs. Increases energy as weight goes down. It's the identical method Dr. Damrau of New York used in tests among a group of intelligent and cooperative people who followed directions implicitly, and was responsible for an average loss in weight of 7 pounds per month.

Unbelievably Easy to Follow

All you do is mix ¾ glass of Welch's Grape Juice with ¼ glass of water and drink before meals and at bedtime. Then eat sensibly—which means you avoid overeating; thus reducing caloric intake considerably. Then this happens: First, this delicious drink satisfies your craving for rich, sweet foods. You have less desire to overeat fattening foods—but you never suffer a hungry moment. Second, the natural dextrose in Welch's is quickly consumed, and by this process not only aids nature in consuming excess fat but also increases your energy.

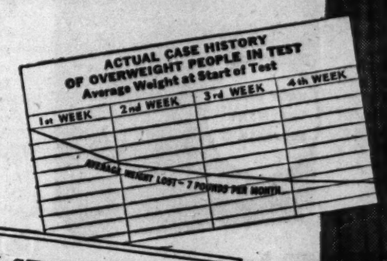
That is why weight is lost naturally; why you not only look better but actually feel better; have more energy. And this proved method is just as beneficial and effective for overweight men, as it is for overweight women.

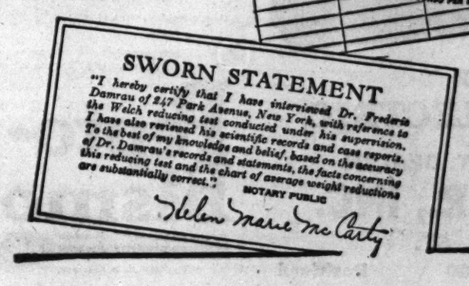
Do This One Important Thing!

Be sure to use only genuine Welch's Grape Juice, selected by Dr. Damrau in his convincing test. Welch's is always full strength. It contains full measure of natural dextrose which is so important. And because Welch's is always full strength, it is delicious when diluted—very economical to use. Start this proved reducing method today and watch your energy go up as your weight goes down.

Sensational Facts About Amazing Welch Way to Reduce

Dr. Frederic Damrau of New York made a revealing test on a group of intelligent and cooperative people who followed his instructions implicitly. By following this simple, pleasant Welch Way to reduce, these people lost an average of 7 pounds per month. Chart at right shows actual weight loss registered. Sworn statement below verifies all claims made for this reducing method.





SWORN STATEMENT
"I hereby certify that I have interviewed Dr. Frederic Damrau of 247 Park Avenue, New York, with reference to the Welch reducing test conducted under his supervision. I have also reviewed his scientific records and case reports. To the best of my knowledge and belief, based on the accuracy of Dr. Damrau's records and statements, the facts concerning this reducing test and the chart of average weight reductions are substantially correct."

All Things to All People, Boast of Lake Placid

BY JUDITH CASS.

A LETTER from Lake Placid in the Adirondacks brings word of the activities in that year around resort. Many Chicagoans have been going to the club for years, but this does not mean that it is filled with old people. According to our correspondent: "This is really a most amazing place with contrasting generations, and the club tactfully caters to both. Some of the customs are strictly traditional: no smoking in the dining room and no liquor, altho, of course, the cottagers and others do manage their cocktails in their rooms. There is a gorgeous chapel right in the club, so consequently the Saturday night dances stop promptly at 12, lest there should be dancing on the Sabbath. The dance music is divine, directly from The Breakers at Palm Beach.

Musicals, Games, Sports for Visitors of All Ages.

Our correspondent adds that there also is a sinfonietta from the Eastman conservatory at Rochester, N. Y., that gives musicals. In addition to the usual sports and games that keep youngsters entertained during the summer the bridge teacher is having classes for children, and she reports that she has a dozen pupils under 13 who play amazingly well.

Mrs. James Herbert Mitchell and her elder daughter, Sally, left Tuesday for the Lake Placid club to join Joan Mitchell, who has been there since school closed. She is an expert skater and spends many hours each day on the pond, which is in use the year around. Dr. Mitchell will go east to join his family in mid-August and return with them around Sept. 1.

The Percy B. Eckharts will pay their annual summer visit to Lake Placid after the season at Ravinia is ended. Mrs. Thomas B. Marston, Mrs. Marquis Eaton, Mrs. Ottilie Reilly, Mrs. Edwin S. Mills, and Mrs. John M. Zane and her sister, Mrs. E. R. Stewart, are among the other Chicagoans now at the club.

Keith-Reed Wedding to Be Really Quiet Event.

Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed and Stanley Keith apparently really mean what they say when they insist that their wedding on Saturday will be absolutely quiet and private, for they do not plan to have even their children as guests. The ceremony will take place in the Church of the Holy Spirit with the Rev. Joseph C. Mason of Lockport, N. Y., officiating. The Rev. Herbert Prince, rector of the church, is away on a vacation. Mr. Keith and his bride will leave for a month's trip to the Canadian Rockies and upon their return will be at home at 1315 North Lake road, Lake Forest, where Mrs. Reed has resided for several years. Her mother, Mrs. John G. Shedd, lives with her.

An engagement announcement of interest here has come from Mr. and Mrs. George C. Willson of St. Louis, who entertained at a tea last Friday to tell their friends their daughter, Zoe Mina, and Charles Anthony Bemis are to be married. Mr. Bemis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Bemis of Kenilworth. The wedding will take place in the early fall.

Miss Willson, a graduate of the John Burroughs school, has completed a four year course in painting at the school of fine arts at Yale university. She was maid of honor at the Veiled Prophet ball last year. Mr. Bemis attended Andover academy and was graduated from the Sheffield Scientific school at Yale in June.

Engagement Announced of Miss Ann Molyneaux.

At a small tea at home in Kenilworth yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Molyneaux announced the engagement of their daughter, Ann, to James Thomas Bransfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Bransfield of Evanston, formerly of Beverly Hills.

Miss Molyneaux attended Fairmont Junior college in Washington, D. C. Mr. Bransfield is a graduate of Culver Military academy and of Northwestern university school of engineering.

Today will be the last time this summer that racing fans will be going to Arlington Park, for this is the closing day. Tomorrow and until Sept. 6 they will be going to Washington, Park, which has been offering, off and on since 1884, the sport of kings for Chicagoans' entertainment. Friday usually is considered a bad day for a track to open, but apparently the men who are responsible for Washington Park are not superstitious. At least it isn't Friday the 13th!

In spite of the intense heat some of the "regulars" at Arlington have Cooling.

The other afternoon when the thermometer stood at 99 a girl we know telephoned a friend. A maid answered the telephone. "No, Mrs. Blank is not in," she said. "This is Frozine." Our friend kept her on the telephone, saying "When will she be in, Frozine?" and "Will you give her a message, Frozine," and "Goodby, Frozine." Made her happy to say the name.

Contributor.

A young man entered the office of the America First committee the other day and said he would like to contribute a dollar. The young woman with whom he spoke thanked him and asked whether he wanted to give his name or make the contribution anonymous.

"Better make it anonymous," he said. "I'm also a contributor to Union Now."

The hotel across the channel from Macatawa Park burned to the ground. . . . The original hotel still stands in Macatawa Park and in my opinion the resort is far from a ghost resort." . . . I have not been at Macatawa for a long time but that beach is treacherous. That year a man and two children were drowned. There are, or were, holes and the man going to the rescue of his children was drowned, too. My own guess is that that was the original outlet for the river but being changed by the piers it never filled right. Amelia Schweitzer." . . . "Aboard the sloop Dormelin. . . . Our course is due south for Macatawa light. This fine harbor on Black lake boasts a new clubhouse and a thriving racing fleet. It has become a favorite stopping place for Lake Michigan yachtsmen. The ghost of Macatawa Park has shed its shroud. Isabel Jackson."

Quiz Kid's Pet.

Quiz Kid Gerard Darrow now has something he has long wanted, an alligator. It was given him in Cleveland last Friday when he was guest of the city. He went there to open the campaign to raise $25,000 for a bigger and better zoo. When he was taken thru the zoo Gerard hung about the alligator cage so long the superintendent asked him jokingly if he wanted one. He did. He's been saving his money for an alligator for two years. He picked one out—a small one—and named it Snappy. At the opening campaign luncheon attended by 400 business men, Gerard showed his new pet to the guests and demonstrated how he could quiet him by rubbing his neck. After Gerard had expressed his delight and thanked the people of Cleveland, he added, "Now we won't have any flies at our house!" His Aunt Bessie, who has had to put up with turtles, crickets, snakes, and rabbits, now will have an alligator to cope with.

Free Ice Helps Needy and Sick to Stand Heat

The most urgent among the many calls for ice received yesterday at the United Charities office came from a family who arrived in Chicago only three months ago and therefore is not eligible for any public relief. Turned out as share croppers in Mississippi, the man and woman with their six children, ranging from 7 months to 14 years, came here where a brother found the father a job coal hiking at $9 a week.

After paying the rent the family has only $17.50 a month for other expenses. Food is precious, but during the hot spell much of it spoiled. The children developed swollen, sore neck glands which are a symptom of extreme malnutrition. However, they came to the Charities office, not for relief, but for help in finding work, a better job for the father and a job for the mother. But in the meantime ice will help them to manage thru the summer.

During the last week more than $300 has been donated to the Ice Fund by TRIBUNE readers. Contributions received thru yesterday not previously acknowledged follow:

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

The Monosyllabic Montanan.

Arch Ward and the other sporting editors will tell you that the team in the lead on July 4 is a pretty good bet to win the pennant, but in the movies the race for the academy award isn't simplified by the calendar to that extent . . . for instance, if the academy award had been determined on July 4, Gary Cooper would have won it hands down with his performance in "Sergeant York." . . . But Cooper has led before on July 4, only to be overhauled by other actors in the drive thru the stretch . . . and Cooper, now 40 years old, trusts that he won't be overhauled in the stretch again because the time is running short for him to win an academy award, and the monosyllabic Montanan would like once to stretch out to 10 words and say: "This is the proudest night of my moving picture career."

Lanky Mister Cooper made his first fruitless bid for the academy award in 1932 in Hemingway's "Farewell to Arms." . . . It was a year of particularly great pictures as you may recall: "Cavalcade," "Lady for a Day," "Morning Glory," Will Rogers' "State Fair," "Maedchen in Uniform," "Rasputin and the Empress," "I Am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang," and then, late in 1933, "The Private Life of Henry VIII." . . . Cooper was leading on July 4, but in September Charles Laughton wrapped up the academy award as Henry the VIII. . . . "Farewell to Arms" won the academy prizes for photography and sound recording, but Cooper and Helen Hayes got nothing but salaries.

Four years passed, and again Cooper bid for the academy award, this time in Frank Capra's "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town." . . . This time he was opposed by such redoubtable contenders as Laughton and Gable in "Mutiny on the Bounty," Powell in "The Great Ziegfeld," Gable and Tracy in "San Francisco," Walter Huston in "Dodsworth," Frederic March in "Anthony Adverse," Ronald Colman in "A Tale of Two Cities," and Paul Muni in "The Life of Louis Pasteur." . . . On July 4 Cooper was in the lead, but on the night of the academy award banquet the "oscar" was given to Muni. . . . To make his loss more aggravating, Capra won the director's award for "Farewell to Arms."

Five years later, Cooper again is sailing along out in front as the leader in the academy award sweepstakes, and he has spreadeagled his field. . . . This time Muni is not a challenger. . . . Spencer Tracy will be seen in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," but this remake does not figure to be of award distinction simply because it is a remake of a picture that won an academy "oscar" for Freddie March. . . . Tracy would have been a serious contender in "The Yearling," but this has been delayed for a year. . . . Laughton, Donat, Boyer, Gable don't figure to be in the championship race this year. . . . Defending Champion Jimmy Stewart is more intent on winning a marksmanship medal than an "oscar." . . . So by every process of deduction and analysis, Gary Cooper can't lose this time unless the jinx is riding herd on him.

It would be a fine thing and a deserved tribute if 40 year old Cooper did win this year. . . . The big fellow has been a credit to the movies, and he has made a lot of fans for the industry. . . . He is a contribution from a rather unusual town, Helena, Montana, unusual because that also produced Myrna Loy. . . . Cooper originally was a cartoonist and he did political cartoons for the Helena Independent. . . . Whether or not his cartoons were as good as those which once stemmed from the pen of John Barrymore, I do not know. . . . Brisbane fired Barrymore, and the Helena Brisbane fired Cooper. . . . So Cooper drifted to Hollywood, and made his first picture appearance as an extra, dressed in Robin Hood costume with long green drawers and a feather in his hat, for which he got $10. . . . The star was Billie Dove.

Cooper's appeal has been pure American. . . . In his tall, slouching frame and in his monosyllabic manner of talking, he has represented what most of us consider the western type of man . . . in distinction to the city slicker type. . . . Cooper is of the cattle ranges, of the mountain bordered skyline, of bunk houses and corrals. . . . That has been his appeal, and the rôle of Sergeant York fits him like a glove, because York, too, was of American soil, deep-rooted stock that was not many generations removed from the pioneers that left their oxen tracks in the Oregon trail. . . . Not since Warner Baxter won the first academy award in "In Old Arizona" has the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences honored such a homespun American characterization.

But we shall see what we shall see. . . . At the moment, Cooper looks like a silver-lined cinch, a standout, but whether or not "Sergeant York" will rate a commission in the form of an academy award remains to be determined.

'Great Gunns' Going Into Summer Stock in W-G-N Radio Play

Four new characters will be introduced in the "Great Gunns" broadcast over W-G-N and the Mutual network at 9:30 o'clock tonight when this theatrical family invades, in fancy, the summer stock regions of upper Michigan. The real objective of going to the upper peninsula is to get a look at Hannah Wilson, the farmer's daughter, whom Buster Gunn plans to marry against the will of his family. To the Gunns it is unthinkable that one of their number should marry anyone but an actress.

In Michigan the Gunns will encounter several bucolic characters: Mrs. Budge, president of the Tuesday Afternoon Ladies Get-Together, Chit-Chat and Play Reading society, to be played by Eva Parnell; Miss Sarah Brump, a village spinster, played by Ruth Perrott; Tommy Benson, a country boy, played by Willard Farnum, and Mr. Harper, proprietor of a hotel in Avoirdupois, Mich. Ruth Perrott is a playwright as well as an actress.

William A. Bacher is the producer.

How does the idea of a fine, efficient deodorizing bath powder strike you right now?

It seems wonderful to us. Some came to our desk right in the middle of the heat wave—and few things were as welcome. All the workers for desks around clamored for it, and when they dipped in to it, announced it as the brightest idea of the week.

The perspiration problem has been pretty stiff lately. Of course, we don't feel that anything will take the place of the special deodorants or anti-perspirants, but to supplement such things we heartily recommend this dusting powder—not only for women but for men.

It serves two purposes. A dusting of filmy, cool powder makes the skin feel immeasurably smoother and fresher. Your clothes aren't so sticky—and this applies particularly to the girdle and the hose. But its most important purpose is to keep the always unpleasant odor of perspiration under control. This it does well.

The powder isn't a bit expensive; it's packed as most body powders are, in a round, generous container, topped by a huge puff. It's grand stuff to keep around the office as a preventive of limpness and offensiveness. And, with the added feature of deodorizing tricks, it seems to us the ideal after bath dusting powder for hot weather use.

Style Expert Kinda Lets Out About Slacks

BY REA SEEGER.

What this country needs is an inventor fired with the required zeal to make a mirror that will show these slack-happy women just how they look . . . especially from the rear. Nothing has caused so many dissenting comments, so much distress, especially among our masculine critics, as the wrong women in slacks and slack-ed women going round the wrong places. There IS definitely a place and a time for slacks, IN THE COUNTRY, ON THE SEASHORE, AT CAMPS, and slacks worn for the most casual life . . . but slacks should not be tolerated within the city limits anywhere!

From an economic standpoint alone these slack-ers are doing their possibly unwitting best to impair the efforts of one of the nation's largest and most necessary industries—the apparel manufacture. From the esthetic viewpoint they rate a subnormal zero . . . no man to date has been found who admits they really do anything for the figure lines. They are shapeless, dull, uninteresting.

It's a most disconcerting sight to see so many slacks, for unless you meet this troop head-on there is no apparent distinction in the sexes.

This deliberate inching along the limb of a tree on our part is the result of complete satiation after a season of slacks seen everywhere. Women in slacks sightseeing, women in slacks casually walking into smart restaurants, women in slacks shopping in smart shops and stores, and women in slacks wandering all over the country, looking, not like the sleek, streamline feminine creatures they should be, and have been in the past, but just as sloppy and casual as only sloppily clad slacks can make them . . . and what fun is that! Every bit of feminine allure is sacrificed for a witless idea that slacks spell swank and snap.

$1,285,384 Contributed to United China Relief

Contributions to United China relief have reached a total of $1,285,384, Mark L. Gates, national treasurer, announced yesterday. June was a record month for the organization which was started three months ago to provide clothes, food, and medical supplies for China. The organization's goal is $5,000,000.

Music Notes

Melvin Baddin, one time concertmaster of the Lane High School orchestra, made a successful solo appearance at Grant park last night, playing the Saint-Saëns B minor violin concerto with the George Dasch orchestra. His tone was even and beautiful, his phrasing intelligible, and his conception of the concerto sound. Where the music called for brilliance he was able to supply it easily. He gave the last movement of the piece a nice flourish. E. B.

INSTALMENT XVI.

ON TRIAL.

Kathleen felt she must get up and move her limbs. Go to the sanctuary of her home. Get away from George Cassell. She began to pull on her gloves.

"That's settled then, George. You're going to take the case? See us thru?"

"I don't know about seeing you thru in view of the lack of coöperation. I can only promise to do my best for you."

She tried to smile her gratitude. "Thank you, George. And now I must go. Will you excuse me?"

He showed his amazed disappointment.

"But Kathleen, I'll have to stay over a few days to get together all the evidence I can to prepare my case. What'll I do tonight alone here? I'm a stranger to Los Angeles. Wouldn't it be better if we spent the evening together to talk it over?"

It was perfectly reasonable, but she had never longed so much to be alone—to shut herself away from human contact in her quiet Lakes End bedroom. She relinquished her desire for solitude.

"Why, yes—it's a good idea. You'd better come home with me. You should know all the people who knew Jeanie. Toby investigates their habits and makes notes. He can tell you all about them."

"Who's Toby?"

"Just a boy who's staying with me. Very young, but quite exceptional. Shall we go, then?"

Mrs. Mount was coming in as they went out. There was a ravaged look of acute suffering on her face. She was too absorbed in her anxious grief to see them, but Kathleen went to her impulsively.

"Mrs. Mount, I'm so sorry for you."

The actress turned to her almost blindly. Kathleen was shocked by the change in her. She looked an old woman with grief and illness. There was no laughter in her now.

"O! It's you. What are you doing here?"

"Well—naturally," Kathleen faltered, taken aback by her unfriendly abruptness, "I would come here to see Hugo."

"I suppose it seems natural to you." Mrs. Mount seemed to be swaying a little on her feet. She let out a deep sighing breath. "What he needs is a good lawyer."

Kathleen put out her hand to steady the older woman.

"Don't worry about that. I've got one."

"You've got one?" Her eyes focused steadily now on Kathleen's face. "Why should you take this on yourself?"

The busy hall with people walking to and fro, and George standing aloof waiting for her, was no place for Kathleen to speak of the convictions and emotions of her heart. Perhaps it was—no one was taking any notice of them—but she could not feel it that way. She said the wrong thing to Hugo's foster mother.

"Well, after all, Mrs. Mount, I can pay the best we can get—the one he needs—"

"And I can't! I have so little money—"

"I didn't mean to say that."

"But you think it. Well, it's true. Money—money—I hate the name of it. Let go my elbow. I must try and see him—"

Kathleen let her go and rejoined the tall composed young man patiently waiting for her.

"That was Hugo Lang's foster mother. I'll tell you all about her later. She's a good soul, but awfully difficult to understand. Let me see—where did I park the car?"

She felt George's competence, assurance, and authority as he walked to the car parked beside her. She had known him six years and known the inside history of the cases he handled. In those years he had never failed in anything he undertook. Hugo would soon realize he could place his confidence in George. Whatever his reason for keeping quiet now about that strange Sunday night, he would eventually be prevailed upon to talk. George had really done some impossible things. Kathleen's heart began to lighten. If only Mrs. Mount didn't interfere and demand some cheap attorney she could pay herself, George would clear things up and make Hugo speak.

Ellen Mount's love for Hugo was stronger than her pride. Also, a philosophic attitude to conditions she could not change was one of the fruits of her difficult life. She submitted to Kathleen's employment of George Cassell. But George did not make Hugo speak and Kathleen lived thru the trial as in a waking nightmare.

The public interest was torture to her. She would carry always the memory of avid, curious, vindictive, and accusing faces swimming bodiless in her vision as in delirium. No one could have guessed at her inner anguish, her helpless dismay in the face of Hugo's appalling obstinacy. She was poised, self-possessed, impossible to ruffle in the witness chair, giving her evidence in a clear, steady voice.

"You admit you were in love with the defendant?"

"I am in love with him."

The prosecuting attorney was in his glory. He was a sharp faced, middle aged man, embittered by his disappointment in his frustrated domestic life. He loved the limelight. Reports of the trial were front page news in all the newspapers of the country. He was making a reputation outside the state. Up until now he had led witnesses, gently winning their confidence, then confusing them, making them contradict themselves, discrediting their evidence. But he could not confuse Kathleen.

"No doubt you believe a woman in love is justified in lying to shield her man?"

"No," said Kathleen with unexpected decision.

"Then I take it if you were aware of any incriminating evidence against a man you loved you would consider it your duty to give him away?"

"No."

Thomas Vreeland, the attorney, turned to the jury with a meaning gesture, turned back to Kathleen.

"Madam, you are contradicting yourself."

"No. The situation could not arise. I could not remain in love with a man who had committed a wilful murder."

Vreeland abandoned this unprofitable line of investigation.

"You believe the defendant was in love with you?"

"I know he was."

"You have recently inherited considerable property and investments, have you not, Miss Murray?"

"Yes."

"You have heard no doubt that the defendant has in the past two or three years approached various wealthy families here requesting support for his Willowdale theatrical enterprises?"

"Yes."

"And he has openly complained that Miss Keyes' support has been the artistic ruin of some of his productions?"

"It was, too."

There was a murmur around the court. The judge banged on his desk with his gavel and looked around with an ill-tempered glare.

"Yes or no?" demanded Kathleen's tormentor.

"Yes."

"Has he ever said in your hearing that he would be glad to have financial support for the theater without paying the price of Miss Keyes' domination or interference?"

"Naturally. He was a great artist."

"Yes or no, Miss Murray?"

"Yes. Many times."

Now Vreeland stuck his thumbs in the armholes of his waistcoat and looked at the 12 attentive and admiring faces of the jury with a smiling air of triumph. Then he leaned forward and thrust his face near Kathleen's. She drew back from him as far as possible.

"It did not occur to you that he desired to marry you in order to get your money?"

"I had proof that he did not."

"The court will be interested to hear the proof."

Kathleen hesitated before speaking to control her fury.

"That isn't relevant, I think. I have answered your question. I had proof that satisfied me."

Engagements Announced

At a dinner at the Lawsonia hotel in Green Lake, Wis., last Saturday Edward B. McGuinn of Evanston announced the engagement of his daughter, Virginia Ann, to Harold E. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Hall, also of Evanston. Miss McGuinn is a graduate of the Marywood High school and attended the music department of Mundelein college. Mr. Hall is a graduate of Loyola university and now is with the 182d Field artillery at Fort Leonard Woods, Mo.

Dr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Haake of Park Ridge announce the engagement of their daughter, Alicia, to Lieut. Van Frederick Dittberner of Shorewood, Wis. The wedding will take place this fall after Lieut. Dittberner returns from army maneuvers in the south. He and his bride will make their home in Battle Creek, Mich.

Miss Haake and her fiancé are graduates of the University of Wisconsin, from which her parents both were graduated. She was president of the Alpha Phi sorority and of the Panhellenic council, and was Military ball queen. Lieut. Dittberner was president of the Chi Phi fraternity and a member of Scabbard and Blade. He is serving with the 11th infantry.

Plans Being Made by Garfield Park for Gladiolus Show

Preparations are under way in Garfield park conservatory for the Midwest Gladiolus show which will be held Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 8 and 9. J. R. Hopkins of Deerfield, who grows 530 varieties of gladiolus in his own one-sixth of an acre garden, is in charge of arrangements.

Seven states in the Chicagoland area and the New England states are coöperating to present 5,000 exhibits, featuring about 1,000 varieties. Mr. Hopkins said the committee is expecting flowers to be sent by air express from Vancouver, Seattle, Vermont, Connecticut, and Georgia. Any member of a garden club may enter and there will be club entries and 18 professional displays. Flowers are expected from 22 states.

Among the exhibits will be the fragrant gladiolus, which is being developed; a gladiolus 5 feet tall with eight inch flowers, and others with ten flowers open on a single stem. Mrs. O. W. Dynes, chairman of the Garden Club of Illinois show, Mrs. L. T. Warren, treasurer, and Miss Ruth Mosher Place of Detroit will be judges. Twenty cups and medals and 1,000 ribbons will be awarded.

THANK YOU, KATE SMITH!
For These Remarks Made in Your Network Broadcast on July 21st

One of the pleasantest ways to spend a summer evening is to drive into an open-air theater and watch the movies . . . it's wonderful to sit in the cool fresh air . . . under the stars . . . watch your favorites on the screen!

DRIVE-IN — WAUKEGAN & GOLF RDS. — JUST WEST OF EVANSTON

REFRESHMENTS BROUGHT TO YOUR CAR
SMOKE & RELAX IN COMFORT
A MIDNITE SHOW TOMORROW AND SATURDAY

One day last summer a drive-in had a bedridden patient who was enjoying his very first picture in seventeen long years. The manager began to think of all the shut-ins who never got to the movies and so he arranged for them to come and see the pictures.

I have a letter from this man, asking me to mention this fact on these programs and to suggest that American Legion Posts, hospitals, and other organizations get in touch with the managers of drive-in theaters and arrange for transportation for shut-ins.

What lovely vistas they must open to widen the horizon of those who seldom are able to emerge from a shut-in's room or leave for a brief time the fetters of a wheelchair.

Tapioca is a flavorless starch good for thickening puddings and desserts because of the pleasant texture which it gives. We can buy it in large or small pearl form, or finely granulated. The granulated tapioca cooks so much more quickly than the larger shapes that it has become more popular with cooks.

Sago is a similar product which may be used for the same purposes. Tapioca and sago are prepared from the starch of entirely different tropical plants, in spite of their similarity in appearance and interchangeability.

Pearl tapioca or sago may be used in these recipes, but a little more than twice as much will be required. It is necessary to soak either for an hour in cold water before using, and the cooking time will be longer. Cook the pudding until the tapioca or sago is clear.

Baked Peach Tapioca Pudding.

[Serves Six].

3 or 4 medium peaches, peeled and sliced
½ cup sugar
¾ cup quick-cooking tapioca
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
2 teaspoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons melted butter
2 cups milk

Combine ingredients and place in a greased casserole. Bake for half an hour at 375 degrees, stirring the pudding every 10 minutes, and again upon removing it from the oven. Serve warm or chilled, with cream. Brown sugar may be used in place of white, and makes an excellent dessert. Pack it firmly in the measuring cup.

Canned sliced peaches may be used instead of fresh fruit. In that case, sirup from the peaches may take the place of part of the milk.

Tapioca Sundae.

[Serves Six].

½ cup quick-cooking tapioca
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated
4 cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Maple sirup
¾ cup chopped toasted almonds

Combine tapioca, sugar, salt, egg yolks, and milk in the top of a double boiler and stir enough to break the egg yolk. Place over rapidly boiling water, bring to the scalding point, and cook for 5 to 8 minutes, stirring frequently. Remove from heat. Cool slightly and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Add flavoring. Chill. Fill sherbet glasses. Pour maple sirup over each serving and sprinkle with chopped nuts.

Theta Rho Founders' Dance

Theta Rho sorority will hold its 13th annual Founders' day dance Saturday at the Lincolnshire Country club. Miss Jeanne Anderson is chairman.

GASOLINE ALLEY—ONE STEP AT A TIME

BUT ARE YOU SURE YOU HAVE THE RIGHT GIRL? A LIFETIME IS A LONG STRETCH, YOU KNOW.
THERE HAS NEVER BEEN ANYBODY, REALLY, BUT NINA, UNCLE WALT.
IT IS PERFECTLY RIGHT FOR YOU TO BE THINKING OF YOUR FUTURE, SKEEZIX, BUT GO SLOWLY— DON'T DO ANYTHING RASH.
I KNOW WHAT YOU MEAN. WE'D NEVER RUN AWAY AND GET MARRIED.
BUT AS MAN TO MAN, I'LL TELL YOU A DEEP SECRET— NINA AND I ARE ENGAGED TO BE ENGAGED!
CONGRATULATIONS, SON. AND MAN TO MAN, IT WILL BE KEPT A DEEP SECRET.
THANKS, UNCLE WALT. SOME DAY WE'RE GOING TO BE ENGAGED.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: There is one good thing about overbidding: It spurs the declarer to a supreme effort in the play of the cards. My partner did a neat job last night on the following hand in our weekly duplicate:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Match-point duplicate.

NORTH
♠ K 10
♥ A 10 5
♦ K 10 6 4 3
♣ A 7 4

WEST
♠ 5 3
♥ 7 4
♦ Q 8 7 2
♣ J 10 9 5 2

EAST
♠ Q J 4 2
♥ 9 8 6 3 2
♦ J 9
♣ Q 6

SOUTH
♥ K Q J
♦ A 5
♣ K 8 3

"The bidding at our table, where I was North, proceeded as follows:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	4 no trump	Pass
6 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

"As you will observe, the final contract was not so hot, but with first and second round control of every suit between us, I think it was fairly natural for us to be bullish.

"West opened the club jack. My partner won this with dummy's ace, then led the king and ten of spades. East split his honors; declarer won and led the spade nine to drive out the queen. East returned the club queen. South won, cashed his hearts and spades and came down to this position:

NORTH
♠ None
♥ None
♦ K 10 6
♣ 7

WEST
♠ None
♥ None
♦ Q 8 7
♣ 10

EAST
♠ None
♥ 9 8
♦ J 9
♣ None

SOUTH
♠ 7
♥ None
♦ A 5
♣ 8

"When South played the last spade, West was put hors du combat. Realizing that a diamond discard would certainly be fatal, he threw the club ten, hoping East had the club eight. His hope was in vain, however; my partner cashed the club eight for the vital trick, and top on the board.—B. S. S., New York."

Very neat. As I have often pointed out, a squeeze play is usually the only possible salvation of an overbid contract.

Numerology
By Evelyn Holmes

July 31, 1941.

Universal day—Large corporations and big business will take the lead in stepping up efficiency.

August—Since the general public is influenced by the universal year and month, one should take into consideration these numbers as well as one's personal numbers. This is a six year and August will be an eighth month universally. So if you are in a two year, for instance, you can't expect to have things all your own way. Both six and eight are higher vibrations of two, and the events around you might overshadow the rather negative two unless you have kept very much aware of your own numbers and been following them enough to have the "feel" of the rhythm.

Would you like to know what kind of a year 1941 will be for you? Send for your personal yearly, monthly, and daily guide.

WILSON'S Weekly RECIPES

The best thought I can bring you for August is to make you acquainted with a smoked ham that has more fine flavor, more mildness, more tenderness, than this searcher after fine foods has been able to discover in any other smoked ham, anywhere. It is Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham, the original Tender Extra Mild—a long monicker but baked, broiled or fried, none can compare!

A NEW "JUNIOR" SIZE HAM FOR SMALL FAMILIES

The biggest news in the meat world today is Wilson's Certified Boneless Rolled Smoked Ham—the very same ham I praised to the skies just now; same rich, mild flavor, same tenderness. Only this ham is boned and rolled, then smartly wrapped in a transparent covering in which you can bake or boil it. My favorite recipe is printed right on the wrapper. This same boneless ham is also just the thing for slicing and broiling. No waste, no bone—all meat, and wonderful meat at that. These ham rolls weigh only 3 to 4 pounds each.

Just made for campers and vacationers is Wilson's Certified Sliced Bacon, because the rich flavor is smoked right in.

I strongly recommend you try the new two-pound thrifty Family Style. In this package Wilson's Certified Family Style Bacon is sliced slightly thicker and packed back so tightly on the rind that it doesn't have a chance to lose its marvelous flavor.

SAVE ON SHORTENING

Suppose you could buy an all-purpose vegetable shortening snow-white, super-creamed; just like expensive shortenings except for the price? Well, you can. It's Wilson's BAKE-RITE, available in vacuum-sealed 1# and the more economical 3# tins. A booklet of my tested recipes comes with every tin. Try my Chocolate Cake* for Sunday's dinner.

been at the Post and Paddock club every afternoon this week, and today there will be a fairly large crowd there, without a doubt. Yesterday Mrs. Botsford Young, Mrs. Stuart Templeton, Mrs. Francis Manierre, and Mrs. Champ Carry made an attractive foursome. Gerald Cudahy, the John Colemans and their daughter, Miss Beth, were among others who had luncheon at the club and watched the program from its terrace.

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Juergens Are Parents of Son.

A son, their first child, was born early Saturday at St. Luke's hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Richard K. Juergens [Dorothy Dewes]. The baby, who has been named for his father, is the first grandson of Mr. and Mrs. H. Paul Juergens. The baby's maternal grandmother is Mrs. Edwin P. Dewes.

Tiny Martha Jane Thomas, who was born on July 16, has returned from the hospital with her mother, Mrs. Thomas Macpherson Thomas, and is receiving visitors in the Thomas apartment. The baby, named for one of Mr. Thomas' sisters, is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Fleming of Lake Forest and of Mrs. Cary Wood Thomas of New York. Young Mrs. Thomas is the former Josephine Fleming.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil L. Crouse [Elizabeth Bunting] are being congratulated on the birth of their second son, Stephan Miller, on Monday at the Passavant hospital. Miller was the maiden name of Mr. Crouse's mother, the late Mrs. William Henry Crouse of Philadelphia. Mr. and Mrs. Crouse and their other son, Gerrit Van Asmus, have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Bunting, in Lake Forest, where they will remain until Sept. 15, when the Crouse family will go back to Darien, Conn.

Mrs. Crouse's brother, Van Asmus Bunting, and his wife, just have returned to Lake Forest after a three week trip east.

Mrs. Jefferson Caffery arrived from Brazil yesterday to see her mother, Mrs. Daniel E. McCarthy, who is at the Passavant hospital with an injured hip. Mrs. Caffery, whose husband is the United States ambassador to Brazil, came by clipper ship to Miami and from there by train. Her brother, Daniel F. McCarthy of Biltmore, N. C., also is here to see his mother.

WAR MEANS FARM REGIMENTATION, BROOKS WARNS

Make U. S. Secure, Plea at Salem Rally.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Salem, Ill., July 30.—Senator Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] predicted here today that American participation in an all-out, shooting war would mean a completely regimented farm economy, the end of small factories, and the utter dislocation of labor.

Senator Brooks.

Addressing a Republican day audience at the 58th annual Marion county soldiers' and sailors' reunion, Senator Brooks pledged to continue his efforts to prevent this country from becoming a shooting participant in the European conflict, and also to build the strongest possible national defense.

Senator Brooks was able to come to the Marion county reunion that an agreement with senate leaders whereby legislation to extend the draft beyond the one year limit would be held for a vote until his return. He left here late today for Washington.

As the speaker of the day here, Brooks devoted the major part of his address to a forecast of what an all-out shooting war would mean to America.

War Means Regimentation.

"It will mean," he said, "that within a year, all food products of the farm would be put under regulation, including wheat, corn, hogs, beef, and also poultry, eggs, and butter. We would then have a completely regimented farm economy, which would destroy the basic foundation of our free enterprise.

"An all-out war would mean such strict regulation of all material that the small factories, which have been the backbone of our industrial and community life, would in a large measure be destroyed, and the labor population terribly dislocated thruout the country.

"The tax bill for next year will be so heavy that many families will have to mortgage their homes to pay their share of the bill, and even the taxes which are collected won't begin to meet the bill. It will mean a final surrender of the processes of government as we have known them for the purposes of war and under the pretext of protecting freedom that does not exist in Russia or other countries that we may be called upon to defend."

Tells Green's Economy.

Representative Robert J. Branson of Centralia discussed state issues, declaring that Gov. Dwight Green's legislative program adopted by the legislature would bring a 20 million dollar saving to the tax payers.

Branson also answered the assertion made at Democratic day yesterday by former Gov. John Stelle, who said the international situation was so precarious that Americans should forget politics and work for unity.

"Some of us," Branson said, "have been going up and down the state for eight years telling the people of the easy money being spread around by the New Deal. I'm not against the defense program, but if some of this easy money had been spent for defense we could have built a wall around this country which would have made it impregnable against any nation or combination of nations."

Political discussions at the reunion brought many names forward as possible candidates for state treasurer next year, but no talk of a contender for the senate seat to which Brooks is expected to seek reëlection.

Woman Acquitted by Jury on Embezzlement Charge

Mrs. Mary Louise Kirby, 32 years old, was acquitted by a Criminal court jury before Judge Julius H. Miner yesterday of embezzling $2,904 of the rentals of the Claridge apartments at 4501 Malden street. Mrs. Kirby was resident manager of the hotel until a few months ago. She and her attorney, George Bieber, asserted that she had paid part of the money for improvements and given the rest to Charles F. Henry, part owner.

At Bus Fare Hearing

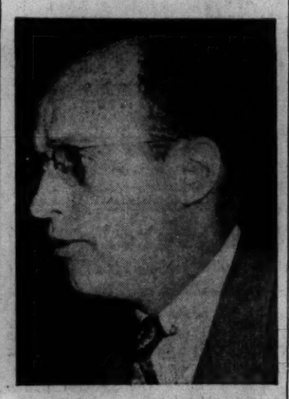
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

William Parrillo, recently appointed member of the Illinois commerce commission, who joined the fight yesterday for reduction of Chicago bus fares.



Attorney General George F. Barrett, who renewed his demand that the commission issue an order citing the Chicago Motor Coach company to show cause why its rates should not be reduced.

NEW INDICTMENTS IN SLOT MACHINE QUIZ EXPECTED

Taylorville, Ill., July 30 [Special].—The county grand jury which has been investigating slot machines in Christian county was reported tonight to be ready to return additional indictments tomorrow morning. Last Friday the jury indicted six defendants on charges of gambling in various forms.

Sheriff Virgil Ezra.

The jury was said to have devoted its sessions since last Friday almost exclusively to testimony concerning Sheriff Virgil Ezra and nearby Morrisonville's village president, A. L. Stocks, chairman of the Republican county central committee.

The sheriff touched off the grand jury investigation by raiding the city jail and carting away 108 slot machines that had been seized in raids led by other authorities. Slot machines were reported to have been permitted to operate in Morrisonville for a monthly fee of $5 a machine which the village used to pay its municipal lighting bill.

ASSAILS 10 CENT FARE ON BUSES AS EXORBITANT

New Commission Member Enters 7 Year Old Fight.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

William Parrillo, one of the recently appointed members of the Illinois Commerce commission, yesterday joined in the long fight for a reduction in the 10 cent bus fare of the Chicago Motor Coach company.

At a hearing before the commission on the city's 7 year old petition for the bus fare cut, Parrillo declared the fare is exorbitant and that the rate case is a question to be considered independently from Chicago's transit unification problem.

Parrillo's remarks were made after Attorney General George F. Barrett had renewed his demand, first made in April, that the commission enter an order citing the coach company to show cause why its rates should not be reduced. Yesterday's hearing marked the 84th time the case has been before the commission on continuances granted at the request of or by agreement with the city.

Sees Threat to Transit Plans.

William H. Sexton, city traction counsel, took a position similar to the city's stand on previous occasions—that prosecution of the rate case at this time would upset pending plans for unifying all local transit lines.

He asked the commission to postpone any action until after Sept. 23. By then, he said, the surface and elevated lines have been asked to notify the city whether they will accept the traction unification ordinance adopted June 19 by the city council. Inclusion of the motor coach company in the unified system is optional under the ordinance. The commission will decide today whether to grant the city's request or follow Barrett's advice.

"The city filed this petition for a fare cut seven years ago," Parrillo told Sexton. "For seven years the motor coach riders have paid an exorbitant fare. If fares should be cut, why would this interfere with transit unification? There are two distinct questions here. One is the transit unification problem in the federal District court. The other is the fare case before this commission."

Calls It "Red Herring."

Barrett declared the traction merger question is a "red herring" that the city has dragged into the rate case. Sexton retorted that this charge was false and that it was "unbecoming" for the attorney general to make it.

It was understood that not all members of the five man commission shared Parrillo's views on the bus case. Chairman John D. Biggs did not commit himself and other members were reluctant to discuss the case.

The motor coach company yesterday announced plans to buy 60 buses at a cost of $580,000. Twenty-five of them are 32 passenger single deck gasoline powered coaches that already have been driven an average of 160,000 miles. They will be delivered next month. The other 35 buses have been ordered from General Motors corporation and are due for delivery in January. They are 45 passenger single deck Diesel buses.

CUBS, PHILS DIVIDE; ATHLETICS BEAT SOX IN 11TH, 5-3

TOT PRESSNELL TRIUMPHS, 5-3; MOOTY ROUTED

Eighth Place Team Wins Opener, 8-4.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The basement dwelling Phillies, usually very pleasant to everybody, including their enemies, got worked up yesterday about one thing or another and stayed that way until they had slapped down the Cubs with a robust 8 to 4 count in the front end of a double header. Then the Cubs took a turn at being wrathful and earned an even break, 5 to 3, for their eleventh victory of the year over the Phils.

The Phils' portion of success for the day was due to a combination of Cy Blanton and not enough pitching from Jake Mooty of the Cub staff. Jake wasn't bad for a limited stretch, but in the fifth the humble visitors blew off the lid with a six run splurge in which Bill Lee also was a victim. This was ample for the purpose of Blanton who didn't mind being hit—he yielded 14 of which five were made by Stan Hack—but knew most of the answers when trouble arose.

Page Has a Brief Stay.

The second battle was launched pleasantly for Vance Page. His pals gave him a three run margin at the outset by working on Tom Hughes' pitching, but before the third inning ended the lead had melted into a tie and Page was no longer among those present.

In his place was Tot Pressnell, who breezed thru to the finish unscathed, getting part of his winning margin in the fifth on hits by Bob Scheffing and Lou Stringer off Ike Pearson and the other part in the sixth when Hack and Dominic Dallessandro gave Walter [Boom Boom] Beck a touch of the high life to which he is accustomed.

The Phils put over their big fifth inning coup in the first game on five hits after Stringer had opened the inning by dropping Ben Warren's popup. Blanton fouled out trying to bunt, Dan Murtaugh walked and Stan Benjamin lofted to Charley Gilbert. Heinie Mueller singled to score Warren with the tying run, and Murtaugh counted on Nick Etten's single. Dan Litwhiler doubled to left and Mueller galloped home. Merrill May doubled to right, Etten and Litwhiler counting. Bill Lee took over for Mooty and immediately made a wild throw to first on Bragan's scratch hit, May going home with the sixth run of the cluster.

Cubs Build Up 3 Run Lead.

The three runs with which the Cubs opened the second game were acquired on an expenditure of two hits. Hack led with a pass and Gilbert survived on Bobby Bragan's fumble, but was doubled up on Dallessandro's tap. Then Hughes walked Bill Nicholson and Babe Dahlgren singled, Hack scoring on the hit and Nicholson following him to the plate when Litwhiler let the ball roll to the wall. Scheffing's single drove Dahlgren home.

The Phils gave Page a one run nick in the second on passes to Etten and May with a single by Litwhiler in between. In the next inning Page walked Benjamin with one out and

SAM CHAPMAN'S 2D HOMER BEATS SOX IN 11TH, 5-3

A's Outfielder Drives In All of Team's Runs.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., July 31 [Thursday].—Sam Chapman, with his 14th homer last night and his 15th early this morning, drove in all the runs with which the Athletics beat the White Sox, 5 to 3, to go into a fourth place virtual tie with the Chicagoans.

Sam's first homer, at 11.18 p. m., Wednesday, was knocked off Buck Ross with two on and two out in the sixth. The second one was at the expense of Jack Hallett in the eleventh inning at 12:20 a. m., today, after Dick Siebert had singled with one down.

3 Hits, 1st Homer in 6th.

Chapman's sixth inning smash gave the Philadelphians a 3 to 0 lead which was reduced to 3 to 1 when Taft Wright bashed his fourth homer of the year off C. Luman Harris in the seventh inning. Then the Sox tied the score thuswise in the ninth: Don Kolloway opened the ninth with the fifth Chicago hit, a single. Harris, who previously hadn't walked a batsman, then passed Joe Kuhel and Mike Kreevich to load the bases with none out. Bump Hadley replaced Harris and made Wright lift a short fly to Chapman, the runners holding their bases. Luke Appling then bounced to Hadley and Kolloway was forced at the plate. Julius Solters singled to center, scoring Kuhel and Kreevich with the tying runs. Appling, however, overran second and was out, Chapman to Benny McCoy.

Sox 4th by a Fraction.

Hallett, who had taken over at the start of the eighth, had held the A's to one hit for three innings prior to the windup. Bob Johnson opened the home eleventh with an enormous drive, but Solters kept it from going into the stands by making a great leaping catch. Siebert, however, followed up with his line single to left, after which Chapman lined his victory shot into the upper deck of the left field stands.

The Sox now have a percentage of

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

BOB ZUPPKE'S recipe, in short, for those amazing upsets he pulls more or less regularly with his University of Illinois elevens: "I decide to go 'all out' on a certain game. . . . You can't do this every Saturday, but only now and then at a time that is important and decisive. . . . The coach must be full of pep and vinegar, emotionally keyed up, yet he must guard against being hysterical. . . . He must have poise and stop other coaches whose talk is not convincing." . . . Young Stuhley, one of professional boxing's leading middleweights six or seven years ago, is an instructor in the Fort Riley, Kas., recreation program. . . . General Manager Jim Gallagher of the Cubs says he would trade Bob Sturgeon for Thornton Lee and Luke Appling provided, of course, that the White Sox approved the transaction. . . . Don Hutson, the Green Bay Packers' brilliant end, has caught three touchdown passes three times in a single National league game. . . . The Cleveland Rams were the victims of Hutson's sticky fingers. . . . The late Noble E. Kizer of Purdue will be the only former head coach of the College All-Stars who will not be on the scene when the All-Americans line up against the Chicago Bears in Soldiers' field, Aug. 28. . . . The list includes Frank Thomas of Alabama, Bernie Bierman of Minnesota, Gus Dorais of Detroit, Bo McMillin of Indiana, Elmer Layden of Notre Dame, and Dr. Edward N. Anderson of Iowa.

Don Hutson.

Bob Sturgeon.

Joie Ray, one of the world's greatest milers 20 years ago, is employed in the Gary steel mills and operates an eight acre nursery on the side. . . . Since the Bears routed Sammy Baugh's Redskins, 73 to 0, last December the former Texas Christian star has purchased a $50,000 ranch an hour's drive from Sweetwater, Tex., stocked it with Herefords, and has made 12 episodes of a movie serial, "King of the Texas Rangers," which will be released about the opening of the football season. . . . Jesse Owens, who won four events in the 1936 Olympic games, will appear in Chicago tonight with the New York Olympians' softball team in their game against the Match Corporation of America in Spencer Coals park. . . . Dick West of the Reds and Peewee Reese of the Dodgers were high school classmates in Louisville. . . . Johnny Mize of the Cardinals holds the National league's all-time record for bases on balls in a double header. . . . He drew six in 1939 in Philadelphia. . . . Pittsburgh will play four Western conference football teams on successive week-ends this fall—Purdue, Michigan, Minnesota, and Ohio State.

Like Angels.

We toil unceasingly for things of earth,
We crave for gold, for glory, and success,
And yet what are these worldly riches worth
Measured in terms of lasting happiness?
We cannot carry them in our pale hands
Beyond the margin of life's little day,
The breath of death that shatters all our plans
Will carry every carnal hope away.
But any gift we offer in God's name—
A word of courage to the suffering,
A kindly deed to shield a friend from shame,
A cheerful message to the sorrowing—
Will rise like angels to God's throne above
And plead for mercy in the name of love.

The Rookie's Lament.

I don't mind the sound of taps at night,
For I'm weary and glad to retire.
I don't mind the shoes that fit me tight,
And I don't mind the muck and the mire.
I don't mind the K. P. duty,
Nor hikes in the broiling sun;
I don't mind a pesky cooty,
I don't mind toting a gun.
But the thing that always gets my goat
And is sure to drive me to mayhem
Is the bugler's first and mournful note

ABRAMS WHIPS BILLY SOOSE IN ANOTHER UPSET

160 Pound Title Claimant Loses in 10 Rounds.

New York, July 30 [Special].—Billy Soose, recognized in New York and California as middleweight champion, tonight lost a 10 round decision to Georgie Abrams, a sailor from Washington, D. C. Both fighters were over the limit, however, and Soose's title claims were not involved.

Soose, former Penn State student, was a 1 to 2 favorite. It was the second straight upset in two nights in the metropolitan area, Fritzie Zivic having lost his middleweight title to Red Cochrane in Newark last evening. Soose weighed 160¼ pounds, Abrams 160¾.

Only 6,223 saw tonight's hard fought contest in Madison Square Garden and the gross gate was $12,103. Abrams is under the same management as Ken Overlin, from whom Soose recently took his share of the middleweight title.

Abrams, who had twice before defeated Soose, was the aggressor all the way. He walked in from bell to bell and fired punches, piling up a decisive margin. There were occasions when they stood toe to toe and slugged it out. At times Soose, because of his superior reach, was able to stand off and spar at long range, but he couldn't consistently stand off Abrams' determined rushes.

BANKERS WIN; QUEEN NAMED IN STATE ST. FETE

Miss Ruth Stark, representing Carson Pirie Scott's retail store, was chosen Miss Softball of State Street last night in the street's annual sports and beauty celebration put on before 5,000 in St. Philip's stadium. Proceeds of the program were turned over to the United Charities for the Camp Algonquin fund.

In the first of the two softball games, bringing together many of the stars who clashed as members of the same teams last year, the Loop Bankers defeated the State Street All-Stars, 10 to 4, and evened their annual series at one game each. The Radio-Editorial team defeated the State Street Merchants, 13 to 11, in the second game.

Miss Stark was presented with the queen's trophy by Ben Rimski, vice president of Maurice L. Rothschild's.

All-Star Baseball Game Nets $53,226.27 for USO

The ninth annual major league all-star baseball game played in Detroit on July 8 netted a profit of $53,226.27, according to a report issued yesterday by Leslie M. O'Connor of Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis' staff. This amount goes to the United Service Organizations for purchase of sports equipment in the nation's service camps. Gross receipts were $63,267.08.

HARMON FIRST CHOICE OF FANS TO MEET BEARS

Middle West Puts 6 on Starting Eleven.

BY ARCH WARD.

The nation's intercollegiate football fans—9,514,753 strong—have picked the All-America team they want to face the powerful Chicago Bears, champions of the National Football league, in the eighth annual All-Star game at Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 28.

The starting lineup includes six from the middle west, two from the south, two from the east, and one from the Pacific coast. The winners:

Ends—Dave Rankin, Purdue, and Edward Rucinski, Indiana.

Tackles—Nick Drahos, Cornell, and Ernest Pannell, Texas A. & M.

Guards—Augie Lio, Georgetown, and Tommy O'Boyle, Tulane.

Center—Rudy Mucha, Washington.

Quarter back—Forest Evashevski, Michigan.

Half backs—Tom Harmon, Michigan, and George Franck, Minnesota.

Full back—George Paskvan, Wisconsin.

The All-Star coaches will be obliged to start the above players, provided they accept THE TRIBUNE'S invitation to join the squad and survive the practice sessions in good physical condition. In event any one of them is unable to take his place in the lineup the player at his position who received the next greatest number of votes in the national poll must be elevated to the job.

70 Players Invited.

Ten universities are represented in the opening lineup. Michigan, which placed both Harmon and Evashevski in the All-Stars' starting battle front, was the only team to land more than one player in the select group.

The poll broke all records for fan participation. Last year's total vote was 6,575,957. Nile Kinnick of Iowa was the only player in 1940 who received more than a million votes. There were eleven who passed that figure in this year's balloting. Harmon's 1,421,586 was the greatest individual total in the poll.

In addition to the eleven who will comprise the starting lineup invitations to join the squad were sent last night to 59 other players. Thirty-nine universities and colleges are represented on the roster. The middle west leads with 35. The south has qualified 17, the far west 10, and the east 8. Notre Dame and Texas A. & M. have the largest delegations, with five apiece.

Others Players Invited.

The players who will support the starting lineup follow:

ENDS—John McGee, Regis; Paul Severin, North Carolina; Erwin Elrod, Mississippi State; Ed Frutig, Michigan; Don Vosberg, Marquette; Stan Graff, Stanford; Ken Pettit, Iowa.

TACKLES—Emil Uremovich, Indiana; Tony Ruffa, Duke; Fred Hartman, Rice; Chip Routt, Texas Aggies; Marshall Shires, Tennessee; Nick Foran, St. Benedict's; Ted Pavelec, Detroit; Mike Enich, Iowa.

GUARDS—Joe Lokanc, Northwestern; Bob Suffridge, Tennessee; Bill McMahon, Rockhurst; Nick Kerasiotis, St. Ambrose; Mike Bucchianeri, Indiana; Warren Alfson, Nebraska; Marion Asa, Bradley Tech; Ben Sohn, Southern California.

CENTERS—Jack Hall, Warrensburg, Mo.; Bob Osterman, Notre Dame; Chester Gladchuk, Boston college; Paul Hiemens, Northwestern; Bob Nelson, Baylor; Ken Whitlow, Rice; Ray Apolskis, Marquette.

QUARTER BACKS—Bob Paffrath, Minnesota; Pete Schulte, Rockhurst; Paul Christman, Missouri; Jack Hayes, Notre Dame; Marion Pugh, Texas Aggies; Walter Matuszczak, Cornell.

FULL BACKS—Milt Piepul, Notre Dame; John Kimbrough, Texas Aggies; Norman Standlee, Stanford; Don McKeever, St. Benedict's; George Kracum, Pittsburgh; Bob Morrow, Illinois Wesleyan; Jasper Davis, Duke; Bob Peoples, Southern California.

HALF BACKS—Buzh Gallarneau, Stanford; Bill McGannon, Notre Dame; Alva Jensen, Rockhurst; Ollie Hahnenstein, Northwestern; Bob Saggau, Notre Dame; Dean McAdams, Washington; Charles O'Rourke, Boston college; Herman Rohrig, Nebraska; Len Eshmont, Fordham; Jack Banta, Southern California; Dave Allerdice, Princeton; Ray Mallouf, Southern Methodist; Jack Robinson, U. C. L. A.; James Thomason, Texas Aggies; Arthur Jones, Richmond.

Players Start Drill Aug. 16.

The coaches are free to make substitutions in the fans' lineup any time after the opening kickoff. It's a matter of record that some of the brightest figures the star studded series has produced were not among the starters. The list includes Sammy Baugh, Tuffy Leemans, and Babe Le Voir.

The 70 players, or as many who are available, will report at Northwestern

ALSAB FAVORITE IN FINAL STAKE AT ARLINGTON PARK

Faces 9 Rivals in $5,000 Hyde Park Event.

Hyde Park Entries

TEN horses were named in the overnight entries for the $5,000 Hyde Park stakes, a 6 furlong event for 2 year olds which will be run on Arlington Park's final program today. The field in order of post position follows:

ALSBYRD [A. Bodiou]	114	20-1
BURGOO DINNER [A. Craig]	114	5-1

*Entry.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Mrs. Al Sabath's exceptionally fast colt, Alsab, will make another bid for ranking among the nation's leading juveniles when he goes to the post in the $5,000 Hyde Park stakes, which will head the concluding program of the Arlington Park meeting this afternoon. The winner of the Joliet, Primer and Mayflower stakes will run against nine rivals in this six furlong dash.

Alsab is certain to be the short priced favorite in the betting, with Emolument, Burgoo Dinner, At Liberty, and Valdina Orphan among the strong contenders. Emolument, the only filly in the race, showed considerable speed and class in beating a field which included Sun Again and Black Raider earlier in the meeting.

At Liberty Is Impressive.

At Liberty has already scored two impressive victories at Arlington Park. In one of these he outran Milky Way Farm's well regarded Dogpatch, a full brother of Bull Lea. Burgoo Dinner, winner by many lengths in the second start of his career, has been pointed for this race by his owner and trainer, Howard Wells.

Alsab, trained by Sarge Swenke, has made a particularly strong impression on Chicago race fans by the manner in which he dominated his opposition in winning the Joliet and Primer stakes. In both of these he showed great finishing power, coming from well back to score by five lengths and seven lengths, respectively.

Today's program will mark the close of the most successful meeting Arlington Park has had in many seasons. Both attendance and mutuel handle have averaged about 20 per cent above last year's figures.

English Harry Wins.

English Harry's gameness and staying power and Jockey Jimmy George's excellent judgment of pace, were the decisive factors in the Mike Hall purse, a distance run of 2¼ miles on the turf which featured yesterday's program. English Harry, racing at odds of 5½ to 1, beat Dark Phaona by a head while Gen L. was third.

Finish Moving to Washington Park Tonight

One of Chicago's biggest racing moves of all time will be completed overnight tonight when the last of 1,000 horses which have been competing at Arlington Park and the equipment used there are moved to Washington Park in preparation for the Homewood plant's opening tomorrow. Washington Park's meeting will be a 32 day program and will include such major events as the American Derby, the Futurity, and the Washington Park handicap.

John D. Jackson, general manager at both Arlington and Washington Parks, has divided his time between the two tracks the last week and is personally supervising moving operations. It is the first time in several years that Chicago racing has seen a midweek move without a day between the two meetings. The totalisator in use at Arlington will be dismantled as soon as today's races are over and is expected to be ready for testing by 3 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Racing Secretary Charles J. McLennan has announced that overnight entries for Friday's racing at Washington Park will be received today at that park, nearby Lincoln Fields, and Arlington Park. Drawings will take place at Arlington Park.

EXPECT DECISION BY SATURDAY ON LOUIS-NOVA SITE

Jacobs' Lawyer Confers with Chicago Officials.

Whether Chicago boxing fans will see Joe Louis defend his heavyweight championship against Lou Nova in September probably will be decided Saturday, Sheldon Clark said yesterday. Clark, chairman of the Illinois Athletic commission, is attempting to convince Mike Jacobs, New York promoter, who has signed contracts of both contestants, that this city is the logical place for the match.

Sol Strauss, attorney for Jacobs, will arrive today to confer with officials of Wrigley field and Comiskey park on their terms. The lawyer then will return to New York to report to Jacobs. Announcement on Chicago's chances to get the fight is expected to be made soon thereafter.

Prefers Comiskey Park.

Jacobs prefers Comiskey park following his successful promotion there in 1937 of the Louis-James J. Braddock title event, but the park is not available for Sept. 24, one of the dates the promoter has asked Chairman Clark to reserve for him. The White Sox conclude their home season there on that date against the Cleveland Indians. The park is available any time thereafter, however.

The other date Jacobs has asked the commissioner to hold for him is Sept. 17. Because the Catholic Youth organization will sponsor an intersectional tournament between amateur boxers from Hawaii and the CYO in Soldiers' field at that time, Jacobs seems to have lost interest in that date.

Promise $750,000 Gate.

Chairman Clark and Leonard Hicks, chairman of the board of the Chicago Hotel Men's association, have virtually guaranteed Jacobs that the Nova-Louis match will draw a $750,000 gate. Jacobs admits this amount would exceed New York's drawing potentialities by $250,000.

Clark expressed doubt that Jacobs would consent to hold the fight before the CYO tournament, contrary to a report that he may seek Sept. 10 if Sept. 24 is not satisfactory. Clark said one of the objections to Sept. 24 has been made by Louis, who is interested in a horse show on that date.

NYE'S GALE BEATS STRONG CURRENT, 24 STAR BOATS

Harry Nye Jr. won the fourth race of the Sheridan Shore Yacht club's annual race week series yesterday in his Gale, after leading the 25 boat fleet of Star sloops around the windward-leeward course in one of the most unusual races seen here in many seasons.

The 10 mile race began with a light northeast breeze which gradually fell. Near the finish off Wilmette the yachts faced a near calm, and a strong current from the southeast pushed them back. Gale, with Skipper Nye and Bud Vested, crew, was first to defeat the current, finishing in approximately 2 hours and 25 minutes.

Bubbling Over, Bert Williams and Dr. Stanley Fahlstrom's entry, the runner-up, required another half hour to beat the current. Fram, Donald Bergman's sloop, was third. Some of the yachts gave up and accepted tows from power boats.

After the race, Gale led the fleet standing for the Valspar trophy, race week title award, with 96 points to 95 for Bubbling Over. The series will be resumed again this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

ANCIENT QUEBEC INDIAN PORTAGE IS STILL USED

Rut Thru Forest Deep from Centuries of Travel.

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OUTARDES RIVER, QUEBEC, July 30.—The Montagnais Indians, who have lived for centuries around what now is the settlement of Bersimis here on the north shore of the St. Lawrence some 200 miles below the city of Quebec, still maintain one of the oldest and most primitive highways on the American continent.

This old forest route is their foot trail [portage] between the beautiful Outardes river, which bounces and leaps to the St. Lawrence, and the rocky Manicouagan river, which is about five miles east of the Outardes. Worn deep by the tread of countless thousands of moccasined feet, this portage route plays just as important a part in the lives of the present day Indians as it did for the Montagnais of the 15th or 16th century, for over this trail the Indians travel to reach their rich trapping grounds far up the Manicouagan river.

Walks Over Part of It.

We wanted to see how deeply the trail has cut into the earth after centuries of use, so yesterday we walked over part of it. George L. Kitson, manager of the Outardes power plant which generates the electric power for the Chicago Tribune-New York Daily News paper mill at Baie Comeau, had one of his men take us up the river by boat about 2¼ miles above the power dam and there we went ashore to start our hike on the trail, which was plainly visible from the water. It rose sharply from the bank of the river to take us up a 50 foot hill and then leveled off in the woods.

When we walked over the portage, in many places cut from four to six inches deep, we were able to visualize the activity that this old forest route has seen down thru the years and still experiences even today. Just as their ancestors did years ago, the Montagnais Indians leave their summer village site near Bersimis on the St. Lawrence every fall in order to trap during the winter. They put their belongings in canoes, paddle a few miles to the mouth of the Outardes, ascend that river by paddle and portage to their trail and then portage four to five miles to the Manicouagan, which is easier for canoeing than the Outardes. Once on the Manicouagan they head north into the wilderness to establish winter camps for trapping beaver, mink, muskrat, and other furbearers.

In May the Montagnais come down from the northern forests with their furs over the same route in order to trade in their catch and spend the summer near Bersimis. This annual journey established the portage and has kept it in use for centuries.

Old Campsites Still There.

When we were on the trail yesterday we saw several old Indian camp sites along it. Crude tent poles still were in the ground and dry brown balsam boughs scattered between the ring of poles told the story of what the Indians had used for making their beds. Close to the river and as far as we hiked thru the woods toward the Manicouagan, the trail was so open and cut into the earth so deeply that even an inexperienced woodsman would follow it with his eyes shut, for this is no casual Indian route thru the woods. It's an artery of wilderness travel that without doubt has been in existence before the white man's history in this country ever started.

CARDINALS BEAT DODGERS, 6 TO 4, ON RALLY IN 8TH

White Gets 12th Victory; Reiser Hits 10th Homer.

St. Louis, Mo., July 30 (AP).—The Cardinals twice came from behind today to whip the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6 to 4, and increase their first place margin in the National league to three games. A three run surge in the last of the eighth after Pete Reiser's 10th home run of the year with a man on base had put Brooklyn ahead, gave the Cardinals their victory.

It was Ernie White's 12th victory and his fifth in nine days, altho he gave way to a pinch hitter and Howard Krist hurled the ninth. White has lost only three. That pinch hitter was Estel Crabtree, who will be 37 years old next Aug. 19. His single scored Martin Marion with the tying run. Then Terry Moore singled to center, scoring Eddie Lake, pinch runner for Pinch Hitter Don Padgett, and Crabtree.

Chapman's 2d Homer Beats Sox in 11th, 5-3

,4845, the A's .4842. The A's have whipped the Sox 9 out of 15 and the Chicagoans twice have scored victories over them on four hit slugging in the last two weeks.

The game did not get under way until 10:05 o'clock, Philadelphia time, or an hour and five minutes after the scheduled starting time. A heavy rainstorm came down at 8 o'clock and just before the precipitation halted at 9:45 o'clock, it was announced that Connie Mack and Jimmy Dykes had decided the game would be started if the fans desired it. The fans yelled their approval and before the canvas had been removed the rain stopped. The infield was in perfect condition and the outfield drained remarkably fast until a new shower started during the third inning. The game drew 11,564 fans.

Carfagnini Will Represent Illinois CYO in San Jose

Ed Carfagnini won the right to represent Illinois in the national CYO bicycle races in San Jose, Cal., next month by winning the half mile qualification event last night in the weekly CYO races in Humboldt park. Carfagnini then teamed with Jacoby to win the one hour team race with 57 points. Thompson and Fitzpatrick finished second with 32 and Abt and Kuehn were third with 27.

Bears Concede All-Star Backs Edge in Weight

BY GEORGE HALAS.

[President, coach, Chicago Bears' National Football league champions.]

One of the surprising facts about the coming battle between the biggest, roughest, fastest, and toughest All-Star team in history and our poor little innocent Bears is that while the lines may be fairly equal in weight our starting back field will give away a great many pounds.

Our opening back field probably will be the same as that which started the championship game against the Washington Redskins last fall. When in condition Bill Osmanski, full back, weighs 197 pounds, Sid Luckman weighs 190, and the two half backs, Ray Nolting and George McAfee, weigh 180 and 182, respectively. They are not exactly puny, but let's contrast those weights with some of the back field men who will operate for the All-Stars.

Most Over 200 Pounds.

For example, Norman Standlee of Stanford weighs 222 pounds, George Paskvan of Wisconsin is a good 210, Milt Piepul of Notre Dame weighs about 205, Tom Harmon is a 198 pounder, John Kimbrough weighs 222, Paul Christman, 202, and Hugh Gallarneau is a good 190.

We confess that the Bears' starting back field is chosen on the basis of speed, elusiveness, and quick power. Osmanski is a 10 second man, Nolting has as fast a pickup as any back in the game, and in elusiveness, along with his other abilities, McAfee is the nearest thing to Red Grange, at Red's peak, I have seen. Luckman has no superior in quickness, a main requirement in a quarter back under the modern T formation, man in motion offense.

Stars Match in Speed.

Yet the All-Stars can match the Bears in sheer speed and in the back field. George Franck of Minnesota is a 9.7 second man in the hundred. Gallarneau, the Chicago boy who starred with Stanford's Rose bowl champions, not only could run away from any one on the Stanford squad but also probably was the fastest back on the Pacific coast. No grass grows under Harmon's feet and Hahnenstein of Northwestern can really go.

Standlee, Stanford's big full back, whose 222 pounds come in handy in backing up a line, also can run like a deer, finishing only a step behind the fleet Gallarneau in sprints. These two backs may prove to be the stars of the game. They have the advantage of a thoro knowledge of the modern T. Fortunately both of them will join the Bears after the game, but that is little comfort now.

Emphasis has been placed on the speed of the back fields because of the great bearing it will have on the defense against forward passes, a factor on which I believe the game will hinge.

Great Pass Receivers.

Certainly the All-Stars have some great pass receivers in Dave Rankin of Purdue, who is hailed as a second Don Hutson; Paul Severin, North Carolina; Ed Frutig of Michigan, Erwin Elrod of Mississippi State, Don Vosberg of Marquette—the list runs on and on.

An earlier statement that the lines from tackle to tackle might run to about equal weight may be challenged. Well, Chester Gladchuck of Boston college is 6 feet 5 inches tall and weighs only 252 pounds. Fred Hartman of Rice is only a 224 pounder, and Tom O'Boyle of Tulane is not exactly skinny at 220 pounds. No one would accuse Ernest Pannell of Texas A. & M. and Nick Drahos of Cornell of being runts. They are meaty fellows, all of them, and we anticipate no end of trouble in brushing them aside for the quick opening plays of the T.

plunked Johnny Rizzo on the shoulder. Etten singled to left, Benjamin scoring, and Pressnell grounded to the rescue. He walked Litwhiler and then halted the gayety, but not until after Rizzo had scored the tying run on an infield out.

Pearson, who quelled a threat against Hughes in the second inning, held on to the tie until with two out in the fifth he walked Dahlgren. Dahlgren went to third on Scheffing's double and home on Stringer's infield hit. In the next inning Beck was on the job and doubles by Hack and Dallessandro added the extra run to Pressnell's margin.

Claude Passeau of the Cubs' pitching staff may be out of action for as long as a week as the result of the awkward slide he made in Saturday's game with the Giants. When he reached the clubhouse yesterday, supposedly ready to pitch the second game, he complained of sharp pains in his left side. Examination revealed pulled muscles.

The 42 year old Charles Root will be put to work in the final of the series with the Phils this afternoon, probably being opposed by Johnny Podgajny. Root will be after the 199th victory of his major league career.

university Aug. 10 to a staff of coaches to be invited by this department. They will live in the Hinman and Goodrich houses in a campus atmosphere to which they were accustomed in their four years as college men. Workouts will be held in Dyche stadium and adjacent fields. Carl Erickson of Northwestern again will serve as trainer.

The 1941 All-Stars have a chance to even the series with the champions of the National Football league. The record stands at three victories for the professionals, two for the collegians, and there have been two ties.

All-Stars Face Hard Task.

In popular estimation this year's group faces the hardest assignment that has confronted any All-Star squad. The Bears, who stunned the Washington Redskins, eastern division champions, 73 to 0, to win the league title, are the most explosive unit in the history of professional football.

One of the surprising developments of this year's poll was the strong campaign for players from smaller schools—smaller in football prestige, if not in enrollment. Among the 70 who have been invited to join the squad are three from Rockhurst college of Kansas City, two from St. Benedict of Atchison, Kas., and one each from Regis of Denver, Bradley Tech of Peoria, Warrensburg Teachers of Missouri, Illinois Wesleyan, of Bloomington, Ill., St. Ambrose of Davenport, and Richmond, Va.

College All-Star Squad of 70 Is from 39 Schools

The College All-Star squad of 70 players invited to participate against the Chicago Bears in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 28 represents 39 schools in all four sections of the United States. The middle west leads with 35 players, the south has 17, the far west 10, and the east eight. Notre Dame and Texas A. & M. top the individual list, each having five. The schools and the number of players follow:

Notre Dame	5	North Carolina	1
Texas A. & M.	5	Miss. State	1
Michigan	3	Detroit	1
Indiana	3	Georgetown	1
Stanford	3	Tulane	1
Northwestern	3	Bradley Tech	1

NORTHWEST GOLF TEAM RETAINS WOMEN'S LEAD

Women's Chicago district picked teams played their semi-final matches yesterday at Ridgemoor with the Northwest team retaining leadership by scoring 24½ points to give it a season's total of 74. Northeast went into second place by getting 22 points for a total of 62. South scored 13½ to run its season's score to 59½, while West brought up in fourth place with 12 points for an aggregate score of 20½.

Virginia Ingram, recently crowned district champion, led the Northwest team to victory with a 42—38—80 for the day's best individual score. Mrs. Frank D. Mayer of Lake Shore, Northeast, had 41—42—83.

CALL COCHRANE FOR EXAMINATION BY ARMY TODAY

HILLSIDE, N. J., July 30 (AP).—Freddie [Red] Cochrane, the new welterweight boxing champion, was notified today by his local draft board to appear for physical examination tomorrow.

With the plaudits of his neighbors still ringing in his ears after last night's victory over Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburgh, Freddie declared:

"I'll claim no exemption and I am ready to do the same kind of a job for Uncle Sam as I did for the New Jersey boxing fans last night."

Arrangements were made before the fight for a return match with Zivic within 60 days, unless a call to army service should intervene.

"Now baldness doesn't worry me" says Milton Berle

Twentieth Century-Fox Star

"UNTIL I consulted a Thomas expert, the idea of becoming bald was a source of constant worry to me. Thomas treatment has relieved me of that worry. I feel sure that Thomas treatment is helping me to retain my hair, and to keep my scalp in a healthy condition," says Milton Berle.

Thousands of other well known men in all walks of life—actors, musicians, physicians, and business men—have for 20 years been getting rid of scalp worries by the reliable, proved Thomas method. Thomas treatment removes dandruff scales, relieves intense itching, and promotes normal hair growth. Learn more about this sound method—call today for free consultation and advice.

BRANDON WANTS TO END FENCE AT TRAINING SCHOOL

A Legislator Comments: It Must Be the Heat.

Indignant responses followed an announcement yesterday by Rodney H. Brandon, state director of public welfare, that he believes the fence around the Illinois State Training School for Boys near St. Charles, should be torn down and that he will seek its removal. Brandon said that moral suasion should be substituted for the fence.

The fence, which is 13 feet high, was constructed at a cost of $23,000 in 1939. A flood lighting system, which cost $15,000, also was installed as an added protection. The legislature ordered the fence built after 76 inmates had escaped in one year.

Legislators to Be Approached.

Brandon said that he will make his recommendation to the legislative commission which has charge of the construction of the Sheridan security school, La Salle county. The security school, which is nearing completion, will house incorrigibles from the state training school.

A similar announcement made last March by the welfare director aroused the ire of members of the legislature. State Senator Thomas P. Gunning [R., Princeton], head of the legislative committee in charge of the building of the Sheridan school, registered a strong protest. Gov. Green announced at that time that he was opposed to Brandon's proposal.

Representative John C. Friedland [R., Elgin] when informed of Brandon's new announcement asserted: "The heat must be terrific in Springfield." [Brandon announced his proposed action in the state capital.]

A Closed Matter.

Friedland continued:

"When Gov. Green last March asserted that he was against the proposal, residents of this and nearby communities considered the issue a closed matter.

"I don't believe that it is necessary to point out again that the fence has cut down the number of escapes from 76 in one year to a small fraction of that number. Many of those who have escaped in the past have committed numerous crimes and have terrorized the nearby communities. Homes were robbed, residents assaulted, and motorists held up."

"The weather is hot enough, without Brandon handing out such a proposal. It may be just a midsummer day dream on his part."

Brandon said that the fence is needed at Sheridan, where the "toughs" will go.

2 IN FAMILY DIE, 2 INJURED WHEN AUTO HITS TRUCK

Bus Hurled Into Post by Tire Blowout.

Two members of a Michigan City, Ind., family were killed and two others gravely injured yesterday when their car hit a truck in U. S. highway 55, on a curve four miles west of La Porte, and overturned, pinning them beneath it. The dead are Arthur Schroll, 34 years old, a conductor for the South Shore lines, and his son, Donald, 11; those injured are Mrs. Schroll, 32, and another son, Arthur Jr., 13. The truck driver, Charles Casper, 7816 Euclid avenue, Chicago, was unhurt.

One man was killed and 17 persons were injured in two accidents attributed to tire blowouts. A privately owned automobile and a Chicago Surface Lines bus were the vehicles involved.

Car Crashes Into Tree.

Dominic Refrano, 25 years old, 1424 Flournoy street, lost his life when the car in which he and six others, all workers at the government's new Kankakee ordnance works, were riding ran off the pavement and crashed into a tree beside Joliet road near Wolf road. Carmen Costaldo, 20, of 619 South Aberdeen street, was the driver.

He was taken to the Hinsdale sanitarium, as were the others hurt in the accident. They are Antonio Dalamo, 23, of 1132 Taylor street; David Basquez, 20, and James Accettura, 18, both of 557 Arthington street; Michael Brandonisio, 24, of 1029 Carpenter street, and Dominic Erichiselle, 20, of 1132 Taylor street.

The surface lines bus was westbound in the 4200 block of Diversey avenue when a tire exploded and hurled it against a post on the north side of the avenue. The right side of the bus was smashed.

First Aid Treatment.

Miss Gertrude Brzeczek, 18 years old, 2844 North Narragansett avenue, was kept in the Belmont hospital for treatment. The other passengers were allowed to go home after receiving first aid treatment. Charles Conrad, driver of the bus, said he lost control when the tire blew.

Injuries suffered a week ago in an automobile collision at Barrington and Palatine roads caused the death yesterday in Sherman hospital, Elgin, of Edward C. Dann, 60 years old, of 314 Prospect avenue, Lake Bluff, a representative of the Pittsburgh Glass company.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 541 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 382 were killed in Chicago, where 14,078 were injured in the same period.

RAILROADS ASK MEDIATION OF RULES DISPUTE

5 Operating Unions Refuse Revision.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The railroads last night asked the National Mediation board to take charge of their dispute with the Big Five operating brotherhoods over the lines' request for revision of rules governing working conditions and methods of establishing wages. An impasse was reached when the brotherhoods refused to accept revision of the rules.

However, negotiations will be continued over the unions' demands for a 30 per cent wage increase, with another meeting scheduled for tomorrow.

Heads of the five brotherhoods and Fred G. Gurley, chairman of the railroads' negotiating committee, issued statements explaining their respective positions after a three hour meeting in the Morrison hotel.

Board May Be Named.

Should the efforts of the mediation board fail, the next step in the machinery set up for handling railroad controversies would be the appointment of a fact finding commission by President Roosevelt. The recommendation of this commission would have the backing of public opinion — at least in theory—to bring about compliance by the losing side. However, the commission would not be named until a strike vote had been taken, thereby threatening a national emergency.

The railroads contend the rules are out of date and should be modernized to eliminate "burdensome" provisions. They object to "featherbed" provisions which they say make it possible for the unions to enforce payment of wages for work not done or for work of a trivial nature.

The unions maintain that disturbance of the rules would result in "inevitable confusion" and place the workers "completely at the mercy of the known and unpredictable demands of management."

Each Has Its Own Contract.

Each road has individual contracts with the various unions.

The 14 nonoperating unions on Tuesday told the western and southeastern roads that they would not accept rules changes but would issue a final statement on the subject this morning. The eastern roads are not involved in this dispute.

The railroad negotiators meet with the operating and nonoperating unions on alternate days.

"The rules under which railroad workers gain their livelihood are the result of years of splendid cooperative effort under the democratic principle of collective bargaining with the brotherhoods and the carriers," executives of the five brotherhoods said in their statement.

"The carriers' sweeping proposal to destroy the product of years of experience by proposing virtually to wipe out these rules would, if accepted by the employés, interfere with the seniority rights of road and yard men and would repudiate the publicly acclaimed benefits achieved under the railway labor act."

Rulings Favor Labor.

A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, asserted that in its handling of individual disputes the National Railroad Adjustment board had handed down rulings in which 60 per cent favored labor and 40 per cent favored management.

Gurley asserted that the rules should be "founded on equity and be expressed in simple language understandable by officers and workers alike." As it is, he declared, representatives of both labor and management have admitted to each other that they do not understand the basis for "interpretations" made by the adjustment board concerning services and compensation.

The railroads presented four proposed new rules concerning the starting time of yard crews, switching work sought of road train crews, compensation to be paid crews when freight is handled in passenger trains, and a 30 day limitation on the filing of claims.

This morning rail and nonoperating union representatives will meet on this labor group's demands for a wage boost of 30 cents an hour.

CHICAGO AREA MILK PRODUCERS ASK PRICE HIKE; MEETING CALLED

The department of agriculture yesterday announced it will conduct a public hearing in Chicago next Monday on proposals to increase minimum prices paid producers for milk sold in this area.

The department said that organized dairymen had submitted the proposals, which would change price determining formulas under a federal milk marketing program.

Officials said the minimum producer price for class 1 milk would have been about $2.85 a hundredweight in June, instead of the actual price of $2.119, had the new proposals been in effect. Changes would be made in other classifications of milk.

Inland Steel's Profit Rises in 2d Quarter

E. L. Ryerson Jr. reports Inland employment at peak.

Inland Steel company, large Chicago district producer, yesterday reported June quarter net income nearly double that of the second quarter of 1940. Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company, Milwaukee, and Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, Pittsburgh, were among more than 30 other corporations reporting increased earnings. Only eight reported smaller profits than a year ago.

The Inland company, whose principal plant is in Indiana Harbor, announced consolidated net earnings for the June quarter on the basis of current tax rates were $5,372,266, or $3.29 a share of capital stock. This compared with $2,873,655, or $1.76 a share, in the 1940 June quarter. On the basis of proposed tax amendments, however, the 1941 figure would be reduced to $4,102,572, or $2.51 a share, the company estimated.

Subject to Tax Revision.

Inland profits for the first six months of 1941, calculated at current tax rates, were $9,927,384, or $6.08 a share, compared with $5,933,499, or $3.64 a share, in the corresponding period last year. This also is subject to a sharp downward revision when the new tax bill is passed.

Edward L. Ryerson Jr., chairman of the board, said employment and pay rolls again made new highs, the average number of employés for the quarter being 21,258 and the total pay roll $11,234,967.

Allis-Chalmers company, manufacturer of farm equipment, reported a June quarter profit of $1,793,107, or $1.01 a share, a slight increase over the $1,639,889, or 92 cents a share, in the June quarter last year. The company said earnings for the first six months of 1941 were held to $2,389,577, compared with $2,609,758 in the first half of 1940, largely as a result of a strike which suspended practically all production at the West Allis works from Jan. 22 to April 8.

Westinghouse Taxes Soar.

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company reported a profit for the first half of the year of $11,568,401, or $4.33 a share of combined preferred and common stock, compared with $9,837,912, or $3.68 a share, in the first half last year.

Tax increases prevented a far better showing. The company provided $8,395,264 for normal federal taxes and $9,239,528 for excess profits taxes, compared with a provision of $2,942,110 for normal federal taxes in the first half of 1940.

Among other gains reported yesterday was that of the Studebaker corporation, motor car manufacturer, which had June quarter earnings of $1,133,418, or 51 cents a share, compared with $445,806, or 20 cents a share, in the like 1940 period.

June quarter profits of Wheeling Steel company more than doubled those of the second quarter last year. The earnings for the 1941 period were $2,708,187, or $3.96 a share, compared with $1,019,426, or 95 cents a share last year.

The John R. Thompson company, Chicago restaurant chain, reported a net loss of $30,743 for the six months ended June 30. Comparative figures for last year were not available because of a change in the bookkeeping system.

Mounting Taxes Cut Income.

Mounting taxes were reflected in a report of Thompson Products, Inc., Cleveland, O., manufacturer of aviation and automotive parts with large government orders. F. C. Crawford, president, announced that altho sales of $19,349,364 for the first six months of the year were larger than for any full year prior to 1940, net income fell to $923,198 from $1,047,901 in the first half of 1940. The earnings were equivalent to $2.88 and $3.30 a common share in the respective periods.

The company during the six months charged off $888,057 for normal federal taxes, $923,226 for excess profits taxes, and $300,000 as a reserve for contingencies, compared with only $318,142 for taxes in the first six months of last year.

Continental Oil company reported June quarter profits of $2,642,082, or 56 cents a share, compared with $1,007,852, or 22 cents a share, in the three months ended June 30, 1940.

UTILITY ORDERED TO DISPOSE OF 13 SUBSIDIARIES

Washington, D. C., July 30 (AP).—The Securities and Exchange commission today ordered the United Gas Improvement company to dispose of its ownership or control of 13 nonutility subsidiaries in eight states within one year to comply with the holding company act.

United Gas is the top unit in a system against which the SEC began integration proceedings 17 months ago. It already has disposed of its $29,000,000 investment in common stock of the Connecticut Light and Power company and has been ordered to divest itself of nine other utility companies located outside the three state area centered at Philadelphia, held by the SEC to be its "primary" system.

The two principal companies named in today's order are Commonwealth Utilities corporation, a holding company organized in Delaware which owns most of the other companies, and St. Louis Water company.

PROFITS OF 250 FIRMS TOP YEAR AGO BY 23 PCT.

Best Showings Made by Rails, Steels.

New York, July 30 (AP).—Profits of the first 250 companies to report for the second quarter of 1941 were 23 per cent larger than in the same period a year ago, an Associated Press compilation disclosed today.

Earnings of the group amounted to $378,999,000 compared with $308,020,000 in the quarter ended June 30, 1940.

The survey showed that virtually every important industry enjoyed larger earnings than a year ago. Compared with the increase in industrial activity, however, gains scored by many industries lacked impressiveness.

Rise Less Than Output.

As measured by the federal reserve index of industrial production, physical output of goods during the April-June period was nearly 30 per cent larger than a year ago. The increase in profits, however, amounted to only 23 per cent.

A stiff rise in federal income and excess profits taxes reduced earnings of many individual companies below a year ago. Higher wages and production costs also absorbed some of the profits which normally would have accompanied the record industrial production of the quarter.

Railroads, railroad equipment manufacturers and the steel industry showed the largest earning gains. Profits of these industries were fairly well protected from excess profits taxes by heavy capital investments.

Utility Earnings Drop.

Only decrease in profits for any industrial group which has reported in sufficient number to afford a comparison was shown by the public utility industry. The decrease reflected steadily rising operating costs.

Aggregate net incomes of industrial groups compared as follows [000 omitted]:

	1941.	1940.	% change
15 Chemical	$45,777	$42,866	+ 7.5

ASK ORDINANCE FOR ACTION ON HOUSING LAW

The city council housing committee, of which Ald. Arthur G. Lindell (9th) is chairman, asked Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes yesterday to draft an ordinance under which Mayor Kelly would appoint a neighborhood redevelopment commission of five members.

Establishment of the commission is in accordance with a bill passed at the last session of the legislature giving private corporations which have acquired 60 per cent of a blighted area the right to obtain the rest thru condemnation proceedings for redevelopment or housing projects. Plans and the program for use of the property must be submitted to the local redevelopment commission under terms of the law.

J. Soule Warterfield, representing the Chicago Building Congress, said that speed was advisable in establishing the commission so that a test of the constitutionality of the new law can be obtained.

Salesmen of Cool Air Expect Heat to Ring Up More Sales

The sizzling heat of the last few days is just the thing to make people set out to disprove Mark Twain's statement that everybody talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it. So said air conditioning unit salesmen yesterday, expecting the memory of the torrid days to lift the curve on their sales charts.

Sales of air conditioning equipment in the Chicago area are already at an all time peak. This is shown by installation records for the first six months of 1941 kept by the Commonwealth Edison company and the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois.

Cooler Sales Up 58 Per Cent.

During this period installations of room coolers rose 58 per cent over a similar period last year. Figures of the two companies total 923 units compared with 584 a year earlier.

Central plant installations of the two firms totaled 326, which was 12 per cent higher than in 1940, while the total horse power installed was 10,931, or nearly 60 per cent higher.

The Edison company signed contracts for 75 central plant installations during June alone. Last month's sales of room coolers were at a new peak of 480 units.

Restaurants continued in the lead with 78 contracts for central plant installations signed during the six months by the Edison company. Offices were next with 72 installations.

Other Edison central plant installations during the half-year period follow: Clothing stores, 19; bowling alleys, 16; drug stores, 14; shoe stores, 13; candy and miscellaneous stores, 11 each; miscellaneous industrial plants and funeral parlors, 10 each; food stores, 7; fur stores, 6; candy factories, 5; print shops, 4; banks, druggists' and dentists' offices, residences and theaters, 3 each; beauty shops, hotels, and studios, 2 each, and one system installed in a club.

Tribune Tower Among Biggest.

Real estate men said that the Tribune Tower and the Wrigley building are the outstanding office structures to be air conditioned. The new Field building has had success in renting lower "harder to rent" floors by installing cooling systems for them.

"Our experience shows that it is necessary to get from 50 to 60 cents more rent a square foot to pay for operation and amortization of air conditioning in the average type stores," said Milton Gethman of Aldis & Co. "That is not always easy to do."

Hillman Asks End of Strike; Navy Yard Hit

New York, July 30 (AP).—The Office of Production Management today called upon 8,000 striking members of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers [AFL] to resume work in plants vital to arms production.

Shortly after Sidney Hillman, OPM associate director, telegraphed the request to Harry Van Arsdale, business agent of local No. 3, and asserted the OPM would start tomorrow "a complete investigation of the dispute from which the general stoppage resulted," the union summoned local officials to an emergency meeting tomorrow.

The strike halted work on a 16 story storehouse and slowed work on two super dry docks and the $100,000,000 battleships Iowa and Missouri in the Brooklyn navy yard. Regular navy yard electricians continued to work on the battleships.

Follows Washington Conference.

Earlier in the day Van Arsdale and other union representatives had conferred in Washington with Hillman.

The union said that 1,186 jobs, mostly nonmilitary and including new construction and alterations, had been affected in the city's five boroughs by the strike.

Core of the dispute was Consolidated Edison company's failure to employ AFL union members in the construction of a power plant. The company said it was employing members of the Brotherhood of Consolidated Edison Employés. The company said the group had been certified as bargaining agent by the National Labor Relations board, but the AFL local called the group a "company union."

Strike at Timken Plant.

Columbus, O., July 30 (AP).—Steel Workers' Organizing committee [CIO] members struck today at the Timken Roller Bearing company plant in protest against dismissal of five women employés. The plant has government contracts.

CIO WINS HARVESTER VOTE.

The Congress of Industrial Organizations won bargaining rights at the McCormick plant of the International Harvester company yesterday, according to election results announced by Charles A. Graham, regional director of the National Labor Relations board.

The vote: CIO, 2,806; American Federation of Labor, 2,565; challenged, 109; spoiled, 13, and blank, 12. Graham said that 5,505 employés of 6,092 eligible voted. The plant is at 26th street and Blue Island avenue.

In an election June 18, neither side won a clear majority.

APPROVE 20 ISSUES TO REVIVE CHICAGO UNLISTED TRADING

The Chicago Stock exchange announced yesterday that the Securities and Exchange commission had approved unlisted trading in 20 stocks listed on the New York Stock exchange. Such trading privileges already have been granted other exchanges where the stocks are not formally listed on application of the issuing companies.

Trading in the issues is expected to begin tomorrow, reviving unlisted transactions which were discontinued by the board 20 years ago. The step, planned for several months, is another in a program designed to stimulate business on the exchange.

Common or capital stocks approved for unlisted trading are:

American Radiator and Standard Sanitary, Anaconda Copper, Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, Bethlehem Steel, Curtiss-Wright, General Electric, Interlake Iron, Glenn L. Martin, Nash-Kelvinator, New York Central, Paramount Pictures, Pullman, Pure Oil, Radio Corporation, Republic Steel, Standard Brands, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Studebaker, United States Rubber, and Yellow Truck.

Citing the success of a previous move in the exchange's business building program, officials said that trading in 75 listed issues which are also listed on the New York Stock exchange accounts for half the Chicago market's volume.

MARSHALL FIELD PROFIT GAINS CURBED BY TAXES

Provisions for federal income taxes more than double those of last year cut deeply into the three and six months profits of Marshall Field & Co., F. D. Corley, president, reported yesterday to stockholders. The net income for the periods gained only slightly over a year ago, whereas profit before income taxes was substantially higher. Sales, including real estate income, had an upturn of 21.4 per cent in the three months and 14.1 per cent in the six months.

Profit after taxes for the three months ended June 30 was $800,074, or 30 cents a common share, compared with $720,697, or 25 cents a share, in the same period in 1940. Provision for federal income taxes was $1,353,885 against $547,602 a year ago. Net income before taxes was $2,153,959 compared with $1,268,299.

For the six months ended June 30, profit was $1,657,967, or 62 cents a share, and tax provisions were $1,815,828. In the 1940 period, net income was $1,575,102, or 58 cents a share, with tax provisions of $735,154. Profits before taxes were, respectively, $3,473,795 and $2,310,256.

Three months sales volume [including real estate income] was $24,352,805, compared with $20,063,200 in 1940. Six months sales totaled $45,945,365, against $40,265,750.

Wives: It's Time to Order Those Christmas Pajamas!

New York, July 30 [Special].—The men's shirt and pajama industry now has a backlog of orders four times as great as that of a year ago and may be unable to meet retail demand at the start of the holiday season, the National Association of Shirt and Pajama Manufacturers reported today. The wide margin of shipments over production in recent months has reduced inventories substantially.

Wallace to Open Big Iowa Ordnance Factory Today

Burlington, Ia., July 30 (AP).—Vice President Henry A. Wallace will officially open the $50,000,000 Iowa ordnance plant tomorrow. He will make a radio address at 10:30 p. m. Chicago time, in a ceremony marking the start of operations at the Burlington shell loading plant.

Fleet of Army Planes Tied Up by Bottleneck

Baltimore, Md., July 30 [Special].—A bottleneck—probably in engines and propellers—has tied up a fleet of new B-26 bimotored medium bombers that are virtually completed and awaiting delivery from the Glenn L. Martin aircraft plant just outside this city, it was learned today.

The new bombers—said to be 360 mile an hour craft, with specially supercharged cabins for substratosphere flying—were ordered months ago for the army air corps. The Martin company now is turning them out at the rate of several daily, but they cannot be delivered until the missing parts arrive, are fitted and inspected by army inspectors.

"Waiting Line" Grows Daily.

More than 70 of the planes were staked out on the company's airport during the last few days and several more are being added to the long lines of machines every 24 hours. The planes are partly covered with canvas sheets over noses, cockpits, engines and tail gunners' positions. They are guarded day and night by a large force of company watchmen.

These airplanes are of an entirely new type. The first ships were fitted with two 1,850 horse power 18 cylinder motors, and four bladed propellers. When the first few were delivered to the army they were said to be faster than many pursuit planes now in service in Europe and were described by company spokesmen as the "most deadly medium bombers in existence."

According to reports in Washington, the new bombers have many aviation secrets build into their stubby, fat round bodies, short wings and heavy engines. The wing, for example, is said to be a new "laminar-flow type" that gives greater speed than earlier wing sections.

"Unavoidable Delays" Blamed.

Martin officials refused to say why the airplanes are piling up on the flying field. Air corps representatives at the plant referred questioners to Washington. There other air corps officers said that "unavoidable delays" were preventing immediate delivery of the planes to the air corps.

Observers surmised from a distance that many of the planes had no engines, and only a few propellers were fitted. It was impossible to verify this observation, however.

Thus far only a few of these new bombers have been delivered. The current delays in delivery began about June 22, when one of the B-26s crashed just after takeoff from the Martin company's field at Middle River, Md.

Tire Makers Boost Retail Prices 2.4 Pct.

Major tire manufacturers at Akron, O., announced yesterday a new price structure raising retail list prices 2.4 per cent and increasing dealers' list prices by about 5 per cent, effective immediately. The boost applies nationally to passenger car and truck tires and inner tubes.

At the same time, Price Administrator Leon Henderson said in Washington that increases of not more than 5 per cent in wholesale tire and tube prices were justified. He disclosed that his office was making an investigation to establish and maintain a stable price basis for the industry.

Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, B. F. Goodrich company, and General Tire and Rubber company issued statements that the new schedules represent only a small percentage of the increased production costs.

Henderson said material costs, including rubber and cotton, have increased production expenses by as much as 10 per cent in recent months. He added that larger volume is being curtailed by restrictions in crude rubber consumption.

The retail list price on a 6.00x16 tire, the most widely used size, has been $14.05. This included the excise tax of 53 cents. The new rate is computed on the old price, less the tax, or $13.52. The 2.4 per cent increase brings the price to $13.85 and, with the tax of 53 cents listed separately, makes a total of $14.38.

ARMY PLACES 16 MILLIONS OF ARMS WORK IN CANADA

Washington, D. C. July 30 [Special].—Four contracts aggregating $16,346,840 have been awarded to War Supplies, Ltd., of Canada, the war department announced today.

Three amounting to $15,970,920 were made by the army air corps for trainer planes of various types, while the fourth, by the department itself, was for $375,920 for rubber anti-gas gloves.

War Supplies, Ltd., established by the Canadian government after a Hyde Park conference between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister MacKenzie King, acts as a clearing house for contracts between the two countries. It is in effect, a Canadian purchasing commission with offices in Washington, and makes contracts for Canadian manufacturers with United States arms agencies.

People and Events

Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., credit reporting service, will celebrate its 100th anniversary tomorrow. The agency was founded by Lewis Tappan, a New York silk importer who had gone bankrupt in the panic of 1837. COTTON SLUMPS $6.15 ON PRICE CEILINGS PLEA

Other Staples Dip on F. D. R. Message.

Cotton and most other commodity futures broke sharply under a wave of liquidation yesterday after President Roosevelt's price control message to congress asking ceilings to prevent runaway markets. Cotton slumped as much as $6.15 a bale, which statisticians said was the widest break since March 11, 1935, but the loss was checked later and prices closed $2.90 to $3.65 a bale below Tuesday's levels.

Cotton opened with gains on the senate's approval of freezing government owned loan stocks for the duration of the European war. Gains were supported also, it was said, by the announcement of a parity price for the staple of 16.49 cents a pound.

The decline started when further figuring by traders on allowances, freight rates and other charges indicated a loan rate of not more than 15 cents a pound. The President's message then brought on the steep setback, quotations falling $3.75 a bale within 10 minutes in wild trading.

The inference drawn by traders was that, if congress passed the legislation which the President sought, the government would be able to step in and run the nation's commodity trade.

Tin futures, faced with imminent price ceilings, declined 1 to 1¼ cents a pound. It was the second consecutive day of decline after Price Administrator Leon Henderson's statement that a ceiling was necessary and that the government price of 50 cents a pound was considered a fair one.

Wool Futures Decline.

Wool futures sold 0.5 to 0.8 cent a pound lower. Cottonseed oil followed cotton and closed 0.07 to 0.09 cent a pound lower, as traders believed the long threatened ceiling was finally at hand. Rubber, a limited market, was 0.05 to 0.5 a pound lower, cocoa was down 0.09 to 0.10 cent, and hides were 0.14 to 0.18 cent lower.

World sugar futures and coffee were the only markets to run contrary to the general trend. Coffee was 0.03 to 0.07 cent a pound higher on broad buying, and sugar was 0.01 to 0.08 cent a pound higher. Lead futures were unchanged to 0.10 cent higher.

ELECTRIC POWER OUTPUT RISES TO NEW PEAK AGAIN

Output of 3,183,925,000 kilowatt hours of electricity last week established a new all time high mark for the third consecutive week, the Edison Electric institute reported yesterday. Output in the preceding week was 3,162,586,000 kilowatt hours. Last week's total was an increase of 15.3 per cent over the 2,760,935,000 kilowatt hours produced in the same week in 1940.

The Commonwealth Edison group of companies in the Chicago area produced 146,204,000 kilowatt hours, up 7.1 per cent over a year ago. This compares with 142,848,000 in the preceding week and 136,466,000 in the same week last year.

STOCKS REVIVE AFTER MOVE FOR PRICE RULE LAW

Inflation Reference Called Cause of Late Rise.

New York, July 30 (AP).—A depressed stock list showed signs of a comeback today after publication of President Roosevelt's request to congress for extended powers to impose price ceilings in many fields.

Most of the stock exchange leaders were in lower territory from the start until the final hour, with losses in steels and specialties running to a point or so. The rally reduced or erased many of the early losses and permitted a fair number of issues to edge into the gain column. Rails paced the recovery move. Rubber shares were firm all day.

Inflation Word Is Cue.

The President's reference to inflation dangers was said by brokers to have been the cue for some last minute bidding, but they also noted a period of hesitation immediately upon release of the message as if the market was trying to measure its broader implications.

The Associated Press index of 60 stocks was down .1 of a point at 44.1. Volume was 745,690 shares against 962,710 yesterday.

CHICAGO PRICES MIXED.

Seven issues reached new 1941 highs on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Prices were mixed, with 36 stocks advancing, 35 declining and 35 closing unchanged. Transfers totaled 24,000 shares.

The peaks were set by Acme Steel at 51; Aro Equipment, 10⅜; Butler Brothers preferred, 22¾c; Goodyear Tire, 20⅜; Lion Oil, 13⅜; Oklahoma Gas and Electric preferred, 117½, and South Bend Lathe, 36.

Three dually listed issues showed changes in the trading from 2 to 2:30 o'clock. Houdaille-Hershey and Swift International each closed ⅛ higher than at New York and Armour of Illinois an equal fraction lower.

WESSON BOARD VOTES YEAR END $1.50 DIVIDEND

Directors of Wesson Oil and Snowdrift company yesterday declared a fiscal year end dividend of $1.50 on common stock and a regular quarterly payment of $1 on the preferred. This brings distributions on the common to $2, compared with 50 cents in the preceding fiscal year.

Deere & Co., farm machinery manufacturer, voted 50 cents on the common shares, the first dividend since last October, in addition to the quarterly payment of 35 cents on the preferred. National Malleable and Steel Castings company authorized a 50 cent disbursement, double the amounts paid in March and June.

Aircraft Orders Increase 1,500 Million for Month

New York, July 30 [Special].—Unfilled orders of the aircraft industry rose about 1,500 million dollars in the last month, at present exceeding 6,000 millions, and may eventually reach 10,000 millions, Aviation magazine said today. The industry's backlog was 2,145 million dollars a year ago, 759 millions at the end of 1939, and 186 millions at the close of 1938.

STEEL FOR ARMS EXPECTED TO GET FULL PRIORITIES

Pooling and Precedence Orders Awaited.

Further extension of control over steel operations to give armament orders complete precedence over civilian uses of iron and steel, effective within a day or two, was indicated yesterday at the priorities division of the Office of Production Management in Washington, D. C.

An order covering pig iron is expected to set up a pool consisting of a certain percentage of each month's production from which allocations would be made by the OPM.

It was indicated that a rule covering steel products would provide for classification of customers' orders, with instructions to producers on which classes are to be filled first. It was said that this would relieve the steel companies from pressure from regular customers for preferential treatment.

Near Capacity Rate.

Meantime, the steel industry continues to operate at near capacity levels, with ingot production for the week ended July 28 estimated by the Dow-Jones news agency at 98 per cent of rated capacity, compared with 97 per cent a week earlier. United States Steel corporation subsidiaries were reported operating at 97 per cent, against 96 per cent previously.

Conforming with the OPM request for an 11.2 per cent increase in the steel industry's pig iron capacity—now rated at 58,000,000 tons annually—Edward L. Ryerson Jr., chairman of the Inland Steel company, announced that a contract has been let for the construction of an additional blast furnace at the company's Indiana Harbor plant.

Gives Firm Six Furnaces.

The furnace will give the company a total of six, and duplicate one placed in operation in 1939.

When completed it will produce approximately 1,000 tons of pig iron a day. The contract was awarded Arthur G. McKee & Co.

The OPM program was said to provide for additional blast furnaces as follows: Republic Steel corporation, four; Bethlehem Steel corporation, two; Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, one, and Colorado Fuel and Iron company, one.

RAILROAD DISPUTES.

What is the machinery for settling disputes between railroads and their employés?—M. G.

Answer: Disputes between railroads and their employés may be settled by direct negotiation. When this fails, either side may refer the disagreement to the proper division of the National Railroad Adjustment board, as provided by the railroad labor act.

Disputes which are not properly within the province of the adjustment board may be handled by the National Mediation board, also created under the act. Either party may invite the mediation board to act, or the board may offer its services.

The mediation board then attempts to arrive at a settlement thru conferences with the disputants. If this is unsuccessful, the board may recommend arbitration, and, if both parties assent, a board is appointed to hear the evidence and decide the issue.

If the arbitration offer is not accepted by both parties, the board determines if the dispute threatens the interruption of transportation, and, if it does, it notifies the President.

Upon receiving this notice, the President may appoint an emergency fact finding board to investigate the dispute and issue a report in 30 days. During this period of inquiry neither side can take any action to enforce its demands. The findings reported by the board are not mandatory and neither side has to accept it. After the report is submitted, the disputants are free to determine their future action.

PUERTO RICO.

What action have the sugar companies in Puerto Rico taken against that island's land law? I am interested in Central Aguirre properties. —B. L.

Answer: Luce & Co., subsidiary of Central Aguirre associates, has obtained a preliminary injunction in a Puerto Rican court to hold up the enforcement of the island's new land which became effective last July 12 and limited any corporation's land holdings to 500 acres. Hearings will be resumed Aug. 5.

Luce & Co., which recently received a $615,000 payment from the agriculture department for participating in the 1939 sugar program, owns 27,400 acres and leases 17,900 acres on the island. It valued its lands at $7,800,000 and its crops, which will be harvested next year, at $5,440,000.

OWNERS ACCEPT BUS OFFER FOR TERMINAL SITE

Ashland Block Tenants Remain as Obstacle.

BY AL CHASE.

Construction of a 5 million dollar terminal for the Greyhound bus lines at the northeast corner of Clark and Randolph streets moved a step nearer realization yesterday when more than the necessary percentage of owners of the property required agreed to an offer of $1,500,000 made them in June. It was announced that 82½ per cent of the owners of 3,250 land trust certificates of $1,000 each had accepted the offer of $440 for each certificate. The minimum percentage required was 75 per cent.

It is understood that the only obstacles to actual construction which now remain are about 14 tenants of the Ashland block who have leases running up to four years. When these leases have been taken care of, wrecking of the 16 story building will begin, it was said.

Ends 2½ Years' Work.

The bus terminal project on which Arthur Rubloff & Co. has been working for over two years assembling the site for Greyhound corporation, and on which Herbert Becker and Sherwood K. Platt of Mayer, Meyer, Austrian and Platt have been handling legal details for a similar period, will cover more than half of the block bounded by Clark, Randolph, Dearborn and Lake streets. Buses will enter the basement of the terminal building thru a tunnel from Wacker drive.

The building, designed by Wishmeyer, Arrasmith & Elswick of Louisville, Ky., will be four stories. The first floor will have shops, ticket offices, and waiting rooms and a small theater. Second and third floors are to be used for a public garage, and Greyhound offices will occupy the fourth floor.

Priorities May Cause Delay.

The Ashland block, the key parcel to the site, which contains the Apollo theater, and the Union hotel building adjoining on the east, are owned by the Clark-Randolph Building Site Land Trust, of which the Chicago Title and Trust company is trustee. The latter announced yesterday that title would be taken by the Greyhound Terminal of Chicago, Inc., O. S. Caesar, vice president of Greyhound, said priority in materials given armament concerns might delay construction somewhat. Meanwhile the properties will be operated as at present by Hugh S. Michaels, who was broker for the seller.

CALL PULLMAN MEETING AUG. 26 TO RETIRE STOCK

Stockholders of Pullman, Inc., at a special meeting at Wilmington, Del., on Aug. 26 will vote on the retirement of 571,669 shares of capital stock held in the treasury. Of these shares 517,298 were acquired thru the call for tenders on May 22 whereby owners of Pullman stock were given an opportunity to sell it to the company.

A proxy statement accompanying announcement of the meeting disclosed that Richard K. Mellon, a Pullman director and president of the Mellon National bank, Pittsburgh, Pa., sold 44,800 shares to the company. An associate of Alan M. Scaife, Pittsburgh industrialist, also a Pullman director, sold 46,102 shares to the company.

The book value of the corporation's stock will be raised as of March 31, 1941 to $54.78 a share from $51.29 by retirement of the stock. The retirement will increase the company's surplus by $5,690,278, making that amount available for distribution in dividends.

ODLUM SAYS RISE IN PRICES MAY BE UNAVOIDABLE

Floyd B. Odlum, president of the Atlas corporation, large investment concern, stated today in his semi-annual report to stockholders that "an abrupt inflationary spiral is by no means a certainty" but that a gradual rise in prices "may not be avoidable." He expressed doubt as to "how much protection to capital is afforded by securities in a period of inflation when accompanied by price controls and high taxes."

He said the government, with "adequate public support," should succeed in preventing an uncontrolled inflationary price rise.

Odlum reported the asset value of the company's common stock on June 30 was $11.81 a share, compared with $11.43 a year earlier.

CONSOLIDATED TO HIRE 400 WOMEN FOR WORK IN MAKING BOMBERS

San Diego, Cal., July 30 (AP).—The Consolidated Aircraft corporation announced today it would hire and employ 400 women for bomber manufacture in response to a request from Sidney Hillman, co-director of the Office of Production Management.

Maj. R. H. Fleet, Consolidated president, said the women would be trained in lighter mechanical operations. Consolidated employs more than 19,000 men in the production of twin-motor and four-engine land and sea bombers.

The company reported its production for the first six months of 1941 was nearly four times the output for all of 1940. New orders received amounted to $413,479,552 and raised company backlogs to above 750 million dollars.

Officials estimated net profit for the six months, after deducting taxes of approximately $4,260,000, equaled $4.72 per share of common stock. Net sale totaled $35,930,448 against $9,349,550 for all of last year.

First of 28 Seized Axis Ships Sails with Cargo

Washington, D. C., July 30.—The Italian liner Clara, first of 28 sabotaged Axis ships taken over by this government, sailed with a cargo from Norfolk today, the Maritime commission announced. The 6,131 ton vessel is under charter to the Waterman Steamship company of New York and operates under Panamanian registry.

Auditorium Hotel and Theater Will Close Tonight—Germans Claim Pincer Drives Peril Leningrad
